POLICE OF INDIA NAB HUNDREDS IN SALT RAIDS

Rebels Trick Guards and Loot Pans.

BOMBAY, India, May 18.—(AP)—Elaborate police precautions failed today to prevent desultory raiding by Nationalist volunteers on the salt depots at both Dharsana and Wadala. Four hundred Hindus were arrested at Wadala alone by the officers. Others were taken into custody at Dharsana.

At Dharsana a strange struggle occurred between the constabulary and the Nationalists. The latter, according to the small town from every part of Gujerat, waited passively until the attention of police was engaged elsewhere, and then stepped in to loot the government salt bins.

During the night the Nationalists discovered the police had left unguarded a small path leading to the salt depot, and immediately small batches of them pressed in to the barbed wire fence surrounding the salt pans. The police rounded them up quickly and released them outside the clearing. However, when the officers returned, they found 100 other volunteers sitting silently in front of the fence.

Hundreds Reach Village.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, who, since the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji, is in charge of the civil disobedience movement, declared the volunteers at Dharsana have "imprisoned the police behind their own bars." Every train brings hundreds of Satyagrahis, as the Nationalist volunteers are called, to the little village where the silent bloodless battle with the police is being waged.

A similar situation prevailed near the salt depot at Wadala. A group of volunteers, who spent the night at the public gardens at Matunga, a half mile away, awoke to find themselves surrounded by police. The volunteers were herded into police vans when it was discovered that 75 raiders had slipped away in the direction of Wadala.

Commissioner Healy, in charge of the police, ordered the leader of the volunteers to bring them back. The leader complied and left for Wadala. Meanwhile those who had escaped had reached the salt depot and made a raid at the main gate, where a large police force received them.

Raiders Sit on Ground.

A group of twenty men then marched to a hill, where they tried to force entrance to the salt depot, but were frustrated by police who got there first. The raiders sat on the ground to await developments. The police finally took them into custody.

Meanwhile small batches of volunteers evaded police vigilance and ran up to the salt pans and seized handfuls of salt. They were overtaken before they escaped and taken to a salt shed, where the salt was taken from them before they were removed to the detention camp at Worli. There they found others who had been arrested during the weird proceedings.

Operations on both sides were carried on without violence. Other all-India national congress volunteers returned to Matunga after a more successful raid against a part of the Wadala depot and showered handfuls of salt on the police.

After arrival of the congress volunteers, the Matunga villagers, who had been mere spectators, became active participants. The villagers rushed the salt pans and made raids at various unexpected points, removing large quantities of salt. A stream of persons of all ages and both sexes, besmeared with mud and slime, returned home at noon carrying salt in their caps and shirts.

Keep Police on Jump.

Two lorries full of Indian armed police finally arrived at Wadala to reinforce the police already there.

Though the police reinforcements managed at first to prevent any serious inroads on the Wadala salt pans, large crowds of volunteers appeared in the evening and soon greatly outnumbered the guards. Keeping the police constantly on the jump, they made several raids and succeeded in carrying away a sizeable quantity of salt.

Troops, Police Raid Village.

SHOLAPUR, India, May 18.—(AP)—Police and soldiers at dawn today raided the village of Valsand, about 15 miles from here, and arrested ten men wanted for their part in the recent rioting here. Martial law will probably be abrogated next Saturday, unless rioting is unexpectedly renewed.

Bomb Explodes During Riot.

MADRAS, India, May 18.—(AP)—A bomb exploded in the streets here today while police were dispersing a crowd that had gathered after a prohibited meeting had been opened. The explosion injured only the horse of a police sergeant.

POLICE SEIZE DYNAMITER AT DOOR OF CAFE

Confesses 2 Blasts for Fees.

Just before dawn yesterday morning a shabbily dressed man slipped into the shadows of an alley in the rear of a coffee shop at 507 North Clark street. Unseen by him, eight other figures closed stealthily in.

The man crouched over a package he deposited in the doorway of the coffee shop. The red end of his cigar glowed in the darkness as he puffed on it and applied the lighted end to a length of white fuse which led from the package.

The eight watchers drew nearer. The fuse sputtered. The man suddenly sensed his danger. He made a dash to break through the circle around him. Revolvers cracked, startling a crowd of dancers in a café next door. The man was seized and handcuffed. His captors extinguished the fuse and picked up a dynamite bomb which would have wrecked the rear of the coffee shop.

Roche Leads Police Squad.

The prisoner is Frank R. Phillips, alias Orton, ex-convict, a Canadian war veteran, who later confessed himself a professional bomber. Chief Investigator Patrick Roche of the state's attorney's office, led the squad of police who captured Phillips.

Phillips talked freely to Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks at the state's attorney office where Roche took him. Fifty detectives were searching through the city for a man whom Phillips said he knew only as "the Greek," who paid $150 for each bombing Phillips executed.

In the basement of the Regal hotel, 69 West Ohio street, where Phillips lived, large quantities of detonator caps, fuse, and electric wires were found. In another raid in a basement flat at 549 North Clark street nine men were arrested for questioning, eight of them later being released. Henry Robertson, 28 years old, was held for further questioning by Roche.

Confesses 2 Other Bombings.

Phillips confessed two other bombings in addition to the one he was arranging when captured. He said he received $100 for bombing a restaurant at the southeast corner of Illinois and Clark streets on New Year's day, 1929, and bombed a restaurant at 162 West Kinzie street a week ago. "The Greek" promised him $150 for this latter job, he said, but was not to pay him until he completed the bombing at 507 North Clark street. Then he was to receive $300 for the two bombings, he said.

The prisoner said he knew nothing of the motive for the bombings. Prosecutor Brooks declared that preliminary questioning of restaurant proprietors along Clark street on the near north side indicated that the man known as "The Greek" was engaged in the profitable business of exacting contributions from the shop owners under threat of bombing them if they refused to pay.

Owner Tells of Threat.

Thus, when Tony Paluzzo, owner of the K & W cafe at 162 West Kinzie street defied the extortioner, his place was dynamited and the neighboring restaurant owners given due notice of what would happen if they refused to pay tribute. Gus Framgos, proprietor of the place which would have been bombed if Roche and his men had not prevented it, told Prosecutor Brooks that he had been visited by a man who demanded money and that he had refused.

Questioning of Phillips, who is 40 years old, revealed him illiterate and slow thinking, authorities said. He told an amazing story of how he learned his skill with dynamite and came to Chicago with the express purpose of entering the bombing business, even soliciting clients who might want the services of an experienced dynamiter.

Learns to Handle Dynamite.

The prisoner at first insisted that his name was Orton, but admitted his real name was Phillips after many hours of questioning. He declared he enlisted at Windsor, Ont., in 1914, for service in the Canadian army and served throughout the war in France as a member of the 2d Canadian engineers.

"I learned how to handle dynamite in France," he told Prosecutor Brooks. "I dynamited many dugouts and was known as the dynamite expert of the company. I learned all about percussion caps and wiring.

"When I got out of the army I was

Johnny Cuts the Grass and Glad to Do It

Ten year old Johnny Pershing Stanton, who yesterday afternoon might have been sailing the Atlantic ocean, lolling in a deck chair on the Ile de France, playing shuffleboard, swimming in a marble pool, maybe even dipping into a cut glass finger bowl at the captain's table, was instead pushing a lawn mower up and down the front yard of Mrs. Elizabeth O'Boyle's home at Fox Lake, and furnishing an object lesson in loyalty to the U. S. A.

His freckles were still shining and his hair slicked from ablutions pursuant to morning church going, as he had attend St. Bede's with "Aunty," as he calls Mrs. O'Boyle, and "Jake" and "Ruth," as he calls her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Larson. His dog, Rex, part Airedale and the rest pooch, followed at his heels. Johnny was grinning.

Working Out Phone Call.

"I owe Jake $2.95 for that telephone call from New York," he explained, "and I'm working it out."

This obligation was incurred last Friday, when the boat left with Johnny's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Berry, but without Johnny.

"I said at first I got off to get some candy and got left," he said, "but that was a fib. I ran away. Ever since I learned a year ago that my mother was planning the trip to France I'd been figuring on how not to leave the United States, and aunty, and Jake, and Ruth, and Rex.

Phones to Chicago.

"After I had reached the street I kept on running for a half dozen blocks. Pretty soon I came to a drug store and asked to use the phone. I told central to get me the Jacob Larsen office in Chicago—the Masonite Insulating company.

"In no time at all Jake was on the wire. 'You stop the first cop,' he said, 'and tell him to put you on a train for Chicago.' But I didn't. I fooled around the booth for a while and then walked some more. I let two hours pass before I 'stopped the first cop.' I knew then it was too late to get me back on the boat."

Rex was impatiently nosing his young master's hand. He had found a baseball. Half crouching, he guarded it between his front paws.

Rex Does His Stuff.

"Wait," said Johnny. "I'll show you something."

He hurried into the house, to return with a bat. Picking up the ball, he rapped out a line drive. Rex was off in a flash to retrieve it.

"I've had him since he was a pup," said Johnny. "Aunty said he wouldn't eat a bite while I was gone. Gee, he jumped all over me Saturday, the day I got back."

Johnny, born in Chicago on Nov. 2, 1919, was one of the country's first "war baby." Mrs. O'Boyle then lived in a north side apartment house. Johnny's parents also lived there. The marriage, an overseas romance, ended in a divorce. Mrs. O'Boyle took the boy and cared for him, until the mother remarried.

Complications in Offing.

"I understand," said Johnny, "that my mother has wirelessed the Travelers' Aid society in Chicago to put me on the next boat for France, May 22, but I don't intend to go. I don't know anybody over there, and nobody knows me. The French people have enough Yank tourists without being bothered with Johnny Pershing Stanton, I guess.

"Any way," concluded Johnny, as he resumed pushing the lawnmower, "I've still got to pass my final examinations in the sixth grade, and how could I do that 3,000 miles away?"

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, May 18.—[By Radio.]—After a quick, easy start of the Graf Zeppelin, it was a very slow voyage until we reached Basle, Switzerland. Commander Eckener led the airship, with his fine weather instinct, around three heavy thunderstorms as we pushed ahead on the first leg of the 18,000 mile journey to South America and back by way of the United States.

We reached the French frontier at sunset, but are now making better speed en route to Besancon and Lyons.

70 Mile an Hour Clip.

Since passing Chalons we have been under clear skies. The Zeppelin speeded up quickly and we are traveling now well over 70 miles an hour. We expected to reach the Mediterranean after midnight and Barcelona at 3 a. m.

Sun squalls, which are prevailing ovr the landing field at Seville, Spain, forbid landing there before sunset tomorrow and Capt. Eckener has just promised us a long extra promenade over the north African coast.

64 Persons on Board.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 18.—(AP)—Under a glowering murky sky the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, sailed from here late this afternoon on a cruise which will take it twice across the Atlantic and for the first time south of the equator.

The ground crew, releasing the big craft at 5:18 p. m. [11:18 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time], started it on its way on the first lap of its flight to Seville, Spain, where it expects to arrive tomorrow evening between 5 and 6 p. m. [11 a. m. and noon, Chicago daylight saving time]. It will moor there for the night, and take off Tuesday morning on the long 5,000 mile trip to Pernambuco and Rio Janeiro, Brazil.

There were 64 persons aboard at the take-off, 22 passengers, and 42 officers and crew. Dr. Hugo Eckener, who has piloted the craft on every one of its major cruises save one, was in command. Of the passengers four are Americans and four were women. Six of the passengers are booked as far as Seville only. Others to be taken aboard there will complete the passenger complement to South America.

Will Skirt Mediterranean.

Dr. Eckener, leaving his office for the hangar shortly before the ship's take-off, announced that as far as he could determine the course would be by way of Neuchatel, in the Swiss Juras, and thereafter, depending on the weather, by way of Geneva or Pontarlier. Although he said beyond that he could not prognosticate, it was understood that the craft probably would head down the Rhone valley toward Marseilles, where it would follow the Mediterranean coast toward Gibraltar and Seville.

From Seville the Graf will fly by way of the Canary islands to Pernambuco, Brazil, and head down the South American coast the additional 1,350 miles to Rio Janeiro, where a brief stay will be made. About four or five days is expected for this stage of the journey.

Leaving Rio Janeiro, it will head back up along the South American coast and across the Carribbean sea to Havana, where another stop will be

U. S. Mothers Bow at Graves of Hero Sons

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 18.—Through the soft sunshine of a wind blown May afternoon 16 American gold star mothers today rode to the historic cemetery of Suresnes, where 1,534 American soldiers lie, and there threaded their way through the forest of white marble crosses until each found the grave she had crossed the ocean to seek.

There were no tears, no hysterics. When the mothers saw the long fields of rippling grass, the cemetery itself decorated with flowering shrubs, and the crosses scrubbed a gleaming white, it was impossible not to feel a great peace brooding over the place—a peace that succeeded nights of feverish tossing and weeks of slow agony, for Suresnes is populated chiefly with those who died in hospitals of lingering wounds.

Kneel at Sons' Graves.

When the mothers drew up to the cemetery they found lying on the lawn 17 wreaths of roses, carnations, and asters. The extra wreath was intended for one war mother who was unable to sail, and was laid on the destined grave by a Pennsylvania mother.

Each mother picked up a wreath and walked alone in peace and sorrow to find her son's grave. After laying the wreaths the mothers knelt a few minutes in silent prayer beside the crosses.

When they returned to the gate the superintendent of the cemetery stopped them and reminded them that six graves are marked only with the inscription, "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier unknown but to God."

Then the women took bouquets of snowballs offered by the superintendent and laid them reverently on the six lonely graves.

French Woman Honors Nurse.

The American mothers were not the only ones to visit the Suresnes cemetery. In the early morning a poorly dressed French woman entered the gates and placed a tiny bunch of lillies of the valley on the grave of Nurse Ella Dalton of New York, who is buried in one of the first rows.

Suresnes cemetery, a historic spot, has been the grave of soldiers since prehistoric times. It is situated on the gentle sloping hill of Mont Valerian, named after the Roman emperor whose forces there won a bloody victory.

The gold star mothers attended religious services in various American churches this morning, and those who did not visit the cemetery spent the afternoon sightseeing.

JAPAN GUARDS NAVAL ENVOY AS HE COMES HOME

TOKIO, May 19.—(AP)—[Monday.]—Admiral Hyo Takarabe, minister of marine, who apparently is destined to become the central figure of the revived storm over the London naval treaty, arrived at Tokio today after completing a long trans-Siberian journey from London. Owing to fears of hostile demonstrations, 200 extra police guarded the railroad station, but the arrival was without incident.

Fears that fanatitcal "patriots" might molest Admiral Takarabe were heightened by an incident yesterday at Shimonoseki, where the admiral first touched Japan proper. In the station waiting room a man approached Admiral Takarabe silently and handed him a dagger, a gesture, according to the Japanese code, implying that Admiral Takarabe commit suicide. Immediately thereafter the same man was arrested outside the station scattering handbills of which the slogan read, "Expel the Traitor Takarabe." Police declared the man demented.

20 Jump with Parachutes; 1 Making Film

Roosevelt Field, L. I., May 18.—[Special.] — A world's record for massed parachute jumping was established over this field this afternoon when twenty jumpers left the cabin and wing of a twin motored Curtiss Condor while a crowd of 5,000 persons watched. The jumpers "bailed out" so fast that they were all in the air together.

Takes Film as He Falls.

Armand Lizette, news reel photographer, one of those who jumped, rode in an engine nacelle out on the wing and kept his camera grinding as his fellow jumpers shot downward from the speeding machine. When all but one had jumped, Lizette, still clutching his camera, went over the side of the turret in which he had been riding and after pulling his rip cord and settling comfortably under the silken umbrella he again started making pictures as he floated downward.

Henry Bushmeyer, the last to leap, made a "delayed" jump and fell several thousand feet before opening his 'chute, catching up with the others.

Spread Out for Half Mile.

The big plane was flying at about eighty miles an hour and the jumpers, after their white parasols had caught the air, were spread out on an uneven line against the sky for a half mile. A stiff south wind was blowing above 1,500 feet and carried the dangling parachute troupe northward across electric wires beyond the confines of Roosevelt field to open meadow land close to the Long Island railroad right of way.

made. From Havana it will go to Lakehurst, N. J., preparatory to the takeoff on the return trans-Atlantic journey. About four or five days are expected to be consumed between Rio Janeiro and Lakehurst.

Not since the Graf Zeppelin first began its longer cruises has there been a takeoff accompanied with less ado than today. For the first time there were no special trains bringing spectators to the field. The departure seemed to attract almost no attention at all hereabouts, the general feeling being that the Graf and its trips are to be accepted now with as little questioning as if she were an ocean liner.

Start of the craft was delayed somewhat when Dr. Eckener found that atmospheric conditions had made it too heavy. He ordered half a ton of weight taken off, half of it in oil and half in water ballast.

Lady Grace Drummond-Hay was the first of the passengers to arrive at the hangar. She carried some evening dresses on hangers underneath her arm. Others arrived thereafter and stood about as the band played. Frau Eckener presented her husband with two red carnations.

Six Tons of Gasoline.

Although weather reports for the start of the trip, once Lake Constance was crossed, were favorable, conditions here were anything but pleasant. The sky was hazy and cloud covered, with a threat of rain. There was very little wind.

Besides passengers and crew the Graf Zeppelin carried with it today six tons of gasoline, 2,000 kilograms of oil, 75,000 cubic meters of hydrogen gas, 25,000 cubic meters of Blau gas, used for fuel, and nearly two tons of water ballast. These supplies were reckoned as being sufficient for 120 hours flying.

The ship also carried 35 tons useful load, including 1,200 pounds of letters and postcards. There were provisions weighing almost 2,000 pounds, including 120 bottles of wine, 6,000 eggs and 200 pounds of special Zeppelin bread. In anticipation of the hot weather crossing the equator, there were 1,500 pounds of ice aboard.

The present trip of the Graf Zeppelin should approximate 18,000 miles, just 1,000 miles less than the round the world trip last year, which took about 19,000 miles.

Passenger List Named.

Four of the 22 passengers are women and four are Americans. The passengers are:

Capt. Harry E. Shoemaker, U. S. N., stationed at Lakehurst; George Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y., who has flown on the Zeppelin before, and his sister, Mrs. Laura Durston, also of Syracuse; Gustav Kauder, German newspaper correspondent; Karl von Wiegand and Lady Grace Drummond-Hay, American newspaper correspondents; Dr. Jeronomo Megias, personal physician to King Alfonso of Spain; Fernando Sanchez, Spanish writer and lecturer; Gonzales Herrero, Jeronomo Elias, and Jorge Riviere, all of Spain; Dr. Martin Wronsky, a director of the Lufthansa corporation; Jacob Zwitcky of Zurich, Swiss business man; Prof. Licinio Cardos of Rio Janeiro; Corpus Barga, representing La Nacion, of Buenos Aires; Capt. Joachim Breithaupt, German naval officer; Dr. Badt, of the German transport ministry; Alfredo Groeschel, and Frau Groeschel, owners of a café of San Sebastian; Frau Docky Hammer, wife of Fritz Hammer, who has been requested by the Dornier company to pilot the DO-X on its projected transoceanic flight; Lieut. Col. Garcia de Pruneda and Lieut. Ricardo Casa, Spanish aviation officials.

All of the Spanish passengers, with the exception of Sagches, the writer, will disembark at Seville.

Among those who will be picked up at Seville is Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York, whose insistence on making the trip to America last May, when the dirigible had to make a forced landing in France, almost brought diplomatic intervention to keep her from going aboard the ship.

ZEP OFF ON 18,000 MILE HOP

Dotted route shows progress it had made down the Rhone river valley in France on its way to Seville, Spain, where it will moor today before its Atlantic flight to Brazil tomorrow.

From Seville the Graf will fly to Pernambuco and head down the coast to Rio Janeiro. From there it will travel to Havana and thence to Lakehurst, N. J.

MONACO ROYALIST SUPPORTERS WIN AGAIN AT POLLS

MONTE CARLO, May 18.—(AP)—In the second elections for the Monacan electoral college, the party of Mayor Eugene Marquet, supporting Prince Louis, again swept the field today. Out of a national vote of 540, it got a majority of 100.

The new election was called by Prince Louis on May 7 in a decree stating that the elections for the national council on May 4 had been "carried out contrary to the constitution." The prince annulled the list then chosen.

The new national council, which with the prince exercises the legislative power in the principality, will be chosen on June 8 by the electors named today.

ARREST SUSPECT IN SLAYING OF AUTO SALESMAN

Lambert Webster, sought for six weeks as a suspect in the murder of Edward Wolf, automobile salesman, killed while demonstrating a car, was arrested yesterday in a raid on a beer flat in the Austin police district. Lieut. William McCarthy of the homicide squad started the search for Webster on the ground that his description tallied with that of a mysterious "Webber" who, Wolf had said, was his prospective customer.

Webster, 27 years old, and living at 211 North La Porte avenue, disappeared after the murder and was not seen by police again until yesterday. Lieut. McCarthy says he has a record as an automobile thief. POLICE SURVEY SHOWS JAILS IN DANGER OF FIRE

Four Stations Dangerous, Captains Report.

The cell rooms in four of the 41 police stations need extensive alterations to provide safe exits for prisoners in case of fire, according to reports received yesterday by Commissioner of Police Russell. Each captain of a station was ordered to make an investigation by Commissioner Russell after the Ohio prison fire to determine if any fire hazards exist in the Chicago police stations.

Sixteen captains reported a number of minor changes that should be made to insure the safety of the prisoners from a similar catasrophe. Fifteen stations reported that no alterations are needed and six of the stations have no accommodations for keeping prisoners. The four cell rooms in the worst condition, according to the reports, are Maxwell, West North Avenue, Cragin, and Summerdale.

Reports Cell Room Danger.

"In case of a fire in the cell room at the stairway the prisoners would be suffocated or burnt to death before help could be given to them," wrote Capt. John Ryan of the West North Avenue station. "The cells are in the basement and the only exit is a wooden stairway. Another exit should be provided in the rear of the cell room."

The cells in the Cragin station are of wood construction, according to Capt. Dennis Malloy. His report stated that the fire department recently condemned the entire building as unfit for habitation. At Summerdale the cells are in the center of a frame building, according to Capt. Martin J. O'Malley. He said another exit should be provided from the cell room and the doors should be hung to swing outward.

Capt. Matthew Zimmer of the Maxwell station sent in a requisition for two iron stairways to replace wooden ones and asked that three wooden partitions be replaced. The wiring, he reported should be changed and hose connections installed in the cell room.

New Exits Are Asked.

Changes at the sixteen stations, where the reports deemed them necessary, are for extra exits, repair of locks on barred windows that can be used for emergency exits, hinges on barred windows, and the placing of electric light wires in iron conduits.

BRITISH COMMONS DEBATE TODAY ON JOBLESS CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—A display of fireworks is threatened for tomorrow in the house of commons, as the Conservative opposition leaders have decided to challenge the Labor government's handling of the unemployment problem. Latest official statistics indicate that the number of persons out of work in Britain is steadily growing in volume. The debate in the commons will be forced on a vote for the salary of J. H. Thomas, the minister for unemployment. Liberal circles go as far as to insist that the unemployment situation may eventually bring about the government's downfall.

The latest board of trade figures reveal that the last week in April the number of registered unemployed in England was 1,712,000. Such a high figure has not been reached since Great Britain's great trade depression of 1921 and 1922. Since the Labor government took office nearly a year ago 600,000 persons have been added to the list of unemployed.

London itself is also feeling the backwash of bad trade, for, according to official figures to be presented at the London county council meeting tomorrow, 107,196 persons are listed on the London unemployment registers.

Some housewives blame their cooking for the poor coffee when the trouble is with an inferior grade of coffee.
They overlook the fact that low price in coffee means just one thing: poor flavor. The roaster of cheaper blends has just one thought in mind—keeping down cost—he can't afford to bother about how his coffee tastes.
Fine flavor is the important thing in the buying, roasting and blending of McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee.

DUCE REVIEWS HUGE MUSTER OF ITALY'S TROOPS

FLORENCE, Italy, May 18.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, il duce of Italy, firmly seated on a splendid bay horse, today reviewed soldiers, sailors and fascist militia in what was probably the most imposing military concentration in Italy since the armistice.

While 45 scout airplanes droned overhead in battle formation, the duce received the salute of Italy's armed forces, making a picturesque figure astride his horse, and wore a towering white aigrette stuck in his black fascist fez. Showing deft horsemanship, the premier, accompanied by the ministers of war, navy and aviation, and 40 aides, trotted down the lines and then took a position on a small hillock in front of the grand stand of the Cascine race course. To the uproarious welcome of the Florentine crowds he replied with the fascist salute.

In the long line of troops the greatest ovation was given to four battalions of Italian blue jackets. The welcome showed the effect of the duce's speech on Italy's naval aspirations yesterday. All branches of the forces were represented.

Silver Trowel Rite

The corner stone of the new Gothic chapel of the First Methodist church of Evanston was laid yesterday. A silver trowel, used exactly twenty years ago in laying the corner stone of the church, was used for the corner stone of the chapel. Dr. Ernest Freemont Tittle, pastor, officiated and was assisted by Ormal Leroy Miller, associate minister, and George Avery Burcham, director of religious education.

SEARCHERS FOR BABY KIDNAPER EXHAUST CLEWS

Police Are Balked in Train Hunt.

The hunt for 2 year old Mary Agnes Moroney, kidnaped on Thursday from her home at 5200 Wentworth avenue, was at an impasse yesterday. The young woman known as "Mrs. Julia Otis," who shopped with crisp new $50 bills when she purchased articles for the needy Moroney family before abducting the older of the two little daughters, appeared to have vanished without leaving a trace, taking the child with her.

Mother's Spirits Sink.

Spent with sleeplessness and anxiety, Mary's 17 year old mother, Mrs. Kathryn Moroney, cuddled her remaining baby, Anna Stasia, in her arms and sat quietly brooding yesterday over the disappearance of her oldest. A third child is expected in the family in a few weeks. Mrs. Moroney was eager to have back her child, but, failing that, she hoped fervently for another message from the kidnaper, giving some assurance that the bay was happy and unharmed.

"I wonder," she speculated as her spirits sank lower, "whether she'll ever bring her back. If she's smart enough to have kept Mary Agnes this long, she might be smart enough to be able to keep her always. Do you think she'll send her back?"

Reassurances left her dubious but less hopeful than she had been. Up to 3 o'clock she had not eaten yesterday, partly because of interruptions and partly because she had no desire for food.

Have Two Theories.

Police last night had become convinced that the woman who took the child either was remaining in Chicago or had left the city by automobile. A note penned in a loop restroom and signed "Julia Otis," received by Mrs. Moroney Friday night, gave assurance that the child was all right, and asserted the writer was taking her to California for two months, after which she would return her. This information led to thorough searches conducted among the passengers of numerous California bound trains, none of which revealed any trace of the baby.

GANGSTERS KILL ONE AND SHOOT ANOTHER IN EAST

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—The murder of one man in Brooklyn early today and the critical wounding tonight of a tenement house visitor in a Delancey street hallway were tentatively reckoned by the police as ascribable to a new outbreak in an ever smouldering war of east side racketeers. Although mystifying circumstances surrounded both shootings, a trace in each instance lead back to the crowded tenement area in the shadow of the Williamsburg bridge.

The man murdered was Paul Gallo, a real estate dealer with offices in Brooklyn, and with a plumbing business in Manhattan. The second man, who at almost the same moment that Gallo died in Coney Island hospital, was found with three bullet wounds in the back in a hallway, is Benjamin Schnite, said by the police to be a former inmate of Elmira reformatory.

Blast Showers Firemen With Debris; One Burned

An explosion during a fire in a grocery at 1602 Taylor street early this morning showered four members of engine company 103 with debris, an ember striking Pipeman Howard E. Taylor, 29 years old, 5759 South Mozart street, in the face and inflicting painful burns. Firemen attributed the blast to the bursting of olive oil cans. The loss was estimated at $700 by the grocery owner, Betty Frisella, 1614 West Taylor street.

16 ARE KILLED BY 2 TORNADOES IN DIXIE TOWNS

Arkansas, Tennessee Centers Suffer.

Little Rock, Ark., May 18.—[Special.]—Tornadoes and floods caused widespread damage in three southern states today. At least sixteen persons were killed and scores injured by one tornado in northeastern Arkansas and eight or more injured by another in western Tennessee. Northeast Texas and southwest Arkansas were the flood sufferers.

The Arkansas storm centered in Phillips county, striking Elaine and sweeping over dozens of farms. All of the dead there were Negroes. Somerville, Tenn., reported eight injured. Property damage in both states was heavy. Helena and Lambrook, Ark., also were in the storm's path. Aid was rushed to the stricken centers.

Red River on Rampage.

Swollen by torrential rains the Red river was out of its banks in Texas and Arkansas. Highways were flooded, railway tracks covered, bridges swept away, and hundreds of persons forced to flee their homes. Levees were threatened. Rescue parties battled the swirling current and saved many from the onrushing flood waters.

A refugee camp was set up at Smackover, Ark., and doctors and nurses took all possible precautions to ward off typhoid fever and other ills as the number of homeless arriving steadily increased.

Baby Born on Raft.

Refugees arriving at Smackover told of a woman giving birth to a baby on a raft swept along on the crest of the flood, and of another woman who, with her three children, was thrown into the flood when a boat capsized. All four were rescued.

The Red Cross marshaled its forces for relief work, and other agencies prepared to provide shelter and food for the flood victims.

Three Killed in Texas.

Dallas, Tex., May 18.—[Special.]—A rain and wind storm swept through Dallas and Ellis counties today, killing three Negroes and causing heavy crop and property damage.

AUTOS KILL TWO MORE IN COOK COUNTY; TOLL 328

Two persons were killed in Chicago traffic yesterday, their deaths increasing the county motor toll this year to 328. Another Chicagoan met death near Antioch, Ill., in Lake county. The Cook county victims:

Stephen Herceg, 48 years old, 1837 Fisk street. Run over as he waited for a street car at 22d and Fisk streets. He was rushed to the People's hospital by the motorist, Carl Porter, a Negro of 4617 Vincennes avenue, where he died. Canalport police arrested Porter.

James E. Smith, 73 years old, 6201 South Whipple street. He died in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries inflicted by the automobile of Walter Anderson, 5600 South Sawyer avenue, which struck him as he was crossing Kedzie avenue at 63d street. Chicago Lawn police are holding Anderson for the inquest.

Theobald Kolb, 24 years old, 3118 North Damen avenue, was en route to his summer cottage at Antioch, when he encountered motor trouble. He was attempting to flag another car 2½ miles south of Antioch and was struck. The other motorist, Peter Koske of Fox Lake, told a coroner's jury he did not see Kolb's signal and was exonerated. Kolb died in the St. Therese hospital, Waukegan.

TRAP BOMBER LIGHTING FUSE AT CAFE DOOR

Confesses Two Blasts for Extortionist's Fees.

broke. I forged a check and was caught. I served five years in the penitentiary at Columbus, O., and later on another stretch for carrying concealed weapons.

Learns from Safe Blowers.

"In prison, I met a bunch of safe blowers. They told me all about cooking dynamite to get the nitroglycerine—the soup—out of it. I thought it would be a good thing to be a safe blower and I also heard there were plenty of chances for bombers in Chicago."

Haltingly, he described his arrival in Chicago two years ago. He worked as a waiter and then as a porter in the Regal hotel, he said. He worried over the problem of getting dynamite to become a bomber.

"I asked where there was a quarry near Chicago," he said. "They told me there was one near Lyons. I went out there one night and broke into a shanty. I stole twelve sticks of dynamite, 2,000 feet of fuse, 200 detonator caps, and some electrical wiring which could be used to connect a bomb with an automobile starter."

Tells of Seeking Bomb Jobs.

Then he began to seek work as a bomber, Phillips said.

"I couldn't cook the dynamite right so that I could get the nitroglycerine," he continued. "So I gave up the safe blowing idea after picking out a safe at the Municipal pier.

"Finally, this man, 'The Greek,' said he had a job for me. I put a bomb with three sticks of dynamite in it at the southeast corner of Illinois and Clark streets, a restaurant, and it did the job. The Greek gave me $100. I didn't have any more business until, about a week ago, he promised me $150 for the Kinzie street job. Five sticks of dynamite blew the place up."

Roche Gets Clew.

In investigating this bombing, Roche came upon information which led him to the belief that Phillips was guilty and that he planned another bombing soon. The investigator was intent upon getting actual evidence of the bombing and he decided to attempt to catch the bomber in the act of placing the bomb.

Phillips had only one stick of dynamite left, he said, and he placed it in a pipe to give it the necessary force.

The prisoner disclaimed knowledge of any other bombings, a number of which have damaged near north side night clubs, cafes, restaurants, and stores.

Seek Man Who Hired Phillips.

One clew pursued by Roche led to the sending of a squad, under the direction of Sergt. Daniel Madigan, to Michigan City in a search for the man who had hired Phillips. No arrest was made.

The man sought in Michigan City was a Greek proprietor of a restaurant, who was said to have had knowledge of the bombings confessed by Phillips. The investigators found that this man had left Michigan City eight months ago and his whereabouts at present were not known.

A black powder bomb was exploded at the home of Mrs. Emma Holmes, a Negress, 3714 Ellis avenue, early yesterday. No one was injured. Mrs. Holmes told police that she and several other colored property owners had received threatening letters advising them to move out of the neighborhood.

Columbus, O., May 18.—(AP)—A small fire, possibly started by a carelessly thrown cigaret, was discovered under a stairway in the Catholic chapel at the Ohio penitentiary tonight. It was quickly extinguished and did no damage. Warden Thomas denied reports that convicts had started the fire.

JAPAN ANGRY AT MANCHURIA RAID BY SOVIET CHEKA

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 18.—A serious crisis between the soviet authorities and the Japanese in Manchuria has resulted from the action of the soviet cheka in raiding and searching the Japanese consulate located at Blagovestchensk.

A dispatch from Harbin stated that the Japanese have dispatched the consul from Harbin for the purpose of investigating the situation.

Russia Charges Smuggling.

The reason for the soviet raid was based on the information supplied the cheka that the Japanese consulate was engaged in extensive smuggling of foodstuffs from Manchuria into Siberia across the Amur river from the Chinese town of Tahelho, but the Japanese allege the charge is false, and no evidence was found as a result of the raid.

A Japanese Rengo News agency report from Harbin today states that there have been riots among the Russian farmers and fisherman within the soviet maritime province in the vicinity of Vladivostok as a result of a serious food shortage.

Miners Loot Railroad.

The report also stated that 300 miners have attacked and looted railway stations in order to obtain food, while there have been several instances recently where the peasants are alleged to have held up the Trans-Siberian train and removed the dining cars.

The report further alleges that the "threatening atmosphere is deepening daily in the villages in the vicinity of Khabarovsk due to a shortage of food throughout Siberia and as a result the Red army stationed at Vladivostok has been mobilized in order to cope with the situation."

WET-DRY ISSUE HOLDS STAGE IN 1930 ELECTIONS

Half Dozen States Will Have Referenda.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Prohibition now seems certain to attract more attention than any other issue of the 1930 primaries and elections.

As many as half a dozen states are planning referenda on the question in November. Prohibition already is a major issue in senatorial and congressional primaries in most of the eastern states. It may be kept out of many of the senatorial primaries and elections in western states where present senators are dry and are in a strong position politically. It will, nevertheless, crop out as an issue in scattering congressional districts in these states.

Dwight W. Morrow's declaration for repeal of the 18th amendment may have a pronounced influence toward injecting prohibition into Republican primary campaigns, particularly in the east.

Watch Pennsylvania Vote.

If the avowed candidates in the Pennsylvania primary on Tuesday poll substantial votes further encouragement will be given to Republican wets who have been reluctant to press their views on this issue in the face of the attitude of President Hoover and other recognized party leaders.

Until Mr. Morrow announced his stand as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey Republicans close to the Hoover administration had been reluctant to deal with prohibition except to declare for law enforcement and in cases where they have wet leanings to remain silent on modification or repeal of present laws.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, although supposed to be personally moist and although backed by William S. Vare, known as dripping wet, has stuck closely to the law enforcement formula in his campaign as a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania.

Butler for Enforcement.

In Massachusetts former Senator William M. Butler withholding for several weeks any statement of his position on prohibition finally based his candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination on the Hoover law enforcement program.

If Mr. Morrow, who was selected by President Hoover as a delegate to the London naval conference and who still retains the post of ambassador to Mexico, can win the New Jersey nomination and at the same time remain in the favor of the administration there may be other prominent Republicans who will venture to take the wet side of the prohibition issue.

Gov. Fuller May Run.

The outcome of the Pennsylvania primary on Tuesday and the New Jersey primary on June 17 will help to shape the course of the campaign for the Massachusetts primary on Sept. 16. Former Senator Butler is opposed for the Republican senatorial nomination thus far only by Eben S. Draper, a wet. Former Gov. Alvan Fuller has been flirting with the possibility of entering the field, and there are suggestions that if he thought a wet could win the Republican nomination in Massachusetts he might take up that side of the issue.

Massachusetts is one of the states where arrangements already have been made for a prohibition referendum in November.

Rhode Island is another state where provision has already been made by legislative action for a prohibition referendum in November.

In Pennsylvania Francis Shunk Brown, the Vare candidate for governor and Secretary Davis' running mate, has declared for passage of a bill by the state legislature to provide for a prohibition referendum. This referendum, presumably, would not take place this year.

May be Illinois Issue.

The movement in Illinois for a referendum in November, if successful, will mean that prohibition will be a major issue in two state-wide votes in that state. Even if there should be no referendum Illinois will be one of the states where prohibition will figure in the election, as the wets will try to elect former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic senatorial nominee, over Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican candidate.

Definite steps have been taken in Colorado for a referendum in November and the wets have been surveying the situation in such states as Michigan, North Dakota, and California.

BACK HOME

JACK LEONARD.

Nine year old Jack Leonard, 3014 West 63d street, arrived home yesterday, footsore and with a prodigious appetite, after a week of adventure with two schoolmates, who are still at large.

The Rybsky brothers, Chester, 13 years old, and Leonard, 9, were his companions on the expedition, Jack said. They slept on old coats in an abandoned shack near 54th street and Western avenue with dry grass for a mattress.

The locomotive overturned and three cars were derailed.

Dry Law Fleeing Yanks Double Juarez' Population

MEXICO CITY, May 18.—(AP)—Prohibition in the United States was said by census officials today to have had a large share in doubling the population of the border city of Juarez, across the border from El Paso, Tex. The census taken last week shows the population of Juarez is now 38,587, compared with 18,000 ten years ago. There are 20,500 women in Juarez.

FRANCE RUSHES TROOPS TO QUELL INDO-CHINA RIOTS

Police Rescue Official from 1,500 Coolies.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 18.—The unrest which has been brewing in Indo-China for some time broke out yesterday when a mob of 1,500 coolies carrying red flags surrounded the administrative chief of the province of Sadec while he was making an inspection tour of the village of Tan Douna.

Local gendarmerie rescued the official before the infuriated crowd forced entry into the house, and troops which were rushed from Saigon to restore order made many arrests.

Charge Russian Influence.

News of the outbreak was received here this evening and the Nationalist newspaper La Liberté warns the government that "the situation is too grave for Premier André Tardieu not to give it his entire attention. Unless the government acts with extreme energy to overcome the agitation in our colonies, fomented in Moscow, will redouble with violence."

Supplementing this the communist newspaper L'Humanité declares that all of Indo-China, particularly Annam and Tongking, is seething with revolt.

L'Humanité asserts the textile workers of Cochin-China have revolted and that the coolies of many plantations are striking, as well as the railway workers.

Everywhere, the article says, the red flag is waving and the "Internationale" is being sung.

Harsh Justice Responsible.

L'Humanité blames the heavy penalties by the criminal commission of Yen Bay given at the recent strikers' trials as responsible for the latest flareup, citing that there were 13 condemnations to death, one sentenced to hard labor for life, one sentenced to 15 years in prison for first offense.

Following this, the commission sentenced 39 coolies to death, 33 to life imprisonment at hard labor, four to be deported, and nine to 20 years' imprisonment. Forty-four former soldiers were among those sentenced.

The criminal commission is now preparing to deal with 300 natives arrested at Phu Tha and 60 arrested at Kien.

L'Humanité accuses a resident of Tongking M. Robin, of ordering villages to be bombarded by artillery as reprisals for the Yen Bay outbreaks.

Publish Official Order.

The newspaper cites the official order, as follows:

"The village of Co Am, where a band of rebels took refuge and put to death the local sub-prefect, has been bombarded by airplanes of the Hanoi escadrille. Any village perpetrating a similar action will be pitilessly dealth with also."

The paper goes on to say that airplanes dropped 53 bombs weighing 1,400 pounds each, killing 23 natives and wounding many more, and while the population fled through the rice fields airplane machine gunners mowed down many more."

RAID CHINATOWN AFTER RUMOR OF TONG WAR PLANS

Acting on information that a new tong war is threatened in Chicago, Chief of Detectives Stege and a squad yesterday seized 44 Chinese, two revolvers, and 300 rounds of ammunition in Chinatown raids. Last night the prisoners were questioned at the detective bureau.

Stege said reports had come to him that hostilities were imminent between the On Leong and the Hip Sing tongs following the selection recently as head of the Hip Sings of Willie Young. Young succeeded Willie Wong, now serving a sentence at Leavenworth for selling narcotics. His accession quickly caused a split among the Hip Sings, many of whom have gone over to the On Leongs, Stege declared.

Questioning of the suspects revealed that a number of them came to Chicago recently from St. Paul, Pittsburgh, and other cities, and this might indicate, Stege declared, that the warring factions have been gathering their gunmen for a test of strength.

POPULATION HUB FOR ILLINOIS IS NEARER CHICAGO

Upstate Towns Gain More than Others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Population density in Illinois during the last decade has again shifted heavily to the northeast toward Chicago and its metropolitan area, as shown by census figures being received and compiled in Washington.

While the larger downstate towns have made gains ranging from 5 to 20 per cent for the ten years between 1920 and 1930, those near Chicago have leaped ahead from 10 to 30 per cent and as high as 36 per cent in the number of their inhabitants. Similar contrasts in more striking proportions are apparent for the smaller towns and villages.

Aurora Makes Big Gain.

By far the largest gain reported among the larger cities of the state has been that of Aurora, considered a part of the Chicago area, which grew from 36,397 to 49,552, an increase of 36 per cent. Quincy, in the west central part of the state, which in 1920 ranked next to Aurora with 35,978 inhabitants, moved up to 39,221, an increase of slightly more than 9 per cent.

Bloomington, in the central part of the state, in 1920 led Elgin, near Chicago, with 28,725 inhabitants to Elgin's 27,454. The 1930 census showed Elgin to have increased to 35,806 while Bloomington increased to 30,583.

The most sensational growth reported to date registered by a town in Illinois is Elmwood Park, a Chicago suburb, which increased from 1,738 to 11,149, or more than 700 per cent. River Grove, another suburb, jumped from 484 to 2,741. Park Ridge made a gain of 208 per cent and Elmhurst 195 per cent.

No gains approaching these have been reported from any other portion of the state. On the contrary, definite losses have been shown in some sections, particularly in the southern area, known as "Little Egypt." Cairo suffered a loss of 1,620; Herrin, 306; Marion, 566; Centerville, 645, and Johnson City, 1,195.

La Salle's Gain Small.

Among the larger towns, La Salle has remained the nearest to stationary in population. In 1920 it had 13,050 and in 1930 13,092. Kewanee, with 16,026 in 1920 and 16,916 in 1930, goined only 890 inhabitants.

Several Illinois towns have slipped up into the 10,000 class, among them Wilmette, Mount Vernon, Elmhurst, Pekin, Elmwood Park, and Park Ridge.

ASSOCIATED PRESS FIGURES.

The following figures were announced yesterday by the Associated Press in conjunction with the census bureau:

City—	Population.	Increase.	Per cent.
Chattanooga, Tenn.	119,530	61,644	106

NEGRO KILLED ENTERING FLAT.

William Speers, a Negro, 50 years old, of 3537 Cottage Grove avenue was shot to death early yesterday by Frank Thomas, also a Negro, as he attempted to enter Thomas' flat at 3541 Cottage Grove avenue, armed with a razor, according to a statement by Thomas.

HOOVER TO REVIEW FLEET TOMORROW OFF VIRGINIA CAPES

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Riding most of the way over wet roads President Hoover arrived early tonight at the White House after his week-end trip to the presidential camp in Virginia. Due to a cold rain the President and his party for the most of the day sat before a blazing log fire.

In the car with the President on the three hour drive from the camp were Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Representatives Robert Blackburn of Kentucky and A. M. Free of California, all Republicans.

Four other of the thirteen guests who went on the fishing trip, Secretary Stimson, Attorney General Mitchell, and Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, left the camp ahead of the rest of the party because of dinner engagements in the capital.

The President expected to retire early to get a good rest before he leaves late tomorrow night for Hampton Roads to review the United States fleet off the Virginia capes Tuesday. He is to go by special train to Old Point Comfort, Va., spending the night on the train. He will board the cruiser Salt Lake City early Tuesday. The review is to take place about two hours cruise from land.

CANNON BUCKET SHOP CHARGE IS UP AGAIN TODAY

Dixie Methodists to Pick Three Bishops.

Dallas, Tex., May 18.—(AP)—Swinging into what probably will be the last week of the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, here, the delegates tonight looked forward to action on the stock market speculation charges against Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Washington, D. C., and the election of three new bishops.

Big Temperance Meeting.

The episcopacy committee of the church is scheduled to again take up the charges against Bishop Cannon Monday afternoon. Later that night the bishop is scheduled to preside at a massmeeting on temperance and law enforcement which will be open to the public. He is chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the church.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Ernest H. Cherington of Washington, secretary of the World League Against Alcohol, who has chosen as his subject "Prohibition After Ten Years."

Ballot Will Be Secret.

Members of the episcopacy committee tonight said an attempt would be made tomorrow to elect the three additional bishops authorized by the conference. Since their election will be by secret ballot, work of the conference will continue while the ballots are cast. The delegates will be called on to consider a proposal to unify the Epworth league, Sunday school, and educational departments of the church under a single board.

The special report of the committee on finance, recommending unification of church funds, will be presented Tuesday. Other subjects pending before the delegates include several important memorials for changes in conference boundaries and the request of women for a place in the ministry.

Dies of Brawl Injuries; Hold Beer Flat Keeper

Bernard Hanan, 23 years old, a plumber of 5834 Shields avenue, died yesterday in Mercy hospital, supposedly of injuries suffered April 17 in a brawl. Wabash avenue police arrested John Fitzpatrick, 26, keeper of a beer flat at 738 West 61st street, and confiscated three barrels of beer. The dead man's brother, Michael, accused Fitzgerald of causing Bernard's death.

TARDIEU ASKS FRENCH WAR VETS TO LEAD NATION

LYONS, France, May 18.—(AP)—France's world war veterans were given a new call to action today by Premier Tardieu, who told 3,000 delegates of the National Union of Combatants, with a membership of 600,000, that the "hour has come to sound an awakening" for a 15 year peaceful fight to develop France and her colonies into a great, strong nation of 100,000,000, safe from attack but ready for defense. He laid out a program of industrialization to make France a better place in which to live, and he asked the former soldiers to take the leadership in accomplishing these things, which he said were above politics.

CERMAK REJECTS G. O. P. OFFER TO AID IN WET TEST

Says Democrats Do Not Want Dry Candidates.

Republican offers of assistance in an Illinois wet and dry referendum were not welcomed yesterday by Anton J. Cermak, Democratic county chairman, who expressed some positive views on the subject.

"We're going to denounce and read out of the party any of our candidates who want to run as drys," Chairman Cermak said. "Will the Republicans do the same? The Democratic party is opposed to prohibition, so why not say so in unmistakable language. If the Republican party in Cook county should go on record as being wet, how could it support dry candidates?

"The votes of the people don't change the votes of dry congressmen. There's Congressman at Large Richard Yates, who votes dry despite several referendums. He says the people are damn fools and don't know what they want. Will the wet Republicans of Cook county support him?

Expects Action in Conventions.

"We're going to have a county convention and later a state convention at Springfield in August and I expect both conventions will go on record opposing prohibition and endorsing the principles of the referendum. If there are any dry candidates for congress on the Democratic ticket they'll be pointed out and asked to resign their nominations."

Mr. Cermak said the ten Democratic congressional candidates of Cook county are wet. He wouldn't name those downstate dry Democrats he had in mind yesterday and he added that the point on which Michael L. Igoe, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, differed with him might be well taken were it not for the congressional candidates.

Igoe's Stand Explained.

It was Igoe's thought expressed on Saturday that the senatorial candidacies of James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat and wet, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican and dry, offered an opportunity for a referendum on the subject without the submission of specific questions to the voters.

William L. O'Connell, personal representative of former Senator Lewis, said he believes Lewis' wishes on the referendum problem should be consulted. Mr. Lewis was in Los Angeles yesterday celebrating his 64th birthday.

SHOT BY HOODLUM

GEORGE NEIL.

The Stockyards police yesterday arrested John Kelly, 25 years old, a bus driver of 5630 South Morgan street, as one of the four intoxicated men who shortly after midnight shot and seriously wounded Policeman George Neil, 33 years old, in a restaurant at 5435 South Halsted street.

Kelly was arrested after tracing the license number of an auto.

Neil, off duty and in civilian clothes, was at the restaurant counter when the four entered and ordered a Negro customer, Nathaniel Lawler, 2734 South Wabash avenue, to give them his place at the counter. Refusing to move, Lawler was jerked off his stool.

When the policeman rose to interfere, the four beset him, knocked him down and one, unidentified, seized the policeman's service revolver and shot him in the side. The prisoner, Kelly, denied he was one of the party, but the police asserted that Patrolman Neil had positively identified him at the German Deaconess hospital. William O'Malley, 24 years old, 739 West 64th street, was another of the party and is being sought, the police said.

ADMITS KILLING MATE 24 YEARS AGO.

On her deathbed Theresa Haselbauer, a peasant women of Schleirbach, Austria, confessed that her first husband, Heinrich Piursch, found dead twenty-four years ago, did not commit suicide, but was killed by her and her second husband, Franz Haselbauer.

This DANERSK YORKSHIRE TABLE

THE COLLECTOR'S PIECE FOR THE MONTH OF MAY
AFTER MAY 31st, ITS PRICE WILL BE $39

In order that you may become acquainted with the joys of collecting Danersk Furniture, this lovely little walnut table is offered at the unusually tempting price of $24—during this month only.

Many are its pedigree marks of fine craftsmanship.

Look, for example, at the rare grace and sweep of the twisted turning.

Since the days of the Stuart Kings of England, when the vogue for spiral turnings reached its height, there has been no more exacting test of a cabinet-maker's skill than the fashioning of a hand turning of this type.

You cannot see the sturdy tenons which come clear through the top and bottom platforms, and are fastened with hardwood wedges, but they are there just the same—and they hold together this little table so staunchly that it should easily last a lifetime.

Hundreds of larger pieces, even more interesting, are also waiting for you here.

Each has been built carefully and skilfully by our Scotch and English craftsmen. Single pieces or groups. For living room, dining room, bedroom, or library—for city apartment or country home. Come soon and see how, in this friendly furniture, the fine old Anglo-Saxon traditions are found at their best.

TAX AMENDMENT MUST HAVE AID OF COOK COUNTY

Votes of Downstate Alone Can't Pass It.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Chicago members of the general assembly preparing for the second week of the special session which opens tomorrow at Springfield did some calculating yesterday on the odds for and against the pending revenue amendment to the state constitution now referred to generally as the income tax amendment.

Roll calls during the two days of the first week showed that downstate forces in favor of the amendment would require substantial help from Cook county in order to attain a two-thirds vote required in each house for adoption of the resolution to submit the amendment to the voters next November.

Two-thirds of the senate is 34. There were 31 downstate senators present. Two-thirds of the house is 102. There were 86 downstate members who responded to the clerk's call on one or both of the session days last week. In other words, on the basis of that attendance, three members of the senate and sixteen members of the house would have to be won over to Gov. Emmerson's side to pass the resolution, provided that every downstater were for it, a question in the minds of many.

Downstate Attitude in Doubt.

Analysis on the basis of last week's figures is said to be basically sound because the records show that attendance the first week of a special session is better than that of the rest of the session. The only thing in the form of compensation received by members for such extraordinary meetings is $50 regardless of the number of weeks it runs. When that is gone the member feels that he is paying all his expenses out of his own pocket as well as suffering losses at home.

As for the attitude of downstaters in reference to the amendment there is doubt expressed because there was no record vote on this question in the house last year. An amendment resolution passed the senate with the support of four Cook county men—Barbour, Huebsch, Leonardo, and Mandel—but some of these are said to have changed their positions since.

In addition, analysts cite the fact that the resolution was not debated at length in the senate on the score of its income tax possibilities and that it contained restrictions concerning that form of impost not contained in the present resolution.

Vote on Former Measure.

Three downstaters satisfied with these limitations voted for the amendment but voted against the income tax bill. They were Senators Kessinger, Michel, and Miles.

In the house, where the income tax bill of last year was defeated by striking out the enacting clause 72 to 69, there were nineteen downstaters who voted with the anti-tax majority. They were Representatives Breen, Clark, Conerton, Crowley, Devine, Dixon, C. D. Franz, Green, Holten, Lyons, Martin, McDonough, Peffers, Petit, Petri, Searle, Sinnett, Walker, and Robert J. Wilson.

SHOOTS SELF

Kills Wife, Her Brother and Then Ends Own Life

Belleville, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Crazed over six weeks' estrangement from his wife, John Cook, 45, a coal miner, shot and killed her and his brother-in-law and then ended his own life here last night.

SHOOTS HIMSELF IN NECK BUT HE DOESN'T USE GUN

Frank Tuttle, 28 years old, a guest at the Metropole hotel, 2300 South Michigan avenue, shot himself accidentally in the neck last evening in his room—and he didn't use a gun. This was his story to the Pekin Inn police, and they found evidence to substantiate it.

Tuttle, who said he has no occupation, was in a bathroom adjoining his room "holding a pistol cartridge on a spoon above a gas jet to see if the heat would explode it." It did and the bullet ricocheted from a window sill, piercing his neck.

Wesley Memorial hospital surgeons said the wound would not be fatal. Sergt. Al Snyder and his squad found fragments of a spoon and a bullet jacket split open but not dented on the cap as it should have been if a pistol hammer struck it.

ANTIQUES

—a special showing of one of America's greatest collections occupying two floors at Colby's

ON our first and third floors we have assembled an exhibition representing the combined efforts of many expert collectors, traveling to leading European sources . . . Many of the pieces shown are from famous collections, in historic houses in France and England, and the entire exhibition probably includes more fine antique furniture than the general observer would see in many years of travel . . . While this furniture is all historically and artistically interesting, it is admirably adapted to use in present-day houses, where it will lend an air of distinction and dignity . . . Whether you plan to use antiques as a whole or in part, in your home interior, or merely study them as a guide to the choice of correct reproductions, you should see this exhibition.

TARIFF IS TARGET FOR DEMOCRATS,' RADICALS' BLAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Broadsides against the entire tariff bill in its present form were issued today by both the Democrats and radical Republicans. It was made evident that the leaders of the two groups are willing to let the bill die, which would be the fate threatened if the senate tomorrow should reject the resolution of Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] to relieve the senate conferees from all obligations with respect to the export debenture and flexible tariff repeal provisions.

To obtain adoption of the Smoot resolution the Republicans must obtain a few Democratic votes, and they believe that this will be possible.

The Democratic attack was issued by the Democratic national committee in the form of a statement by Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.]. The radicals made their declaration through their organization, the People's Legislative Service.

"If the pending tariff monstrosity becomes a law, nothing short of a miracle can save the country from economic disaster and the Republican party from certain repudiation by the country," said Senator McKellar. "Nothing but the intervention of a miracle can keep this tariff, as the President's party would force it upon the people, from disrupting and disorganizing trade and industry as never before."

If the leaders of the Democratic and radical groups are able to hold their forces together in the vote on the Smoot resolution it is conceded that the tariff bill will be in a critical situation. Neither the house nor President Hoover ever would accept the export debenture provision of the senate bill. If the senate adopts the Smoot resolution the conferees will agree on elimination of the export debenture provision and then may be able to obtain a compromise on the flexible tariff which will be fairly satisfactory to all groups.

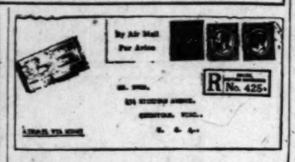
FROM BELIZE, BRITISH HONDURAS



Letter received by Chester J. Ewer, 434 Michigan avenue, Sheboygan, Wis.

"The sender of this letter, Mr. Edward Ewer of this address and of the Caribbean Company Ltd. of Philadelphia and Belize, which is building a large hotel at Belize and doing other construction work under a British government concession, resides in the colony during the winter," Mr. Ewer writes.

"The letter took two days to reach Sheboygan via Pan American Airways, which operates daily from Belize to Miami in seven hours, as against four days via the old steamer route to New Orleans."

Belize is the capital and principal seaport of British Honduras and occupies both banks of the river Belize at its mouth. The courthouse, government house, and the British bank of Honduras are the principal buildings. It has a large export trade in wood, including mahogany, rosewood, cedar, logwood, and other cabinet woods and dye woods.

The town is said to have derived its name from the French word "balise," meaning a beacon, as some signal or light, no doubt, was raised in former times for the guidance of the buccaneers who once infested the region. A Scottish pirate named Wallis settled on a small island off the town in 1638 and for nearly a hundred years the names Belize and Wallis were used interchangeably to describe the town, the river, and the entire territory. The history of Belize is bound up inextricably with that of the rest of Honduras.

"Recent exploration has uncovered great cities built by the Mayan Indians, the first known inhabitants of Honduras," Mr. Ewer writes, "and research is further being carried on by the British and the Field museum. Col. Lindbergh and the Carnegie institute recently investigated these ruins in conjunction with the Pan American Airways."

ENGLAND PLANS TO CENSOR DISKS FOR PHONOGRAPH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—Not content with censoring motion pictures and stage plays, British officials are now considering establishing a censorship of phonograph records. Complaints have reached the home office that many of the new records are "vulgar and offensive" and it is possible that steps will soon be taken to purify what strikes the British ear as well as what strikes the British eye.

It is claimed that recently there has been a flood of records of songs with obvious double meanings and that the popularity of these records has encouraged and even increased production of them.

The first case of a demand for suppressing passages in talking pictures arose recently when several newspapers demanded the elimination of a word that occurred three times in an American film. This word was faultily recorded and to the English ear sounded like an obscene word, instead of the innocent American slang expression which it was intended to be.

NEW YORK BARON AIMS TO RESTORE DAYS OF LOUIS XVI

Wears Knee Breeches and Lace; Hates Autos.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 18.—In a quiet little side street, where the roaring traffic of the Champs Elysées comes only as a muffled echo, there lives a placid old gentleman who is devoting his life to trying to turn back the hands of time by a century or so.

Ironically, he is an American, but he is the leader of a group of French nobemen and noblewomen who are trying to restore the leisurely and elegant ideals of living that prevailed under Louis XVI. He is Baron Edward B. Cachard. Though of French extraction he was born in New York and has an American passport. He got his own title from the pope, but he thinks a real titled and hereditary nobility will grow up in America some day.

The baron's great passion is the horse. Not more than a half a dozen times in his life has he ridden in an automobile. Every Monday night the baron's horse drawn coupe pulls up in front of the opera and he steps out, wrapped in a silk cape and wearing the conventional silk hat.

Must Have Chaperon.

He has never gone out in public at night unchaperoned with a woman. He things that is improper. He refuses to recognize daylight saving time in summer and keeps his watch set to the old time. Despite his aristocratic ideals, the baron is simple in his manners. He is a straight old man with ruddy cheeks, blue eyes, and a white mustache.

To reach Baron Cachard's apartment one climbs up winding red carpeted stairs. A flunkey in livery takes your hat and ushers you into the eighteenth century gilt and alabaster dusk of a magnificent Louis XVI. salon. For the interview, however, you are led into his study. An American made typewriter forms the one modern note. The walls of the study are hung with photographs and engravings of the baron on horseback and groups of his friends dressed in knee breeches and colored plush coats.

Wants Auto Destroyed.

The baron's great dream is to make the world give up the automobile and return to the horse. He thinks automobiles are not only vulgar but ruinous for the health and, furthermore, that they are economically unsound. He blames the stock crash and the present uneasiness on the automobile.

He is the animating spirit of a little group of French aristocrats who dress up in knee breeches and colored long tailed coats with lace ruffles. Every year he gives a great banquet in which all the male guests are obliged to dress that way. He is driving at a return to the way of living that goes with knee breeches and carriages.

Wanted Al Smith to Win.

Despite his preoccupation with restoring the past, Baron Cachard is keenly interested in America. He was a strong supporter of Al Smith in the last election and thinks Smith might have won, if it hadn't been for the prohibition agents.

By a curious anachronism the baron possesses what is probably the only electric lighted horse drawn carriage in the world. He had the body of his monogrammed coupe specially altered at great cost to accommodate a battery. The coupe had rubber tires once, but the baron took them off because, he said, they made the coachman sick.

HERE'S ONE VISITOR FROM EUROPE WHO IS KIND TO CHICAGO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, May 18.—Dr. Josephus Jitta, secretary of the high labor council at The Hague, who has just returned from a visit to the United States, where he lectured at several universities on modern Holland, today was loud in his praise of Chicago. In an interview with a Dutch paper here he said he was surprised by the alertness of Chicago's police in all parts of the city and the masterful manner in which they handle the enormous lines of traffic.

Regarding Chicago's gangdom, the only reminder he had of their existence was the sight at night of armed police every few hundred yards. He also praised the highly efficient manner in which baggage is handled at the railway stations.

Places of amusement, he declared, are remarkable, and rank much higher than Paris.

FILIPINO CHIEFS RENEW EFFORTS TO CUT U. S. TIES

Hit War Secretary's Adverse Statement.

MANILA, P. I., May 18.—(AP)—Philippine leaders commenting today on the sentiment of Secretary of War Hurley that there should be no diminution at present in control of the islands by the United States reiterated their belief that America is committed to Philippine independence.

The administrative expression of opposition to immediate island independence took the leaders entirely by surprise but they declared their intention of redoubling their efforts to obtain freedom. Secretary Hurley's sentiment was expressed in a letter to Chairman Bingham of the senate territories committee. The secretary said he believed immediate independence would be "disastrous" and also asserted that it would be inexpedient and hazardous to attempt to fix a definite date for ultimate independence.

Sergio Osmena, acting president of the Philippine senate, advised of Secretary Hurley's pronouncement, said:

"With all due respect to the opinion of the secretary of war, our stand remains the same. We believe the American government and people are definitely committed to Philippine independence. The sooner it is granted the better it will be for all concerned."

Asked whether the Philippine independence mission will remain in America, Osmena said:

"The mission has done it's duty well. It will remain in Washington as long as it's services are needed. It has complete freedom of action."

Manuel Quezon, senate president, who has been ill for several months, declined to comment, pleading indisposition.

Senator Elpidio Quirino, Nacionalista Consolidado party leader, however expressed satisfaction at the war secretary's outspoken stand.

"I am so glad that the secretary of war came out openly with a clear and unmistakable statement," he said, "because it will afford us an opportunity to meet his arguments.

"He lays down new and additional conditions as a prerequisite to the granting of independence, contrary to the provisions of the Jones law.

"Now is the time for the Philippine mission to marshal all its forces in the belief of Philippine liberty."

Preacher Is "Somewhere East of Suez," They Say.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 18.—Some forty or so of Aimee McPherson's pilgrims arrived here today minus their shepherd, who, when last heard of, was somewhere east of the Suez, accompanied by her daughter and a pair of guides.

It seems that the Los Angeles evangelist and her daughter, Roberta, quit the tour they were conducting in Palestine in the middle of April and headed for Istanbul to write a series of orations. Mrs. McPherson was scheduled to rejoin the party at Oberammergau to attend the "Passion Play," but when the group arrived there it received a wire stating that Aimee had been detained in Istanbul, presumably by the illness of her daughter.

Since then no word has been received from the leader as to her whereabouts and the pilgrims have not the slightest inkling of her plans.

Inquiries at the pilgrims' hotel regarding Aimee at the time it was generally believed that she was en route to Paris were met with baffling and vague answers.

Nobody in the party, even the managers of the tour, could state whether Aimee was still in Istanbul or what her plans are except they are due to sail for London next month.

Some of the members of the flock are worried about Aimee and expressed the hope that her daughter was well by this time.

Evangelist Attacked.

A few of the pilgrims were openly sour while speaking of the trip. One woman who refused to allow her name to be used, but admitted that she was not a member of Aimee's church, made the following statement:

"I think Aimee is the biggest four-flusher in the world. She high hatted us during the whole trip and only mingled with the party to have her pictures taken mounted on a camel or something like that. Although many members of the party are wealthy, we were obliged to travel second class frequently and put up at inferior hotels while Aimee traveled like a queen and always stopped at the ritziest hotel in town. When we got to Palestine she simply deserted us."

Except for a few of the especially embittered pilgrims the majority are not annoyed at Aimee's "desertion"; they think it quite legitimate, since the evangelist has already been over the route and naturally desired to see something new.

HOPE FOR BILLS TO BOLSTER DRY LAWS BRIGHTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—With two out of five objectives won during the last week, the outlook for President Hoover's dry law enforcement program today appeared brighter than at any time since it was transmitted to congress last January.

Two weeks ago, apparently fearful that the entire program might fall by the wayside, the President sent an emphatic message to the two houses insisting upon speedy passage of five sets of law enforcement bills. These comprised legislation to transfer the prohibition unit to the department of justice, expand federal prisons, relieve court congestion, unify the border patrols, and tighten dry law machinery in the District of Columbia.

Last Big Prison Bill Passed.

The President's communication brought results. Last Wednesday the senate passed the house bill transferring the prohibition unit and early in the week the senate passed four of the five administration prison bills. On Friday it quietly adopted the last and most important prison bill, authorizing the construction of two new penitentiaries costing upwards of eight million dollars. One of these will be built in the northeastern states, and the other west of the Mississippi. They will correspond in size to Atlanta and Leavenworth.

What will happen to the remaining three portions of the law enforcement program is problematical. Although leaders in both houses have stated repeatedly that the only bill standing a chance for passage was the transfer measure, the President's message and the senate's response put a new light on the situation and now it seems altogether possible that some of the remaining bills may go through before congress adjourns.

"Juryless Trials" Opposed.

Knotty problems are presented in each of the remaining three proposals. As a means of handling the tremendous volume of prohibition cases jamming the courts, the Wickersham commission proposed that United States commissioners be allowed to try petty dry law violators, eliminating juries. The reaction against this "juryless trial" plan was so unfavorable that the house judiciary committee has refused to act on it. Substitute bills to provide more judges now are pending before the committee, and it is believed that some kind of a compromise may be worked out this week.

The house interstate commerce committee for months has been wrestling with the border patrol bill, which provides for unification of the immigration and customs forces under the coast guard with a view of shutting down on rum smuggling. Salary adjustments and personnel transfers have raised most of the obstacles to the plan.

And while the two house committees have struggled with the court and border bills, the senate District of Columbia committee has tried, unsuccessfully so far, to agree on a new dry law for the capital.

In brief, the status of each of the three remaining parts of the President's program is the same. They are all in committees where they started, and in order to reach the White House at this session it will be necessary for the committees to report them out very soon.

Iraq to Issue New Coins Based on British Money

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAGDAD, May 18.—A bill is being drafted by the government providing for a new coinage for Iraq. The present coin is the Indian rupee, which is issued on a silver basis. The proposal is for gold, silver, nickel, and bronze coins on a British pound sterling basis. The new coins are to be called dinars and dirhams.

AL CAPONE HOST TO SCHOOLMATES OF HIS SON, 11

Alphonse Capone put aside guns, booze, writs and injunctions Saturday to play host to 50 schoolmates of his 11 year old son at a swimming party on the Capone Palm Island estate, according to dispatches from Florida.

The children proposed the party and the gangster acquiesced on condition that each present the written permission of his parents. The lawns were decorated and fried chicken, cake, soda pop, balloons and noise makers were provided the youngsters, who spent the afternoon splashing in the pool and romping over the terraces, according to the dispatches.

FAMILY DOCTOR LEARNED THIS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

Dr. Caldwell loved people. His years of practice convinced him many were ruining their health by careless selection of laxatives. He determined to write a harmless prescription which would get at the cause of constipation, and correct it.

Today, the prescription he wrote in 1885 is the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness and lack of appetite or energy showed the bowels of men, women and children were sluggish. It proved successful in even the most obstinate cases; old folks liked it for it never gripes; children liked its pleasant taste. All drugstores today have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in bottles.

GEN. SUMMERALL TO INSPECT ILLINI R. O. T. C. BRIGADE

Thursday Is Military Day at State University.

Champaign, Ill., May 18.—[Special.]—Over 3,000 cadets, members of the University of Illinois reserve officers' training corps, will pass in review Thursday afternoon before Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States army, and his staff, as the feature of the annual military day exercises. Previous to the review, each student cadet will have been inspected personally by sixth corps area officers from Chicago.

Many commissions will be granted to cadets and honors conferred on various units and individuals for excellency in military work during the last year.

Official inspection of the brigade will start Wednesday at the regular drill periods of the six units and will continue Thursday morning. On Wednesday afternoon the visiting officers will pay a courtesy call on Dr. David Kinley, president of the university. That evening Col. Charles W. Weeks, commandant of the university brigade, and Mrs. Weeks, will entertain officers at a dinner at the Champaign County Country club.

On Thursday morning, Gen. Frank Parker of the Sixth corps area will arrive. He will accompany President Kinley to the local station at noon to meet Gen. Summerall. A military salute of 17 guns will be fired on Gen. Summerall's arrival.

Summerall to Award Trophies.

Presentation of trophies and awarding of commissions by Gen. Summerall will open the afternoon program. The presenting of the brigade to Severin P. Langhoff Jr., Peoria, Ill., who has been named student colonel for next year, will follow, after which the reinforced brigade will pass in review.

Among awards to be made during the day will be the presentation of the university gold medal to S. Fred Cummings Jr. of Mazon, Ill., and the Gazleton medal to John H. Kott, 1954 Summerdale avenue, Chicago. The university gold medal is awarded annually to a sophomore and the Hazelton medal to a freshman on the basis of excellence in military work.

Eighteen Cadets to Be Honored.

Eighteen cadets will be honored for outstanding military work by having their names engraved on the women's relief corps plaque to be placed in the armory. The students whose names will appear on the plaque are: R. W. Farrell, 11348 Rosedale avenue; W. A. Heinze, 412 North Winchester avenue; R. C. Hodgman, 11049 Homewood avenue; S. K. Rose, Milwaukee, Wis.; E. R. Schwendemann, Greenville, Ill., and S. G. Weinberg, Galesburg, Ill.

INQUEST TODAY ON BANDIT WHOSE GUN FAILED HIM

Sayad Warda, a Syrian barber, of 2653 Newcastle street will tell a coroner's jury today that he was saved from death at the hands of a holdup man because of a rusty revolver and the timely arrival of Detective Richard Hoffman of the Chicago avenue police station. The robber was Duna St. Pierre, formerly of 2713 North Oak Park avenue, but more recently sleeping in poolroms. He approached Warda near his home and drew a revolver. Warda attempted to wrest it away from him. A tussle ensued, during which Hoffman arrived.

St. Pierre pulled the trigger of the gun twice, Warda said, when Hoffman tried to separate the two. It failed to explode. Warda rolled away and St. Pierre again started to pull the trigger. As he did Hoffman fired killing St. Pierre. At the bureau of identification he was found to have a robbery record.

The world's largest oil heating organization is back of Petropolis. One of its three manufacturing plants is located right here in Chicago to install, service and guarantee the burner recommended for your heating plant.

This nation-wide organization has been identified with oil heating for 27 years. Since 1915 it has served as a public service enterprise, providing 100% guaranteed oil heat with its own oil delivered in its own fleets of trucks to its own makes of oil burners. In New York City, for instance, it supplies half of all the fuel oil used for heating large buildings.

You may have the same equipment in your home that made the Petroleum Heat & Power Company the greatest oil heating organization in the world. The kind of oil heat that makes Petropolis possible.

It is so simple to get all the facts. Just phone us or the nearest sales agent. There is no obligation except to your own family.

The Secret of Oil Heating Success

If any company knows what oil heat is and how to provide it economically, it should be the Petroleum Heat & Power Company. For 27 years it has specialized in oil heating exclusively. In merging with the great American Nokol Company, it brought together the two pioneer companies in industrial and domestic oil heating. With more than 70,000 installations from coast to coast, it has demonstrated the need for a complete line of oil burners. Engineers agree that different boilers require different types and sizes of oil burners for maximum quietness, economy, care-free operation and widest choice of oil fuels. The Petroleum Heat & Power Company offers a complete line utilizing every recognized principle of oil combustion. These burners are serving in every type of building from the 52-story Metropolitan Life Insurance Building in New York City, in the palatial homes of thousands of prominent people, down to the more modest residences to be found on every street.

HALE REQUESTS INTERPRETATION OF NAVAL PACT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Clarification of several sections of the London naval agreement by the state department or by members of the London naval delegation will be sought by Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] of the senate naval affairs committee. It was learned today on the eve of the resumption of the senate's inquiry into the provisions of the pact.

Conflicting testimony given before the foreign relations and the senate naval affairs committee by naval experts and by the American delegates has prompted Chairman Hale to take steps to see that the correct interpretations of article 21, the so-called escape clause, is placed into the record of his committee's hearings on the treaty.

Two Adversely Criticized.

This clause, as well as article 19, which, according to naval experts, would permit Great Britain to begin building 8 inch gun replacements for 6 inch gun cruisers in 1934, are the two sections which have inspired the most adverse comment on the part of senators opposed to ratification of the treaty.

The escape clause permits any one of the three nations signatory to the pact to build warship tonnage in excess of the tonnage limits set for each category if any one of them feels its security is endangered through naval building by any nontreaty power. This section, according to testimony before the senate committee, could be used by Great Britain to build additional 6 inch gun cruisers above the 339,000 tons she is allowed by the pact, in event British statesmen felt her interests were adversely affected by French building.

Building Clause at Issue.

Section 21 permits the other signatories, in event one power exceeds its tonnage limits, to build up a corresponding amount of tonnage in the same category. Some witnesses before the senate naval affairs committee have stated that in case Great Britain builds 6 inch gun cruisers under the escape clause, the United States would have to build ships mounting the same size guns.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams took the position before this committee that the United States would be able to build 8 inch gun ships under certain circumstances. Senator Hale desires to have this point cleared up before debate begins in the senate. His contention is that the United States should be allowed to build the type of cruisers it pleases in the tonnage it uses to match British building under article 21.

Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, chairman of the executive committee of the navy general board, will appear before the foreign relations committee tomorrow. Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, veteran naval expert and technical adviser, will go before the naval committee. Both are on record as opposed to the treaty.

GIRL FLYER IN SINGAPORE ON AUSTRALIA HOP

SINGAPORE, Straits Settlement, May 18.—(AP)—Miss Amy Johnson, 23 year old British aviatrix, made a perfect landing at the Singapore air base today, talked for a few minutes to those who met her there, and then went away for a square meal of British cooking. The officers here entertained her at their mess hall.

Landing after a 480 mile trip from Singapore, on the east coast of the Malay peninsula, she waved cheerfully to the crowd about her and announced that mishaps during the latter part of her flight had made it impossible now for her to beat Bert Hinkler's 15 day record from England to Australia, but that she would go on just the same.

"I hope to reach Australia in two and a half days' time," she said, "but if I have a head wind it may take three or three and one-half days." She will take off at dawn Monday for Surabaya, Java, in continuation of her flight.

OUR MEN OF SUBSTANCE LEARN A LESSON.

The legislature of Illinois was last reapportioned in 1901. The constitution of the state was violated in the interest of downstate officeholders after the census of 1910. During the first ten or a dozen years of constitution-flouting at the expense of Chicago's representation many of the more substantial citizens of Chicago made no protest. As conservatives they could look without alarm upon control of the state and its treasury by the rural elements with their traditional conservatism, particularly as many of the men of substance in Chicago recognized a kinship of blood with the downstaters and feared to trust a larger share of the control of the state to the immigrant populations of Chicago.

All that is now of the past. The most conservative voices in Chicago now are insistent in demanding constitutional government and reapportionment which is the essence of it. The change came about after Len Small had shown how an unscrupulous downstate governor, with the support of downstate legislators, can lay tribute upon a section of the state inadequately represented in the legislature. Small discovered that Chicago could be made to pay for costly local improvements downstate. Further, he proved that he could maintain his political control by threatening recalcitrant downstate communities with the withdrawal of Chicago's money if they failed to support his policies. The taxes collected in Chicago were being used to fasten incompetent government upon the state. It is no wonder that even conservatives in Chicago have learned to look upon the failure to reapportion with genuine apprehension.

Chicago must pay the costs of its own government, including the heavy bills for sewage treatment plants ordered by the Supreme court. Chicago now pays a disproportionate share of the expenses of the state government and is threatened, in addition, with an even larger share of the costs of local government outside Cook county. Some property in Chicago is now taxed to the point of confiscation, and until there is a reapportionment the injustice will not be remedied. In all probability it will be accentuated.

THE BILLBOARD PEST.

One billion dollars is laid upon the highways of the United States each year, but today these public properties are overrun with the pest of billboards. Billboards infest the roads that are more beautiful and more traveled. They are unerring parasites on the regions where people most wish to go. They reduce the values of the roads and of the communities near by to a point where many persons go to Europe for their traveling in order to avoid the impressions that the billboards give. Europe is civilized and shrewd: there are few billboards there.

At the suggestion of the United States bureau of public roads a survey has been made in North Carolina of these roadside parasites and destroyers. As the tourist business is the fourth industry in that state, a cleanup of billboards and other eyesores on the roadsides is important in many ways. The so-called "reform" in billboards by the billboard industry itself has come to nothing but specious promises and a little whitewash to allay public indignation. Clearly the public must itself make the cleanup, and this North Carolina has discovered. Like most states, the skyland of the old south is well plastered with outdoor signs.

At forty miles an hour the tourist on the road from Durham to Raleigh passes a billboard every six seconds on the average. On the road from Beaufort to Asheville, 383 miles, he passes a billboard every 13½ seconds. The countless snipe signs (small posters on trees and fences), if included, would more than double the figure. On route 50, cross-state from Virginia to South Carolina, are 1,524 billboards, an average of one every 10½ seconds. The beautiful approaches to Asheville, "land of the sky," are smothered by huge flocks of billboards. And so it goes.

Oregon, Washington, Georgia, South Carolina, parts of New York state have asked for surveys of these road pests. Texas, California, Ohio, and other states already have taken partial measures for their control. The American Nature association at 1214 16th street, Washington, D. C., and the National Council for the Protection of Roadside Beauty at 119 East 19th street, New York, made the survey in North Carolina. The problem is the same in all states of the Union.

The federal government will match dollar for dollar all money spent by the state in beautifying the roads. Tree planting, planting grass and vines upon the cuts and shoulders, clearing up unsightly dumps, shacks, and other nuisances to eye or nose are property a part of road improvement plans, and are so considered. In such a program the first necessity is to get rid of billboards. One good reason why hundreds of thousands of Americans fail to see America first is the billboard. They prefer Europe, where nature has a chance.

AMERICA'S EIGHT INCH GUNS.

At Santiago 8 inch guns did the work. The Iowa, Oregon and Indiana landed 12 eight inch shells on Spanish ships out of a total for the squadron of 219 rounds fired. Fifteen 5 inch, 12 four inch and 77 six pounder hits were made out of 6,688 rounds fired. Of 271 rounds fired only three 6 inch hits were made. Of 86 rounds only two 12 or 13 inch hits were made. The 8 inch guns won the victory, such as it was.

At Manila the 8 inch gun also had a leading part, although the hit percentage is less ascertainable. In rounds fired from 8 inch, 6 inch, 5 inch and 6 pounder guns the ratio is about 1:5:5:15, with the eight inch guns doing probably the most damage. At Coronel the German 8 inch guns outclassed the diverse light and heavy guns of the British fleet. And so it goes: The British tendency has been towards 6 inch guns for secondary batteries. The Americans and Germans have put more trust in 8 inch, dropping thence to five or four inch guns for rapid fire.

Mr. Stimson's British plan for the American navy includes the British emphasis on 6 inch guns. Though historically the American navy from the battle of Lake Erie to the great war has found heavier metal more effective, the change in emphasis to 6 inch guns soon will take place. It will take place if Mr. Stimson's British plan for the U. S. navy becomes effective.

MEXICAN IMMIGRATION.

The senate has passed a bill to restrict Mexican immigration. Under its terms the number of immigrants would be reduced from 58,000 a year to less than 2,000. This end is accomplished by including Mexicans within the national origins system of restriction from which they are now exempted. Other Latin American nationals and Canadians remain on the present basis. No limits are placed upon their right to come to this country.

There can be no quarrel with the end served by the senate bill. Some objections have been raised to the form in which it is cast on the theory that it will offend Mexican pride. No avoidable affront should be given, but it would be a grave mistake to compromise the objects to be achieved in order to avoid the appearance of unfriendliness. Certainly it should be no affront to Mexicans to place them on a parity in our law with Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Italians, Poles and Scandinavians, and that is all that this bill does.

Other Latin Americans are placed on a different footing because they do not immigrate to this country in sufficient numbers to justify any form of restriction. Canadians are excepted because in racial origins and political and social habits the Canadian is fully prepared for American citizenship. The same cannot be said for the Mexican. The immigration of thousands of Mexican peasants to this country presents serious racial and economic problems for which no solutions are known. There are differences of blood, of tradition and of living standards between our peoples which are more profound, probably, than those separating the American people from the Chinese. Particularly at a time of widespread unemployment in this country the supply of cheap labor should be held to a minimum.

MOBILIZE WEST POINT.

West Point is where the Hudson river turns in a giant coil among the hills. The cramped and rocky place once was an eagle's nest of size sufficient for the training of young army men. Today the roads have come and with them trippers from New York. Bridges and buildings encroach upon the silent woods, and the military scope of the academy in a measure is curtailed. Other colleges have moved when urban life was flooding over them. Columbia moved. Chicago moved. Pennsylvania has planned to move. West Point might move to Sparta, Wis. Room is there for West Points by the dozen.

But West Point is firmly an American tradition within the rocky bight and twist of the Hudson river. Americans would not wish to move it. Reservations should be made adjoining to give it woods area and reach, so that young officers may learn to know at least a blazed trail from a hand ax. If West Point needs more land, land it should have.

But West Point should be mobilized as well. Modern armies move, and a military school in touch with various regions of the continent would gain in geographic strategy. Summers on wheels or among the diverse camps of many states would give to West Point education the vital flexibility much needed. A partly mobilized West Point would have no small advantage for the nation.

Editorial of the Day

A MISSISSIPPI "RECORD."

[New Orleans Times-Picayune.]

Mississippi's present state administration will be long and unpleasantly remembered—and not solely by reason of the wrangles which have deadlocked the state legislature. Five state officers have resigned under fire—the latest being Railroad Commissioner Alexander, who terminated his official service last Thursday under notice of impeachment proceedings in preparation. One of the five was impeached by the house and quit on the eve of his trial before the senate. A sixth, Chairman Franklin of the state tax commission, is under impeachment but has elected to stand trial.

No other state, we believe, can match this Mississippi record and Mississippians doubtless are hoping that there will never be an attempt to duplicate it in their own commonwealth. Until recently, charges of impeachable misconduct on the part of state officials have been few and far between in that state since its redemption from carpet bag misrule, despite the bitterness of its political campaigns. At the beginning of the investigations that produced this record series of resignations many good citizens discounted the rumors of misdoing in high places. Ardent factional partisans remain unconvinced even now, we suspect. But the resignations under fire, and the disclosures of such transactions as the payment of $80,000 in secret settlement of an anti-trust proceeding—the settlement involving surrender of the documentary evidence upon which the state relied—convince most open-minded observers that existing conditions in Mississippi are far from wholesome and the legislative investigations justified.

Newspapers here and there over the neighbor commonwealth are demanding a thorough house cleaning at the next state election. That will necessitate correction of the factionalism which has cursed Mississippi politics for many years. The disease is of such long standing that the cure is not going to be easy and may take much longer than its advocates expect.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

and, as one who has moved and moved into new homes, we feel like giving him a little advice. One thing you want to do right away, Cal, is to get the locks on the doors all changed. We neglected that precaution once, and the second or third night we were in the new home we were awakened by sounds of revelry in the parlor. Armed with an Indian club we advanced on the burglars only to find that the man who had lived in the house several years back had forgotten, under the influence of many cocktails, that things had changed and had returned with many roistering companions and was giving a somewhat boisterous party. He and his friends seized us on the charge of burglarizing his premises and sent for the police. Much furniture was broken and we got several socks on the beezer before everything was explained satisfactorily to all. Yes, Cal, change the locks.

Your new house is said to have very highly polished varnished floors; look out for those floors, Cal. When you come breezing home after midnight there's nothing quite so deadly as highly polished varnished floors. You're quite liable to forget about them until you find yourself skating madly around on your spine and wind up in a corner with the draperies firmly clenched in your hands and a lot of pewter, books, and old furniture piled all over you. Some people may advise you to wear ice creepers and carry an alpenstock until you get used to the smooth floors, but that's no good; it dents the floor all up. No, the thing to do is to practice an hour or so a day walking around on the floors. Walk on the balls of your feet and practice a sort of catlike tread—just like a tiger about to pounce on a horn-rimmed and plus foured British naturalist who is sitting in the shade examining a butterfly he has just caught in his net.

There's lots more things about a new house, Cal, that'll come up. There's the people who won't find out for years that the place has changed hands and who will call up at all hours of the day and night and say this is Myrtle, or Jim, or the bunch, or something like that. And there's the neighbors. Neighbors always resent new people coming into a house, and there's a little period of doubt, suspicion, and mistrust you'll have to stand for, but it won't last long. And don't get too attached to the new place, Cal. No matter how much you may come to like it you may want to move again along in the spring of 1933.

Who knows?

But will the rose have thorns?
No doubt!
Have you seen any rose

What will the future bring?

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

HA! BLUE MONDAY again, Little Pollyanna. About the only thing you can get excitement out of this week is the primary in Pennsylvania tomorrow when old Joe Grundy and Puddler Jim Davis have it out. Anyhow, Mr. Davis can't lose, for if he doesn't get nominated for senator he'll still be secretary of labor. Pretty soft for Jim the Puddler. It always is.

AND NOW the manufacturers declare they are starting a campaign to make us "spaghetti conscious." That settles this sort of thing with us. We have meekly attempted to become "motor minded" and "air minded" and "civic conscious" and never let out a moan, but if we've got to get "spaghetti conscious" we hereby walk out on the whole show.

GOSH! The vote taken by the Literary Digest on the 18th amendment doesn't go into effect after all. Anyhow, the Democrats are planning to take the thing up at the regular November election. And here we thought the Lit Dig's poll settled it, and we were all set to—oh, well, please pass the buttermilk.

THE SCARITY OF PARITY.

(As Tom Hood Might Have Written It.)

One more peace treaty
Hopelessly lost,
Deaf to entreaty,
It's been double crossed.

Touch it not scornfully,
It lies there so mournfully,
Twisted and broken;
Still comes the bitter woe,
That now we know
It was just hokum.

Oh it was pitiful,
In London city full
Friends it had none;
Alas! for the rarity,
Of naval parity,
Under the sun.

Lagniappe.

IT'S A GOOD THING they didn't have the Derby in Chicago Saturday. The horses would have frozen to death before they got to the last quarter. If Winter keeps on hanging around the weather man ought to have him arrested.

THIS KIDNAPING THING gets worse and worse. Anyhow, in these dull days and on blue Monday we don't mind so much. Yessir, you've guessed it. Somebody's kidnaped our last line for this morning and is holding the darned thing for ransom.

CHILDREN'S SPRING CLOTHES.

DRESSING children during the variable weather of spring and autumn presents considerable difficulties. They have more skin surface per pound of weight than have adults, and, in consequence, the effects of variation in atmospheric temperature are exaggerated. They eat more per pound of weight, and this necessitates greater heat radiation. They work harder when they play than a ditch digger does in his day's work. And during their long hours of repose they make but little heat.

These variables are best taken care of by changing the weight and texture of outer garments. On cold, windy days the outer garment should be of a close weave, throughout part of its thickness anyhow. The best arrangement is that of a coat made of sheepskin, with the hide side out. But one with the fur side out is practically as good. Two layered fabrics with one layer windproof are good. For cold days with not much wind more open weaves are better. For warmer days the fabrics should be lighter in weight, more open in weave, and the proportion of cotton to wool should be greater.

Some people insist that babies should wear a flannel or woolen abdominal binder on the theory that the abdomen is the region in which heat loss occurs most rapidly and that the organs contained therein are most harmed by chilling. An abdominal binder can well be worn by babies during the changeable and frequently chilly weather of midspring. On very disagreeable days even older children, say up to 5 years of age, can wear such a binder or jacket with advantage.

Winter woolens and flannels should be discarded in rather an early stage as warm weather approaches, warmth and protection being supplied by appropriate outer garments. Children go into the spring hungry for the growth principle of sunshine. Their stock of vitamins A and D are low. It is well that the color and texture of their clothing should be designed to admit sunlight and sun heat rather than to protect against it.

DANGER IS NOT GREAT.

Worried Mother writes: My son is going with a girl whose parents are both deaf and dumb. She and her brothers are normal. Would her children be deaf and dumb?

REPLY.

The danger is not great. If all the children of this deaf and dumb couple speak and hear, the probability is that they acquired their disability and therefore could not transmit it. If all the children of this deaf and dumb couple escaped the infirmity the chances are excellent that the children of the children marrying normal mates will also escape.

DIET FOR ACID SYSTEM.

Mrs. K. A. writes: Have an acid system and would like to know a diet for same.

REPLY.

If you are right, live largely on milk, bananas, beans, potatoes, and other vegetables and fruits.

GOOD FOR MOST PERSONS.

J. A. writes: Are two raw eggs every morning healthful?

REPLY.

For most people they are wholesome.

IT IS HABIT FORMING.

H. W. F. writes: 1. I have been taking cascara for the last three years. If I skip one night I am constipated next day. Is it injurious?

2. How can I break myself of the habit?

3. Does it affect the teeth?

REPLY.

1. Not beyond the tendency to habit formation.

2. By eating lactose, sour milk, molasses, onions, other vegetables and fruits, bran, and whole grain cereals and breads.

3. No.

LEMON JUICE AT NIGHT.

C. C. G. writes: Please tell me if drinking a glass of lemon juice every night before retiring is harmful in any way?

REPLY.

No. Dilute it, add a little sugar, and call it lemonade.

EATING STEWED FIGS.

R. T. C. writes:

1. Is there any objection to eating stewed figs daily the year round? They seem to be very beneficial to me?

2. Have they much food value?

REPLY:

1. None.
2. Yes.

BALL PLAYING IN STREET PROHIBITED.

Chicago, May 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Since the advent of the warm weather a gang of youngsters who persist in playing ball in the street in front of my house broke two windows after being asked to play elsewhere. Calling up the police department, was told they would send a man over, but nothing happened. On Sundays and evenings there is a barrage of flying baseballs endangering the safety of mothers and children who must use the street crossing. What is to be done in this matter? F. T. H.

Such playing is prohibited by city ordinance and the police should act. You should phone them and tell them that if it is necessary you will swear out a warrant.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BALL PLAYING IN STREET WILL STOP.

Chicago, May 12.—[Friend of the People.]—Boys for blocks around gather in front of our house every night yelling and running over lawns during their ball playing. Our younger children can't sleep and a quiet, restful evening is unknown. They have broken house and car windows, the culprits always running away, the owner paying damages. There is plenty of prairie space near by for them to play on. What can be done about this, please? There are many of us wanting to know.

J. W. B.

Following is report from Patrick J. Collins, commanding officer of the 16th district, showing attention given to the matter: Patrolman Edward J. Carey, Ford No. 72, of this command, called on the complainant and after a short interview left her with a favorable attitude toward the police department and its work toward the suppression of boys playing ball on the streets. Spoke to several of the boys in the neighborhood and have received a promise from them that they would discontinue the practice.

Will give this location our strictest attention so as to prevent future complaints.

BROKER REQUIRES LICENSE.

Hammond, Ind., May 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a license covering the selling and trading of real estate by mail for principals, locally, and in other states? J. K.

If you are closing contracts in Illinois you would need a broker's license, for which you should write to the department of education and registration at Springfield, Ill.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 19, 1865.

THE NEWS.—Our dispatches contain reports, partially broken off by a severe storm in the east, of the evidence yesterday in the trial of the assassins. The Rev. W. H. Ryder of Chicago was among the witnesses called and testified as to his finding of the W. J. Oldham letter in Richmond. The text of the letter is given in full, and relates, as our readers are aware, to the plan for destroying federal shipping and northern cities. A letter in cipher, found in Jeff Davis' house at Richmond, proves his complicity in the assassination plot beyond doubt. It shows that he was in correspondence with the Canadian rebels on this very topic, and expressed himself favorable to it.

SPRINGFIELD.—By official correspondence with Gov. Andrew, Gov. Oglesby has been informed that just before the capture of Richmond, and when all was confusion in the city, a prisoner of war by the name of John F. Locke, a private in a Massachusetts regiment, went into the office of the Libby prison, seized some Union flags that were hanging there as trophies, and flung the Stars and Stripes to the breeze from a window of the third story of the building as the rebels were leaving the city in the street below. Gov. Andrew writes that the flag used belongs to some Illinois regiment and will be forwarded here. Thus an Illinois flag was the first to wave in Richmond.

WASHINGTON.—Nearly all of Gen. Sherman's troops are moving into camp on the other side of the Potomac.

CHICAGO.—Rosalie Dehez and Mr. Florenz Ziegfeld, both of Chicago, were married on May 17 by the Rev. Mr. Foles.

CHICAGO.—The plans and specifications for the tunnel under the river at Washington street are nearly completed and will be given to the contractors soon. It is planned to start the project during the present season.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY.

LONDON.—Mafeking, after withstanding a siege of 216 days, the fourth longest in history, has been relieved. This report has been given out officially at Pretoria. From the message it appears that the relieving column attacked the different Boer laagers and forts surrounding the town and compelled Commandant Snyman's burghers to quit the neighborhood. Col. R. S. Baden-Powell is the man of the hour, and one of the most striking demonstrations of the evening of wild celebration in London was staged in front of his home at Knightsbridge, where the police finally had to be called to disperse the crowds. Baden-Powell's small garrison at Mafeking had fought and lived for weeks on a starvation diet.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—At a meeting of 100 heads of labor unions it was resolved to recommend to the controlling central bodies that a sympathetic strike be inaugurated today of all the labor unions in St. Louis to aid the street car strikers. The action came after a day of violence and rioting in which six men were shot. All negotiations between the strikers and the St. Louis Transit company have been terminated for the present at least.

CHICAGO.—Judge Murray F. Tuley has been decided upon by the Democratic managers of Chicago as their candidate for the nomination for governor. If he will accept he will receive the solid vote of Cook county in the Springfield state convention. The Democrats are confident that with Tuley at the head of their ticket they can carry Cook county against Richard Yates, the Republican nominee.

WILMINGTON, Mass.—Mrs. Frances B. Hiller, most famous of eccentrics, died today. She will be buried in a $50,000 casket, constructed two years ago under her personal supervision, and will be laid to rest in the $500,000 mausoleum built by herself and her first husband. After his death she startled the community by marrying her coachman, Peter Surettle, who for a large money consideration agreed to change his name to Hiller.

MAY 19, 1920.

CHICAGO.—The city's fuel supply has dwindled to such an extent that industry is menaced. Freight congestion and car shortage have forced the available supply of coal to the lowest mark in recent history, according to coal dealers. Coal yards are bare and industrial bins are practically empty. Hundreds of small factories are operating on a freight yard to firebox basis. Some plants have been forced to shut down for a few hours at a time to await the next truckload of fuel. Dealers charge the railroads with hoarding coal for their own use along the rights of way. Railroads deny this and declare that the cars are being held up in the east, mainly because of a lack of motive power.

TAXES IN COOK COUNTY.

En Route, May 15.—If Mr. Conrad Pinkstaff of Flat Rock, Ill., thinks he is being gypped by a lopsided tax system, he should own some property in Cook county.

I have just received my tax bill, amounting to $144.54, on a Stuck-Oh bungalow about the size of a box car on two narrow lots on which you could not swing a cat. On the edge of the corn fields and cow pastures, in a moth-eaten section of a run-down-at-the-heel subdivision, far, far from any point served by economical transportation, this property stands as a shining monument to bonehead appraising.

The market value today (not the reassessment value) of this vast estate is about $3,500, which means that I am penalized almost 4½ per cent for improving a piece of Cook county the size of a parking space for a couple of motorcycles. If any one in Flat Rock, Ill., can tie that, I would like to hear about it.

DICK MCNEIL,
Maywood, Ill.

TAXES ELSEWHERE.

Hines, Ill., May 16.—Please grant me space to make a reply to Conrad Pinkstaff of Flat Rock, Ill. Having been born in Crawford county, Illinois, and knowing the Pinkstaff family to be a family of honesty and integrity, I respect Mr. Pinkstaff for his forwardness in speaking his own mind. But I disagree with him as to good old Illinois being better off without Chicago.

For instance if he can remember back a few years, he can tell us when it took four horses to pull a wagon from Flat Rock to Robinson, the county seat. The hard roads we have now connecting him with the outside world are paid for by license of automobiles and gas tax. Now, Mr. Pinkstaff, if Chicago and Cook county had their license and gas tax money and dear old Crawford county had to depend on their own incomes from this source, how many miles of hard roads would you have? And as to paying taxes, are you sure every one in the county gives his properties in to the assessor at their present worth or do they still pay tax on the valuation of the old clay land of Crawford county of twenty-five years ago before the fortunate ones were blessed with the discovery of oil on their lands?

Please don't interpret this as a knock to your community, as it is my home, too, but let's all be fair and nail some boards over our windows before we throw stones.

I am now a patient in the Veterans hospital trying to get over the effects of the war, and if every one would be fair with the assessors and pay their just taxes probably the Vets would not have to die to get necessary aid from the government. Be fair and remember Chicago is full of human beings.

PAT GARRETT.

IMPROVING THE WEST SIDE.

Chicago, May 13.—Another highway proposal for our west side is under consideration. The recently proposed elevated highway issue was defeated when submitted to a vote of the people in this district. Why not then place before the people, who will have to share in the cost of this necessary improvement, something which would be a real improvement to the territory through which it passes?

This could be accomplished by the condemnation of property and the razing of the present buildings between Warren avenue and Washington boulevard from Union park to Garfield park, turning this over to the park commissioners for a beautiful boulevard with wide drives and with suitable crossovers at the principal intersections, giving traffic an uninterrupted and artistically parked drive of over two miles.

Under this plan there would be no question as to the enhancement of the adjacent or abutting property and the result would be a monumental improvement to a very neglected community and an important link to our present park systems. FREDERICK A. NELSON.

A MASTERPIECE OF IGNORANCE.

Chicago, May 15.—The editorial in last Sunday's TRIBUNE criticising Boston's war on improper literature was a masterpiece of ignorance and I want to congratulate the authorities of Boston for their good sense and courage, as the products of the authors named are nothing but the rottenest of sex rot. As for Chicago and its environs, there is never a real protest against anything, no matter how bad. The middle western submissive, cigaret sucking scissorbill is mentally and morally dead. J. M.

A WISCONSIN RIVER CANAL.

Chicago, May 9.—Because Chicago reversed the course of Chicago river and takes water from the lake for drinking and cleaning purposes it has trouble with its neighbors, and seven states bordering on the great lakes started a lawsuit against Chicago to restrain its use of water. Chicago lost in the Supreme court and it will cost her about $235,000,000 for sewage treatment plants in addition to what already has been spent. To this has to be added a considerable amount for running of the plants.

But Chicago will need water and the expenses will be unbearable as it continues to double up in population. It will also need water for the canal to the Mississippi and New Orleans and establish motor boat transportation on its north branch canal, which should be done. The Chicago river is now only a mud stream and clean water is needed badly.

Why not connect Wisconsin river with Lake Michigan by a canal from its bend at Portage, Wis., to Milwaukee? It is about 70 miles. Wisconsin river is higher than Lake Michigan and such a canal will bring to Lake Michigan as much water as the Chicago river takes out of it. Chicago could get all the water it needs, and the other states bordering on the great lakes could also be satisfied in that respect if they are not that already. It would at the same time canalize the southern part of Wisconsin. Wisconsin could get a barge canal from Milwaukee to the Mississippi river and as far as Minneapolis and New Orleans. This canal could be connected with other Wisconsin cities and there would be valuable factory sites along the canal.

Such a canal would also to a great extent be able to relieve floods in the states adjoining the Mississippi farther south, as the Wisconsin river is a considerable river. It could be so regulated that in time of flood all the water could be sent to Lake Michigan. Construction of such a canal would furnish work for hundreds of thousands of people who need work badly in these critical times. Such a canal should be dug by the federal government, as it is an interstate undertaking. Our President is a great engineer and such an undertaking is a task for a great engineer. Chicago should of course be assessed, as she would have great advantage of it. I can't give any estimate of the cost of such a canal, but it certainly would be considerably less than Chicago has to pay for the completion of its sewage treatment plants, $235,000,000.

There is no reason why Chicago and Wisconsin should be on hostile terms. Chicago is Wisconsin's best customer and everybody familiar with Wisconsin admires this brilliant state and its intelligent people. C. A. SAHLBERG,
Formerly Senior Land Appraiser, U. S. Interstate Commerce Commission.

ROAD WORK FOR CONVICTS.

Chicago, May 14.—The riots in the overcrowded penal institutions in America are becoming very serious. Men crowded into such small quarters, lacking the necessary fresh air and sunshine, will become desperate. Men with healthy bodies and clear minds are easier to reform than those with broken down health, who see nothing in life for them but to be crowded and kept caged like animals. Fresh air and sunshine and road work would do more to reclaim these men than putting them in overcrowded cells.

EDWARD J. HARRIS.

AN ANALOGY.

Evanston, Ill., May 15.—Let us suppose, and grant, for the sake of argument, that birth control is in direct conflict with nature. Is not fermentation a purely natural act? Then why, may I be so daring as to inquire, frown upon, and destroy, those liquors whose alcoholic content is a gift and product of nature? JACK RAMEY.

FAIR PLAY.

Chicago, May 16.—In Friday's "Voice of the People" O. M. M. says she wears the new styles because she is forced to. Fine. For many years we have been forced to wear skirts above our knees simply because it was impossible to buy a dress that complied with common decency. I think by this time we are all pretty tired of seeing several inches above rolled socks. And I'm not an old maid, either. A READER.

WE KNOW A LOT.

Chicago, May 16.—Why go back to bustles and hoop skirts? This is 1930, the sport model era. Who wants to look like a Covered Wagon. A. W.

BUILDERS REPORT STEADY ADVANCE IN CONSTRUCTION

Contracts for Two Weeks Total $4,550,000.

Builders throughout the nation report that construction is slowly and steadily returning to an active and normal condition, E. M. Craig, the executive secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, announced last night.

Chicago building conditions are fair, said Mr. Craig, who announced that from May 1 to 15 there has been $11,500,000 in contemplated construction listed, while the building contracts awarded for the same two weeks amounted to $4,550,000. Mr. Craig said his survey includes only projects valued at $100,000 and more, as follows:

CONTEMPLATED CONSTRUCTION.

Hospital—Fairbanks court and Lake Shore drive, $5,000,000.

School—Fullerton and Linder avenues, $1,500,000.

Addition—Soldiers' field, Grant park, $750,000.

School—Newport and Central avenues, $600,000.

School—83d street and Champlain avenue, $500,000.

Store and office building—Devon and Clark street, $275,000.

Church—Park and Melvina street, $250,000.

Church addition—1500 North Mason avenue, $250,000.

Store building—95th place and Longwood drive, $150,000.

CONTRACTS AWARDED.

Apartment building—1260 Astor place, $1,500,000.

Bank—3201 North Ashland avenue, $200,000.

Film exchange—1306 South Michigan avenue, $150,000.

Apartment building—1714 North Natches street, $100,000.

The American Contractor says: "Steel awards and fresh inquiries in the Chicago markets were measurably lower than a week ago, but the general impression is that there will be no further recession, that the bottom has been reached. The amount of building in prospect is expected to materialize in the near future.

"The number of contracts showed a brighter prospect for the future. Residential building was low in the present figures for the section, amounting to $3,329,400. The amount that went for public utility works was as high as $4,342,800."

Citizens Hunt Poisoner After 100 Dogs Are Killed

Anaconda, Mont., May 18.—(AP)—More than 100 dogs died here over the week-end of poisoning and a vigilance committee headed by Dr. Roy Brandt has posted a $250 reward in an effort to apprehend the person who scattered poisoned meat, candy, cookies, and doughnuts about the city. Some of the dogs killed were of considerable value.

FINDS CHILDREN HAVE BUT VAGUE GRASP ON BIBLE

New Testament Easier to Understand.

School children understand passages in the Bible dealing with the life and teachings of Christ better than they grasp the Old Testament, and comprehend even more readily the Acts and Epistles. These conclusions were advanced yesterday by Milton George Geil of the school of education of Northwestern university.

Prof. Geil has just completed an investigation of the biblical comprehension of more than 20,000 pupils from the fifth through the twelfth grades. The pupils, who lived in seventy communities, represent nineteen states and forty-three denominations. In the tests sixty representative scripture selections were given with four marked meanings. The pupil marked the meaning which he believed to be correct.

More than one-half of the pupils selected alternatives admittedly advocating un-Christian ideals, in the opinion of Prof. Geil, such as having others do unto us as we do unto them, that whatever we do affects only ourselves, and that we reap as much as we sow. These interpretations do not augur well for the religious instruction which our youth has been receiving, he said.

The study showed that girls were superior to boys in biblical comprehension and that pupils enrolled in week day systems of religious instruction were of more understanding than others.

"It is clearly seen," he said, "that many pupils are still thinking in terms of God as a bookkeeper in which he keeps a record of all our deeds or else delegates the responsibility to us and expects us to give an account of our bookkeeping in the next life."

Many of the pupils took a literal meaning of the passage from Romans, "Each one shall give account of himself to God." Ten per cent believed that it means that God expects one to keep a record of all that one does and twenty per cent interpreted it to mean that one should tell God about all the bad things one does.

FINLAND WINKS AT DRY LAW AND KEEPS DRINKING

Rum Easy to Get; Prices Found Reasonable.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 18.—Prohibition in Finland did not result from the same evils which assisted the passage of the 18th amendment in America. Here the saloons were of a different type than those in America.

They were not organized and neither did the liquor interests ever attempt to control local politics. Liquor was not sold by affable bartenders, who forced a free drink on their customers when they were about to leave his place. And the small town resident in Finland never put a roll in his pocket to go to the city and blow it in and then go home and brag about it to his friends, who, in envy, told their wives, who told his wife, who in her turn complained to the clergyman, thus setting in motion the political power of the small town against the big city.

Drinking Frowned Upon.

Finland had none of these problems. Neither was there a large number of drunkards, who neglected their families to become a menace to society. Up to 1919, when the prohibition law came into effect, drinking was decreasing with every year and Finnish temperance workers claimed that Finland was the most temperate country in the civilized world.

Drinking was frowned upon by all classes of society and the morals of the country were high. Burglary was almost unknown and courts seldom had cases of theft on their dockets.

The prohibition movement in Finland developed out of the fact that the national consumption of alcoholic drinks was very low and that temperance organizations believed prohibition would do away with the occasional drunkenness among the working classes. The movement also gained strength because it developed into a popular nationalistic movement. Finland had an autonomous government under czarist Russia for a hundred years.

Dry Law Passed in 1907.

She wanted complete independence. Russia did not favor prohibition and so the Finns decided they had to have it. The prohibition law was first passed unanimously by the Finnish parliament Oct. 31, 1907, and the Russian government refused to ratify it. In a way it became a symbol of the Finns' desire for independence. After Czar Nicholas abdicated the Finns again presented the law to Kerensky, who signed it. Later, when the Finns had won their war of independence against Russia, the law came into force.

Before the war the Finns had local option and some counties voted dry. But these found their revenues decreased and neighboring counties who permitted the sale of alcohol profited at their expense.

In former days, when a Finnish farmer came to town he would return home with three or four quarts of booze. When this was consumed; and it did not take long, he went without alcohol until his next trip. The farmer seldom made more than six trips to the city in the course of a year. Few farmers made wine from the berries which grow in Finnish forests, and no one attempted to make moonshine. Even beer was not popular.

Drinking Habits Different.

The drinking habits of the Finns were also different from ours in America. Practically all of American drinking was done between meals, while in Finland it was with meals. Like the Scandinavians and Russians, the Finns drank their 40 per cent vodka with smorgasbrod, or fish and meats of all kinds with black bread.

In pre-war Finnish restaurants there were huge tables containing forty different kinds of smoked, salted, pickled, baked and boiled fish and an equal number of meats, ranging from slices of raw bacon to smoked reindeer flesh. There was a variety of salads and relishes. The Smorgasbrod table looked like a delicatessen store. On the table stood a small apparatus, something like an American water cooler, and from this the guests served themselves with icy glasses of vodka.

Vodka Is "Little Water."

Vodka is a Russian word meaning "little water." The Germans call it schnapps. The Scandinavian name for the same drink is aqua vite, or "water of life," and the word whisky is a Gallic contraction for the same phrase. Whisky is generally aged and most Americans drank it with a chaser. Vodka is rarely more than a month or two old, and is made of 40 per cent pure grain or potato alcohol mixed with distilled water.

The Finns now complain that the drinking habits of the country have changed with prohibition. Finnish restaurants still serve Smorgasbrod, but vodka is now charged extra and the usual drink is a beer glass half full. This single drink is said to be equal to five former drinks and three of them are enough to make a person tipsy. With the exception of a chain of coöperative restaurants, which do not allow drinking, a wide variety of drinks is offered by Finnish restaurants to their guests. The head waiters of five of the largest restaurants in Helsingfors state that an average of one-third of their guests order drinks with their meals.

Today a half a beer glass full of vodka in the three best hotels of Helsingfors costs 25 cents. A glass of better quality Swedish aqua vite costs 63 cents. Whisky and cognac cost 87 cents. A bottle of French wine costs between $3 and $4, and champagne between $12 and $14 per bottle.

Drinkers Go Unmolested.

Finnish authorities view the violation of the prohibition law with equanimity. There has been no attempt to padlock any of the larger restaurants for violations during the last three years. Drinkers are not molested unless they appear drunk on the streets, when they are arrested and marched to the station, where they are locked in the bull pen, a bare cell with a straw covered floor, to be released sober in the morning and called into court a few days later and fined.

The market for smuggled booze in Finland is so large that no group of smugglers or bootleggers has ever tried to obtain a monopoly. Gangs and gang warfare are unknown. The illegal liquor traffic is operated in an orderly fashion and both smugglers and bootleggers have mutual aid societies to which they contribute a percentage of their profits and which compensate them for losses due to confiscation and which pay wages of employes who are caught and sentenced to prison.

Neither the police nor custom officials have any records of any fight between groups of rum runners which resulted in a murder. Hi-jacking as a profession is unknown.

A number of Americans whom I met here inform me that they do not know of a single city in America as wet as Helsingfors. One hundred and fifty different kinds of alcoholic drinks are on sale at all drug stores in Finland. If you know the druggist your supply is unlimited. Otherwise physicians supply prescriptions for $1.25.

The majority of Finns with whom a traveler comes in contact offer you from six to ten telephone numbers of bootleggers, who deliver your order within 15 minutes. Delivered at home a bad grade of whisky costs $3 a quart and good English whisky costs $4. French cognac can be had for $3, and good French wines for $1.50 to $2 a quart. Champagne costs $5 per bottle.

Even the most valiant drys admit that during eleven years of prohibition in Helsingfors there was never a moment when booze was difficult to obtain.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR MISSING JUDGE IN OAKLAND GRAFT TRIAL

Oakland, Cal., May 18.—(AP)—Thousands of searchers today continued their hunt for Superior Judge Edward E. Engs, missing in the Oakland hills since Friday morning. Rewards totaling $1,000 have been offered for the person locating the jurist, who disappeared presumably during a nervous breakdown caused by strain during a graft trial involving former Oakland city officials.

The possibility of a suicide due to a nervous breakdown was strongly hinted only to be vigorously opposed by members of his family.

The Paris correspondent of "VARIETY" reports:

"The music-wise Continentals object violently to mechanical music (in the theatre)."

WHAT, then, if Europeans thus prove their "music-wisdom," are we North Americans supposed to accept mechanical music—and mechanical music only—in the theatre? Music-stupid, perhaps?

Well, at least 2,000,000 theatre patrons have rejected that characterization by joining the Music Defense League. They mean that they want Real Music, not Canned Music exclusively, in the theatre.

DIVORCE COURT CATCHING CUPID, SAY OFFICIALS

Race Will Be Tie in 1948, Reports Indicate.

Divorce is gaining in Cook county in the marital stakes. Consensus of experts, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, backer of Cupid in the marriage license bureau, and Superior Court Clerk M. S. Szymczak and Circuit Court Clerk Thomas O. Wallace, supporters of divorce as guardians of court archives, yesterday had it that the two will be running neck and neck in eighteen years.

At the last clocking May 1 divorce gained 18 per cent over the first four months of 1929. The 1930 total of 4,239 divorces is 655 higher than that for 1929 at 3,584. In the same period Cupid dropped 1,318 with 10,164 marriage licenses, a loss of 11 per cent over the 11,482 for 1929.

Race Approaches a Tie.

At the present rate marriages and divorces will be equal in 1948, the officials predicted. In another twenty years divorce will hold a two to one lead and by 1988 every one will be getting divorced and no one will be getting married, divorce supporters predict. To this prediction friends of Cupid shout "fallacy."

"There's no doubt that Cupid is shirking," Chief Clerk Sidney Summerfield of the marriage bureau said. "But wait until he gets his second wind.

"I was at first inclined to blame it on the weather, but along came some fine moonlight nights without bringing us better business. The trouble, as I see it know, is that the young folks don't seem to fall in love at first sight. One eye is ready and willing, but the other is on the lookout for a fat pay check, and the courtin' rolls on and on.

"When they come in now the young folks are sure of themselves and they're less shy. There's some hope in that to me, because I figure that these marriages will take. I don't think the divorce bugs have taken that into account. The average marriage age has gone up about five years, which shows that the step is taken in sober reasoning. There's still hope for Cupid."

View of Divorce Changing.

In opposition to this view Circuit Court Clerk Wallace pointed out that men and women are viewing divorce with apathy instead of the former look of alarm. In 1927, he said, more than 14 per cent of the divorces were contested while in 1930 the figure will drop to less than 4 per cent.

He also stated that approximately 80 per cent of the complainants were women, whom one would expect to treat the sanctity of marriage more seriously.

HAS WAR MEDAL FOR SERVICE TO LINCOLN AND GOLD STAR, TOO

An unsung heroine of two wars passed through Chicago yesterday. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchins of Oakland, Cal., 92 years old. She told yesterday of a gold medal presented to her by Abraham Lincoln for having foiled a plot against his life in civil war days. On the lapel of her fur-trimmed coat, she wears a gold star, pendant from a tricolored ribbon of red, white, and blue. She is bound for France to visit the grave of her son.

She arrived over the Burlington from the west, and disdained to use a wheel chair for the long trip down the station platform and into the station. As she walked she told of her Lincoln memento. She was a school teacher in St. Louis, she said, when, suspecting a group of men of conspiring against Lincoln, she entered a room where they were sleeping, confiscated their guns, ammunition, and papers and buried them in an old well. The next day she caused the arrest of the group.

Mrs. Hutchins, who was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, came to this country in infancy. She formerly lived in Chicago, and it was from here that her son, Creighton, killed in action, enlisted for service overseas.

Twenty-three gold star mothers left Chicago yesterday on the Grand Trunk and Canadian National railways for New York. They will sail May 21, and come from Montana and Washington. Fifty-four others reached the city over the Chicago and Northwestern lines, coming from Washington, Idaho, Wyoming, Iowa, and South Dakota.

SEE NO OBSTACLE TO TRANSIT PLAN IN DRIVE TRACKS

Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the council committee on local transportation, said yesterday he had not been informed regarding an amendment to the proposed transit ordinance which would tend to eliminate the street car tracks on the lake front from Chicago Avenue to Grand avenue. His committee's report on the transit ordinance is ready for presentation to the council as a whole today, Ald. McDonough said, and its passage was predicted.

The proposed amendment may be considered and disposed of without delaying the completed ordinance, he said. The sponsors of the amendment are the Lincoln park commissioners, who in 1926 sought in vain before the Illinois commerce commission to have the lake shore line ruled out of existence, and the Chicago plan commission, which has an alternate proposal, it was explained.

The proposed amendment would permit the exclusion of the lake shore tracks from the ordinance if the commerce commission so rules. Ald. McDonough expects no difficulty in solving the outer drive track problem.

PASTOR CALLS BIRTH CONTROL AID TO RELIGION

Want All Alcoholics Sterilized.

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Addressing the annual joint meeting of the American Eugenics society and the Eugenics Research association today, the Rev. Kenneth C. MacArthur, rural secretary of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, said the church needs the aid of eugenics and birth control in its fight on poverty, disease, and war.

Some ecclesiastical bodies look upon birth control as a sin, he said, but "the church's burden because of poverty would be greatly lessened if poor people did not have so many children."

Would Sterilize Alcoholics.

He advocated the sterilization of confirmed alcoholics, mental defectives and criminals in the application of the doctrine of raising the standard of the human race. Eugenics, he said, aims at the production of a superrace, free of prejudice, ignorance and emotional instability.

Representative Albert Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, advocated passage of the bill to restrict immigration from Mexico, recently approved by the senate, as a forerunner to legislation to restrict the influx of aliens from all other parts of the western hemisphere.

"Keep the Aliens Out."

"Why should aliens flock from Mexico, Cuba, Canada, or anywhere else," he demanded, "when the United States has a population of 122,000,000 and great unemployment? Also a birth rate over deaths of nearly 1,000,000 a year?"

He predicted that the problem of restricting immigration of Filipinos, who, he said, are "creating another oriental problem on the Pacific coast," would be a great force in the freeing of the Philippine Islands.

The research association elected Clarance G. Campbell of New York president.

THE Whole Force awaited news of this "post-mortem"

WHAT WOULD the "post-mortem" show? Now, after 25,000 miles of hard driving—the turn-in period of the average car—how much wear would the engineer's instruments measure on each moving part? Here, in the last analysis, was the final test of this new motor oil—New Iso-Vis.

It was found that the actual wear on moving parts was only that of a single year of normal driving. The bearing wear was less than 1/1000 of an inch.

There are a number of reasons, backed by hundreds of tests, for the decreased wear on the motor when New Iso-Vis is used. First, this new type oil is the only motor oil that will not thin out in the crankcase.

Second, New Iso-Vis lubricates effectively at extremes of cold, and on up through temperatures higher than are actually possible in the ordinary automobile engine.

THE WEAR on a motor is the best test of the lubricating value of an oil. After a 25,000 mile test run on New Iso-Vis, the bearing wear in this engine was found by these men to be less than 1/1000 of an inch.

Third, New Iso-Vis reduces carbon deposits to 50% less than the average of various high grade oils at present on the market.

You may never perform a "post-mortem" on your own car. However, you will find that New Iso-Vis makes a difference in performance and a difference in repair bills that are noticeable without taking the motor apart! Any Standard Oil dealer or service station can supply you with New Iso-Vis.

HERE IN THIS simple Ball and Bottle Test, that you can see at any Standard Oil Service Station, is convincing proof that New Iso-Vis will not thin out in your crankcase.

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25¢ a quart.

CUBS LOSE TO CARDS, 8-2, AFTER WINNING, 9-6

Missing Derby Colt Mystery Solved.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

An explanation is due the citizens of Chicago for the non-appearance in the newspapers of any pictures of the Chicago race horse, Dick O'Hara, in the layouts depicting the finish of the Kentucky Derby. The fact of the matter is that Dick O'Hara, a family pet owned by Mr. Pat Joyce, the mid-western railroad magnate, was delayed along the route of one mile and one-quarter and was not photographed because the Derby was supposed to be a daylight spectacle.

The photographers did not take any flash bombs with them, and as the management had not planned for an owl race, the prints of Dick O'Hara's finish came out all black.

Speculate on Dick's Fate.

But I am quite certain that an effort was made to photograph Dick O'Hara's finish because I was with Mr. Louis Wolf, the photographer, along toward 8 o'clock in the evening when he shot the blank plate. We were having dinner in the clubhouse at the time and all the boys were speculating as to what had become of Dick O'Hara, who seemed to have met some mysterious fate.

It was unthinkable that any one would wish to steal him, especially in Kentucky, where people are good judges of horse flesh. Some people thought that perhaps Mr. Barrett, the jockey, had taken the fence with his charger and ridden away into the setting sun to purchase a junk wagon or fish cart and start life anew. But this did not seem plausible, because a boy wishing to get away from it all and forget would not be likely to take his albatross with him.

In the midst of all this a man came in and whispered to Mr. Wolf that he had just strolled around from the stables in the backstretch and had walked past a dark object which seemed to be a horse running at a rapid rate in one spot.

Mr. Wolf Ever Alert.

"If it seemed to be a horse it probably is not Dick O'Hara," Mr. Wolf said, "but our readers will be interested to know what happened to him, and I always follow every clew."

Half an hour later a scuffling sound came out of the dark and, in the blackness, Mr. Wolf snapped his camera, crying, "Is that Dick O'Hara with Barrett up?"

"No," a voice said, "this is Barrett with Dick O'Hara up. Can you tell me the way to Churchill Downs? This horse is getting heavy."

By this time, Mr. Joyce, the owner, had returned to Louisville to catch his train, reporting the loss of his horse to the sheriff, with a request that if Dick O'Hara should be found the matter be kept as quiet as possible.

"But you will have to post a bond that you will come and take him away if we find him," the sheriff said severely. "Our people are very strict and you cannot come down here from Chicago and turn anything like Dick O'Hara loose on our countryside."

Mr. Barrett Tells Story.

After Mr. Barrett, the jockey, had received restoratives he was able to give an account of the occurrences in Dick O'Hara's race.

"We kept on telling Mr. Joyce not to run that horse in the Derby," he said, "but he insisted. Every day Mr. Joyce would call up the stable and ask how his horse was running.

"The trainer would answer, 'Terrible,' or 'Rotten' and warn him not to enter the horse in the Derby. But Mr. Joyce would merely say, 'That is pessimism. I do not like pessimists. Look on the bright side of everything and have faith in Dick O'Hara.' The trainer would say, 'Mr. Joyce, that horse cannot run more than a quarter of a mile,' but Mr. Joyce would ask, 'How many times can he run a quarter in a day?' The trainer said he might be able to run five or six quarters a day with long rests between quarters and Mr. Joyce then said his mind was made up to see his colors in the Kentucky Derby and told us to run him five quarters as quickly as possible with a minimum of delay.

Barrett Pitches Camp.

"That is what I did. After the first quarter we pitched camp and I got him some hay. We broke camp about thirty minutes later and ran another quarter at a very spirited rate and camped again. And so on, until the last quarter, when Dick O'Hara began to show signs of exhaustion.

"I was afraid people would think I had stolen the horse. It was lonesome out there in the dark and we were running out of provisions, besides which my matches had become soaked in the rain. The horse finally refused to go any farther and, as I was hired only for the afternoon and it was long past quitting time, I got down and carried him in myself."

Golfer Is Shot in Back by Stray Rifle Bullet

GALLANT FOX TO LEAVE TODAY FOR EASTERN TRACKS

Will Make His Next Start in Belmont Stakes.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 18. — Gallant Fox, winner of yesterday's Kentucky Derby, was given an additional day's rest before being shipped to the east. Owner Woodward changed plans and directed that his crack 3 year old be sent to Aqueduct tomorrow. He himself left for a visit to Clairburne farm, near Paris, Ky., where Gallant Fox was foaled. Marguerite, dam of Gallant Fox, is still at A. B. Hancock's breeding establishment.

Owner Woodward, before his departure, thought it unlikely that Gallant Fox would start in the Withers mile on May 31. His next appearance under present plans will be in the Belmont stakes at one and one-half miles on June 7.

May Meet Whichone.

Whichone, picked to dispute Gallant Fox's claim to 3 year old supremacy, is expected to go in the Withers. If winner, the Whitney star undoubtedly will start in the Belmont.

Following the Belmont stakes Gallant Fox, if still on edge, will be shipped west for the American Derby at Washington Park June 14, and will remain for the Arlington Classic in July.

Kilkerry Injures Knee.

Of the other Derby starters, Gallant Knight and Ned O., second and third, respectively, will be shipped to Fairmount Park tomorrow to run in the Derby there next Saturday with $15,000 added. They will be joined by Sydney, which declined the Derby issue, and others.

Breezing Through and Buckeye Post were sent away today for an eastern campaign. Kilkerry ruptured the knee ligaments of his sound foreleg in the Derby running. Horsemen attributed this injury to his favoring the sound leg to ease the strain on the other.

Runs Five Bases to Get Credit for Hitting a Single

Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—(AP)—Harry Gardner, Negro pitcher for the Walnut Street Cartage amateur team, hit a home run, ran five bases, and then was credited with a single in a game here with the Marchese Brothers team today.

Gardner slammed the ball to the edge of the field and circled the bases for what he believed was a perfect homer. When he arrived at the home plate excited teammates told him he failed to touch first base. Gardner ran to first and was safe before the ball, fielded by Bob Simmons, younger brother of Al Simmons, slapped into the first sacker's mitt.

DERBY AFTERMATH.

LOUISVVILLE, Ky., May 18.—[Special.]—When we sauntered to Gallant Fox's quarters at Churchill Downs this morning we were ushered into the morning room by his personal groom, who remembered us from our previous visit. There we waited nearly an hour before the Fox entered, in the same blue velvet lounging robe. Looking about as we waited, we noted a scattered deck of cards on the floor and several empty bottles, which might have contained pre-war stuff, now contraband.

Gallant Fox greeted us with "Hello, Wake! What did I tell you? It was almost too easy. I'm good; make no mistake about that. These western colts of yours are a bunch of land crabs. Remember, I also told you that Gallant Knight was the only one with possibilities, and he was second. When it comes to judging rivals I'm an intelligent fellow. I used my head, but not the way I'm told you do in golf.

"Anticipating your question, What about Whichone? Well, bring him on. I can't meet him if they won't start him against me, can I? Yes, he beat me last year, but that was last year. Like to meet him in the Belmont or the classics at Arlington. Give him a little side bet, too, if he wishes—either a gold cigaret case or twenty quarts of carrots.

"Now, about the Derby race or procession. French Lane gives Sande a lot of credit. That's all right, for I want to see the Earl get along. But I'm the chap who ran the race. Sande could only ride as fast as I could run. If Sande had been running and I had been on his back instead of him on my back, who would have won? Answer me that.

"French says he hustled me around the first turn. Say, I wanted to keep up there. If he had tried to restrain me I would have reached around and bitten his leg. Once he touched me with the whip. He had his nerve. That wasn't right. It was just because Crack Brigade was coming up. I know that fellow, and have his number, because I've already beaten him twice. You just tell your readers, Wake, that I won the race.

"Had a little party here last night," said the Fox, glancing around at the ruins previously described. "Wasn't very keen about it. Felt I'd simply have to tolerate a few of your better class western fellows and throw a little celebration, since I was the winner.

"After I had brought myself down to their level as nearly as I could, what do you think the lowbrows suggested? Deuces wild, dealer's option. I abhor it. Bridge is much more intellectual and adapted more to my temperament. Funny thing, too, they took a pretty fair amount of my money. Now, at bridge, where brains rather than luck counts, it would have been different."

"Do you play auction or contract?" we asked.

"O, auction, unless I am forced to play contract. Contract is a parrot game, just a memory test of convention and mathematically correct rules. The fillies like it but not us colts."

"What are your future plans?" we asked.

"Well, on to the 3 year old championship. I'm leaving tomorrow to go back to dear old Broadway after this camping out. After I win the Belmont stakes I may come to Chicago for the American Derby, and Arlington classic. What a terrible name for a race—that Classic. What sort of people have you in Chicago? Could I find a few congenial friends who are my social equals? Understand there are some good looking co-eds out at Northwestern. I was introduced to Eddie Lennox by High Foot's owner. He's senior class president or something, isn't he? He might invite me to a hop.

"Would like to meet Bob Hutchins, too. He was on the Yale faculty while I was an undergrad at New Haven before I was plucked. Anyway, I'll think it over and if I wouldn't meet too many low characters, I might come. I wouldn't arouse hostility and draw a pineapple if I won all your big races, would I? Perhaps I'll ask Mr. Woodward to send with me a couple of our east side chaps as a bodyguard.

"Well, Wake, I have to pack my traveling bag now, may see you this summer."

CHICAGO SCHOOLS VOTE 11 TO 6 FOR PREP TOURNEYS

Two Principals Opposed Qualify Objections.

Six to Four

FOLLOWING is the vote to date in ten states in The Tribune poll of high school principals on invitational interscholastic meets:

	For.	Against.
Illinois	214	190
Wisconsin	94	93
Michigan	110	94
Indiana	42	55
Kentucky	247	51
Iowa	146	57
Kansas	35	31
Oklahoma	56	16
Ohio	86	216
Minnesota	6	35

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Seventeen principals of Chicago high schools have voted in THE TRIBUNE'S poll on prohibition of invitational interscholastics. Eleven favored such meets conducted by colleges and universities, while six voted against them. Two of the six qualified their ballots with statements which indicated they favored competition other than basketball.

All the Chicago schools receiving ballots are members of the Illinois High School Athletic association, of which C. W. Whitten, secretary of the National Federation, is manager.

Tilden Principal Gives View.

Albert W. Evans, principal of Tilden Technical High school, returned his ballot against invitational meets with the notation: "This applies to meets especially where the contestants come from great distances, at great expense and loss of considerable time from school. Many have poor eligibility control."

It may be presumed, although Mr. Evans' ballot was recorded against college meets, that he favors competition which eliminates these criticisms. Tilden is one of Chicago's strongest schools in athletics and has been a frequent entry in wrestling, swimming, and track invitational meets at the University of Chicago and Northwestern university.

Until recent years the majority of Chicago high schools did not belong to the state association. Now all save two are listed as members. Morgan Park, one of these nonmembers, competed in the national basketball tournament this year.

Eligibility Rules Strict.

"Chicago's City league has more strict eligibility rules than the state association," one of the members of the board of control pointed out recently. "Athletes must pass in four subjects and are barred from competition at 20 years of age. Other schools in Illinois have a three subject eligibility rule and permit competition until 21 years of age.

"Chicago's rules also prohibit an athlete from competing in more than one of three sports—football, basketball, and soccer—in a school year. Other schools have no such limitations."

C. C. Willard, principal of Wendell Phillips High school, voted against basketball invitational meets "with limitations on others." Phillips holds the heavyweight basketball championship of the City league.

Nine votes were recorded yesterday from Kansas. Five favored invitational meets. The vote now stands: For, 35; against, 31.

Kid Chocolate Injured in Automobile Crash

Nyack, N. Y., May 18.—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban featherweight, was badly bruised in an automobile accident near here this afternoon. Dr. George Lightner of Nyack hospital where the Cuban boxer was taken, said that Chocolate would have to remain there for three or four days and probably would be able to fight again in about a month. No bones were broken.

Wisconsin Coach Asks for Javelin Hurler; Gets Wish

Madison, Wis., May 18.—[Special.]—Until an hour before Wisconsin's track team left for Ohio State Friday to compete in the quadrangular meet, Carl Lemm, Prairie du Sac, Wis., sophomore, who placed third in the javelin throw, was just another Badger student. During the year he had been practicing with the javelin, but with no exceptional success.

While at Camp Randall field on Friday he overheard Coach Tom Jones bewailing that he could not find a javelin thrower other than Johnny Mayer, who could reach over 165 feet. Lemm walked over to the rack, selected a spear, and made a throw that measured 169 feet 10 inches.

Badgers Bank on Behr in Big Ten Meet

When Big Ten athletes meet in their annual track and field games at Northwestern this week-end, Wisconsin is depending on Sammy Behr for five points in the shot put in its effort to add the outdoor title to the indoor crown won at Minneapolis.

Behr is a versatile athlete. He has won letters in football and basketball in addition to track, in which sport he has been one of Coach Jones' dependables. His home is Rockford, Ill.

Holds Conference Records.

Sammy set the Big Ten record last year with a mark of 48 feet 3½ inches. He also won the indoor event. And he has been consistently near his record this spring. Behr won his specialty Saturday in the quadrangular meet at Columbus, O., between Wisconsin, Ohio State, Northwestern, and Chicago. His winning effort was 47 feet 11½ inches.

Behr's best mark is 48 feet 9¾ inches, made this spring in the Minnesota relays. Inability to come within ten inches of that record in later events cost the Badger star victories in the other annual games. After winning the event in the relays at Southern Methodist university, Behr was second at Texas, third at Kansas, and fourth at Drake. His mark at Des Moines was 47 feet 10½ inches. J. Bausch of Kansas, Rhea of Nebraska, and Paul of Armour institute finished in that order ahead of the Wisconsin shot putter.

Behr Stands Out.

If further proof of Behr's consistency in hurling the 16 pound ball is needed, compare his mark in the Kansas relays. It was 47 feet 10¾ inches, ample evidence he should win Saturday.

No other Big Ten competitor has approached Behr's marks in the outdoor meets.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Unskilled baseball playing by the Great Shires, Bill Cissell, Chick Autry and Hal McKain yesterday gave the Cleveland Indians four unearned runs and enabled the visitors to accomplish their first 1930 victory over the White Sox by a score of 7 to 4.

The misplays of Cissell and Autry were the most grievous of the lot, for they came when the score was tied at 4 to 4 in the seventh inning and encouraged the Indians to make two runs without the semblance of a base hit.

The blowup started with a base on balls to Morgan. Eddie went to second on J. Sewell's sacrifice bunt. Seeds then sent a grounder to Hunnefield, who threw to Kamm in time to head off Morgan going into third. Morgan back pedaled and in the purposed rundown Cissell muffed the ball, then picked it up and threw it to the dugout, Morgan scoring and Seeds reaching third. Autry then got into the spirit of the thing and permitted one of Henry's pitches to get past him, Seeds walking in from third.

Sox Hits Go to Waste.

Thus, what had been an interesting ball game suddenly was turned haywire and some nice timely hitting by Henry, Hunnefield, Reynolds and Shires turned to no account. Henry, Hunnefield and Reynolds had coöperated to tie the score with a single, a double and a single in the third, and Shires' act was a triple with two out and two on in the fifth which had again tied the score, the Indians having added two runs between the two Sox attacks.

McKain's faux pas had no effect on the outcome, save the possible depressing effect it had on his mates in their task of attempting to rally in the ninth. Hal walked Harder to start the ninth, then, in seeking to catch him snoozing off first, threw the ball away, enabling the Indian pitcher to reach third. He came in with the fourth unearned Indian run when Morgan sent a sacrifice fly to Reynolds.

Smead Jolley, the dormant colossus who on Saturday showed signs of coming out of his protracted hibernation, found the day so cold he thought it still was winter and again closed his batting eye. He got nothing that looked like a hit. Cissell was held hitless for the second time this season. It was the first time he has been unable to solve a right hander for at least one hit.

WILSON LEANS ON TWO PITCHES FOR HOME RUNS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 18.—The Cubs and Cardinals adjusted their bargain day differences in the customary manner this afternoon. Inspired by such impressive incidents as a pair of homers by Hack Wilson, the champions carried off their share of the loot by grabbing the choice end of a 9 to 8 score and broke St. Louis' nine game winning streak. Then the Cards readjusted their forces and charged back in boisterous fashion to capture the nightcap, 8 to 2, behind the pitching of Jess Haines.

In keeping with the fashion so popular this spring with Cub hurlers, the usual blowups occurred in both ends of the day's argument. Charley Root started the first game and for seven innings was a veritable pitching giant. In the eighth, however, with a big lead in his favor, he did a sudden fadeout, and it was only some daring manipulation by McCarthy that prevented his champions from being nosed out. The afterpiece was similar except that it was Sheriff Blake instead of Root. And Blake accomplished his flop in less time.

Hack Starts Rally.

It was principally because of Hack's desire to add to his home run total that the Cubs started on the right track in the first engagement. For five rounds they did next to nothing to Sylvester Johnson, but in the sixth with a mate on base Wilson crashed a circuit blow into the seats. This equalled two runs the Cards had scored in a similar way off Root. Then, once they had tied it, the Cubs proceeded to keep going. They scored two more in the seventh and three more in the eighth, when Hack led off with his second homer.

These runs along with two in the ninth helped to nullify Root's decline in the eighth, when four Cards nicked the plate.

If Blake had kept going at the pace he set for himself early in the second game, it would have been a sad afternoon for the Cards and the 32,000 in attendance. For three innings the Sheriff didn't allow a hit. But that exhausted his supply of tricks. In the fourth he was fairly annihilated on some solid blows, which scored four runs. Bush served long enough to put a halt to this splurge, and thereafter everything was quiet except for bits of grief poured on the pitching efforts of Bob Osborn and Bud Teachout, both of whom had labored in the first game.

Homer Scores Two Runs.

Pat Malone will attempt to take care of McCarthy's pitching in the final against the Cards tomorrow. Sherdel will be the enemy nominee.

Root and Johnson were able to preserve order in the first game until the third inning was reached. At this point Johnson stirred up the assembled burghers by singling to right. Root's first pitch to Douthit was walloped into the seats in left, giving the Cards a two run lead. Then Root got down to business and went through seven innings with a total of only four hits against his record.

The Cubs hit a lot of balls solidly without getting them safe in the first five rounds so Johnson probably wasn't greatly surprised when the champions frisked him for the two tying runs in the sixth. This little flurry didn't appear until two were out. Cuyler set it going with a drive on which he made three sacks while Watkins was watching the ball carom off the wall in right. Then Wilson leaned into the first pitch and delivered it to a fan in the left field bleacher. This made No. 10 for Hack.

Break Tie in Seventh.

Ties Count with Homer, Scores Winning Run.

Cincinnati, O., May 18.—(AP)—Erwin Brame pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 2 to 1 victory over Bennis Frey and the Reds here today, knotting the count in the third with a home run over the center field wall and scoring the winning run in the fifth on Engle's single after he had doubled with two out.

It was Frey's first loss in five starts. The Cincinnati recruit held the Pirates to eight hits while his mates gathered nine, but the Reds were unable to cluster their blows at opportune times. Score:

ROBINS WIN PAIR.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 18.—(AP)—The Robins climbed to the top in the National league's congested first division today when they twice defeated the Phillies before a capacity crowd of 30,000. Aided by perfect fielding support, Jim Elliott scored a five hit shutout over the Phillies in the first game, which Brooklyn won, 3 to 0. Home runs by McCurdy, Sigman and Klein in the second contest failed to overcome an early Brooklyn lead and the Robins took that one, 7 to 5.

Coming from behind in the late innings of the second game, the Phillies knocked Babe Phelps out of the box in the ninth. Watson Clark relieved him and disposed of two Phillies' pinch hitters, but Thompson walked, bringing up the dangerous O'Doul. O'Doul hit a terrific line drive but Bissonnette ended the game with a diving catch. Scores:

BRAVES, GIANTS SPLIT.

New York, May 18.—(AP)—It took eleven innings today for the Giants to gain an even split with the Boston Braves, losing the first game, 4 to 1, and winning the second, 3 to 2. Fred Leach's double sent Marshall home with the winning run.

After pitching seven and two-thirds innings of perfect baseball, Carl Hubbell blew up and three singles in the eighth and two in the ninth tied the score. Mel Ott hit his sixth homer with Terry on base in the fourth to give the Giants a two run lead, only to have Hubbell blow it.

In the first game, the veteran Tom Zachary, a former Yank, though hit hard, tightened in the pinches and turned in his first victory for the Braves in the National league.

Rain Fails to Stop Wales, Bobby Jones; Play 36 Holes

LONDON, May 18.—(AP)—The prince of Wales and Bobby Jones played 36 holes of golf together today and though rain fell during a part of the match it did not interfere with either's game. The match was played on Sir Philip Sassoon's private course at Trent Park, High Barnet. Just who won the match, how many strokes Bobby gave the prince and the totals for 36 holes could not be learned.

Novice Breaks Hundred After 3 Weeks' Play

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Herbert Brin, huskiest of the Tribune's four novice golfers, is making use of his beef as indicated by the fact he is the first of the four to have reported a score of under 100. Brin reached that peak which so many men struggle toward for years in less than three weeks of golf, when he shot 49—48—97 on the Mid-City course.

Brin, who has shown an aptitude as well as a keen interest in golf since the lessons started, tried most of his clubs in his fifth lesson from Jimmy Weager at Edgewater. They started with putting, where the boy found some difficulty in keeping the balls from going to the right of the cup until Weager saw he was opening the blade of his putter instead of hitting the ball cleanly with the face of the putter at right angles to the line of roll.

Don't Lift Club.

Then the professional gave him a midiron, which Herbert doesn't handle quite as well as a mashie. He had a tendency to bring it up quickly from the ball and as he hit shots Weager coached him in words that are self explanatory.

"Don't bring it up too sharply," the professional said. "Keep the blade closer to the ground a bit longer on the follow through. That shot wasn't bad but you did just what I told you not to do, you brought the club up too fast and half topped the ball. Let the club swing out and through the ball and the clubhead will pick it up.

Throw Clubhead Through.

"Use the clubhead a bit more," Weager continued. "The clubhead is what you hit the ball with. Use the BOTTOM of the club; throw it through the ball and let it go. You're trying to help the clubhead too much. You're too stiff in the wrists.

"Try to force the shot and you spoil it," said Weager, and, as Brin pushed a shot, "You didn't get the clubhead into that ball." After the boy had two or three "grass cutters" in succession, Weager corrected him again. "You're inclined to pull up too quickly," which brought from Herbert the quickly learned and ancient alibi of golfers, "I didn't look at it."

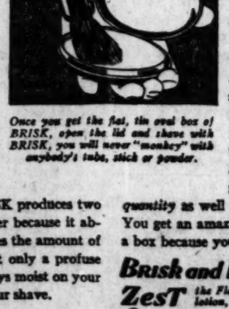
TILDEN IS GIVEN NO. 2 POSITION IN FRENCH MEET

PARIS, May 18.—(AP)—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia will be seeded number 2 in singles in the French hard court tennis championships which get under way at Roland Garros stadium tomorrow.

Tilden gets the place of honor immediately after Henri Cochet, French ace, in preference to Jean Borotra. The seeded men decided on, in order, are Cochet, Tilden, Borotra, Jack Crawford and E. L. Moon of Australia, and Baron H. L. De Morpurgo of Italy. Others will be selected tomorrow.

Mix Yourself a Mint Julep Shave

It's easily done. Simply take a little BRISK Shaving Cream and a dash of warm or cold water—and Boy!—what a shave! It brings to mind all the coolness and exhilaration of that famous Kentucky potion. And there's a good reason why.



Once you get the fat, the oval box of BRISK, open the lid and shave with BRISK, you will never "monkey" with anybody's tube, stick or powder.

First of all, BRISK makes plenty of lather—and plenty of lather is the first requirement of a good shave! BRISK produces two to three times the lather because it absorbs two to three times the amount of water. That means not only a profuse lather, but one that stays moist on your face until you finish your shave.

Lubricates the Cutting Stroke

Secondly, BRISK, lubricates the cutting stroke of the razor. You know how a bit of soap on a saw eases its passage through a log—well, that's how BRISK smooths the path of the razor. The razor does not "pull," skip or chop, but glides sweetly over the skin, mowing down the hair cleanly at each stroke.

And as a finishing touch, BRISK acts as a balm. Leaves the skin soft and supple as a fine kid glove. Puts your face in good form for the day!

BRISK, at 50c, is a good "buy" from the quantity as well as quality standpoint. You get an amazing lot of shaves from a box because you have to use so little.

Wilson Sends Two Drives Over the Fence.

...ish English singled. Beck home. ...Heathcote doubled, English go... to third and Johnson going else... to permit Herman Bell to com... the inning without further ex...ment.

Hack's homer No. 11 was the initial ...int in the eighth when the Cubs ...hed their lead to 7 and 2 by pick... up three runs. Hack slapped the ...l into the roof of the pavilion in ...t. The next two men were retired, ...d then the rally was put on in ear... Hartnett singled to left. Beck ...ked a double to right, and Gabby ...ed. Root lined to center for two ...s and Beck raced home to com... the damage.

Root Loads Bases.

Root brought on his own rout in ...e home eighth by walking Bottom... who led off as hitter for the ...her. Douthit singled to left, ...ame walked and the sacks were ...ded with none out. Frisch's single ...ed Bottomley and Douthit and ...e ended Root. Teachout took com... and after getting Pinch Hitter ...el on a pop fly, passed Hafey to re... the corners. Then came Osborn. ...e fanned High, batting for Orsatti, ...n yielded a single to Jim Wilson. ...ams and Frisch scored on the wal... Gelbert tapped to Osborn for the ...rd out.

The Cards' strategy board purposely ...alled Hack in the ninth so as to ...ant the possibilities of another ...mer. It proved a good move for ...e Cubs. With one out, Cuyler dou... and Frankhouse and Hack was ...ed. Grimm ruined the plans of ...e locale by slashing a hit past ...rack scoring Cuyler and putting ...ack on third. Hack counted the last ...n run when Bell hoisted a sacrifice ...y to left.

English Scores Bargain Run.

The nightcap began with the Cubs' ...etting possession of a bargain run in ...e opening inning. Haines walked ...English, who moved down to second ...n a wild pitch. Heathcote flied to ...ght, and English hiked to third. Cuy... then cracked a wicked liner to ...ght, but Orsatti leaped up in front ...f the concrete wall and dragged it ...n. However, the catch didn't prevent ...English from scoring. For the third ...ut of the inning Hack was made the ...victim of a called third strike, a mat... that he promptly took up with ...Umpire McGrew. All that Hack got ...for his effort was a raspberry, served ...by the crowd.

If Blake had displayed a little field... agility in the fourth he might ...have escaped the assault that blasted ...him loose from his job. The inning ...opened with Adams walking. Frisch ...hit a ball straight back at Blake, and ...it should have been stopped, but in...stead it went into center for a hit. ...Adams going to third. Adams scored ...on a double by Bottomley. Then ...Hafey rode Blake's first pitch into the ...left field seats for three more tallies. ...It looked as if the riot was going to ...continue, so Blake was yanked in ...favor of Bush, and the session closed ...without additional run producing.

Bell's Triple Wasted.

The Cubs threatened to do a little ...scoring in the fifth, but subsided be...fore accomplishing anything. Bell ...opened the round with a triple to ...right center. Taylor could offer noth...ing more than a pop up. Beck walked. ...McCarthy figured it a good spot in ...which to employ Hornsby's bat. The ...Rajah was sent up to swing for Bush, ...but he didn't swing, so was called out ...on strikes. Beck was doubled trying to ...steal second on the third strike.

As soon as Osborn appeared in the ...fifth, the Cardinals did the things they ...would liked to have done when he ...batted them at the finish of the inaug...ural battle. Frisch welcomed him with ...a single. Bottomley also hit one. Hafey ...lined out to Bell, but Orsatti singled ...and Frisch scored. A scratch hit by ...Jim Wilson jammed the bases. Gel...bert beat out a dinky roller to Bell, ...and Bottomley ran home. Orsatti ...counted the third and last run of the ...inning on Haines' deep fly to Cuyler.

The remaining innings were more or ...less drab. Haines eased up long ...enough in the seventh to permit a ...homer by Bell. The Cards retrieved ...this run off Teachout in the eighth on ...passes to Frisch and Bottomley and a ...single by Hafey.

much better pitcher than our Dutch, even if he did have to rely on unearned runs to accomplish his purpose. He fanned six and issued only two passes, both to Metzler.

Hodapp was the first man to produce a run. Johnny reached first after one was out in the second inning, when Shires dropped a perfect throw from Kamm. He went to third on Jamieson's single to right and scored on L. Sewell's single to center. Goldman popped to Kamm and Harder fanned.

In the third inning the Indians again made two hits produce a run. Morgan led off with a triple, held on while J. Sewell flied to Metzler and came home while Seeds was beating out a slow roller toward third. Fonseca hit into a double play, Cissell to Hunnefield to Shires.

The Sox evened the count in the last of the third. Henry opened with a single, paused while Metzler flied to Seeds and went to third on Hunnefield's double to left center. Henry and Hunnefield scored on Reynolds' single to right center. Shires popped to Goldman and Jolley lined to Morgan.

Indians Score Again.

Two hits again were good for a Cleveland run in the fourth. Hodapp started it with a single and moved to second on Jamieson's sacrifice bunt. L. Sewell flied to Reynolds, but Goldman doubled to left scoring Hodapp. Kamm threw out Harder.

For the fourth successive inning the Indians made two hits and a run in the fifth. J. Sewell doubled to right, waited while Seeds popped to Kamm and Fonseca walked, and then scored on Hodapp's single over second. Jamieson rolled to Shires.

Henry launched the Sox fifth by fanning, but Metzler got a base on balls and Hunnefield was hit by a pitched ball. Reynolds forced Hunnefield, which put Metzler on third. Shires then tripled to the scoreboard in right center, scoring Metzler and Reynolds, and bringing the score to a 4 to 4 status. Arthur died on third when Jolley knocked a high fly to Seeds.

The two clubs will engage in a double header this afternoon. The overnight pitching selections were Hudlin and Jablonowski for Cleveland and Faber and Weiland for the White Sox.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Though he allowed the Senators five hits, two more than his mates got off Lloyd Brown, Lefty Groves was the winning pitcher today in the Philadelphia 1 to 0 victory over Washington.

With the bases loaded in the sixth and one away, Fox hit to Cronin, who threw to Myer for a double killing. Simmons, coming into second, bumped into Myer, causing him to throw too late to catch Foxx, while Bishop crossed the plate. It was a hard game for Brown to lose after having held the A's to three singles.

Canadian Wins A. A. U. Walking Championship

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—American hopes in the Olympic 50,000 meter walking test at the 1932 games received a blow today when Henry Cieman of Toronto made a show of the best American walkers in the east in winning three National A. Loons Vie with Whippoorwills in Night 'Broadcast'

BY BOB BECKER.

Several still moonlit nights last week provided a setting for an interesting water bird to broadcast from the surface of Lake Michigan, a performance that might lead listeners to believe that they were in the north woods instead of Chicagoland.

The water bird which sent its high pitched, weird laughing calls across the water was the loon, the largest and handsomest of our diving birds.

Fishermen and campers who frequent the north country during the summer know this fellow very well. During the migration period some of these birds use Lake Michigan as a resting and feeding station en route to their northern nesting sites.

Last week there were several of these blackheaded water birds on the lake some thirty miles north of Chicago's loop and when night came and a full moon rose to illuminate the calm water the birds opened up with their eerie calls. Unable to see the loons in the moonlight, the long drawn "sad and wolfish calls" (as one nature student has described the birds' attempt to broadcast) came up from the lake and made one think he was in camp in the heart of the northern wilderness.

While the loons were putting their melancholy notes on the air, the whippoorwills were talking away in a deep ravine which leads to Lake Michigan. For a while we thought that these two species, wholly unlike in habits and voice, were staging a duel of sound.

Although the loon's voice usually is quite disagreeable, it also has a series of softer notes. We have heard this gentler cry many times while fishing in the north country. It must have been this more pleasing effect which Longfellow had in mind when he wrote of "the loon that laughs and flies down to those reflected skies."

Dozen States to Have Preps in Stagg Meet

Entries from 18 schools in 12 states have already been received for the 26th annual Stagg track and field interscholastic on May 30 and 31 at the University of Chicago. Ohio, with four teams, leads in entries. Approximately 1,000 high school stars compete in the national track meet on the Midway each year.

The high school section of last year's meet was won by Froebel High of Gary, Ind., with 42½ points, and Arsenal Tech of Indianapolis, was second, with 28 points. Fort Collins, Col., the only team that has won the meet three times, was third.

The meet will be held in two divisions to give both high schools and academies an opportunity to compete. Several races, each counting a full set of points, will be run off in the 440, 880, mile, and the various relays.

There will be accommodations for 25,000 spectators. Admission will be without charge.

Stephenson Tops Big Six Batting in Major Leagues

[By Associated Press.]

Idleness produced two new battling leaders in the major leagues yesterday as the big six batsmen were far below their usual form. Riggs Stephenson, kept out of the Cubs-Cardinals' double header, went to the top of the National league with his .499 mark, as Frank O'Doul and Paul Waner got only one hit apiece, the former in seven times at bat and the latter in four.

Marty McManus of Detroit slipped into first place in the American league with a .385 average as Sam Rice fell down on his hitting job. Rain kept McManus from playing. Babe Ruth gained a tie with Al Simmons for fifth place in the big six by hitting a home run.

The University of Chicago baseball team will meet Michigan State on the Midway today while the Maroon golf team will compete in championship play at Westmoreland.

YANKS AND CARDS LEAD LEAGUES IN WEEK'S PLAY

Senators, Robins Best on Offense.

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Defense had its turn to show the way to slugging in the major leagues last week and the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees forged to the front of the National and American leagues in the weekly standings.

Neither leader was near the top in hitting or scoring, but they held their opponents to very few runs and fielded well to win games. The Cardinals won five straight games to run their string of victories to nine while tallying only 34 runs. The Yankees won four out of five games with a total of only 25 runs and 45 hits.

Hold Opponents to 14 Runs.

But they made the best defensive record in either league, holding their opponents to 14 runs, and committed only three errors. Only one error spoiled the Cardinals' record, while they held their rivals to 24 counters for the best defensive record in the National league.

The Washington Senators gave the best slugging exhibition as they ended the week by trouncing the Philadelphia Athletics to take first place in the American league standing. They topped both leagues in scoring and hitting with 51 runs and 75 hits and finished second for the week with five victories and two defeats. The Chicago Cubs, winding up at the bottom of the National league, made the most runs for their circuit, 44, and topped them all in homers with 11.

Robins Get 72 Hits.

The Brooklyn Robins smacked out 72 hits, the best National league mark, but scored only 35 runs and finished second with three victories and two defeats.

The low scorers for the week were the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Browns, who made only 12 runs apiece. The Browns also hit weakly, getting only 23 blows in four games. Cleveland erred most frequently, making 13.

Last week's records for major league clubs of games won and lost, runs, hits, errors, opponents' runs, and home runs follows:

SPECULATORS OF GRAIN TRADE SEE BLACK OUTLOOK

Government Holds, Sells All Buyers Want.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A more unsatisfactory situation in American and the world's wheat situation than at present has never confronted the trade, as speculators see it. The government controls the markets of the United States, the pools have control of Canada, and are selling all that buyers will take on every bulge.

Values here and in Europe have hardened, and where May wheat in Chicago was recently at a premium over Liverpool, the latter market was 10c premium at the close on Saturday, and July in that market was about the same premium above Chicago. Traders here say they can sell little to induce large changes at present unless there is a crop scare.

Wheat supplies in leading consuming countries of Europe are understood to be unusually low and the disposition there is to run on small stocks as high import duties are an important factor, and are likely to be for an indefinite period. Consumption in these countries has been reduced by relatively high prices. North American wheat prices are considered as too high by European buyers but all indications are that they have allowed stocks to run down to an exhaustion point.

Exports Increased.

North American exports of wheat and flour last week were the largest in a considerable time, and they are expected to continue liberal for the next two months. This movement will reduce North American supplies to a moderate extent which will be welcomed by trade interests and the farm board. The latter is selling wheat to mills and exporters, and stocks are decreasing faster than at any time within the year, yet there can be a reduction of 5,000,000 bu a week for the next six weeks and have a visible supply of about 96,000,000 bu, an unusual amount.

Wheat statistics in all are more in favor of holders, considering the price, but there is nothing in the statistical or crop situation at present on which to base extremely bullish ideas, or to give the bears much comfort.

Speculative trading decreased with sales of futures in Chicago last week of 173,085,000 bu, compared with 244,-899,000 bu the previous week, and 182,765,000 bu last year. Open interest in May wheat is down to 11,999,-000 bu, and in all futures is 130,895,-000 bu, or about 4,000,000 bu in excess of the visible supply.

Conditions Spotted.

Crop conditions in the southwest are spotted. Drought has been relieved in all sections but rains came too late to make a bumper crop. The wheat is heading in many sections, and dry weather would be welcomed. In the American and Canadian northwest, seeding is about completed, and moisture conditions are fairly satisfactory, but frequent rains are regarded as necessary throughout the season to make a big crop.

An oversold and bearish condition in wheat has been largely corrected by heavy covering, and prices are up around 6½c from the recent low, with net gains of 3¼@3⅜c for the week. May wheat in Chicago closed Saturday at $1.06, July $1.06⅝@1.06¾, September $1.09½@1.09⅝, and December $1.14⅝. Prices for the week follow:

Corn Has Good Recovery.

All deliveries of corn dropped below the 80c mark last week on realizing sales by holders combined with bear pressure. An oversold condition was created, the covering of which brought an advance of around 3@4c, with the finish at practically the top, recording net gains of 3@2⅞c. Prices are considered reasonable and country holders of corn take advantage of bulges to sell their grain to arrive, but the movement in all is not heavy and consumptive demand is good. Corn and all grains, however, are influenced to a considerable extent by the action of wheat and has no leaders.

At the close May was 80½c, July 81⅛@82c, September 83⅛@83¼c, and December 77⅛@77½c.

Northwestern cash handlers are shipping in their oats to deliver on May contracts and they are being taken largely by cash and industrial interests here. Cash premiums on No. 2 whites are the best of the season.

The open interest in oats is 18,125,-000 bu, of which 4,922,000 bu are in May. Sales of oat futures for the week were 5,919,000 bu, against 8,486,-000 bu the previous week, and 9,542,-000 bu last year.

AMER. BANKERS' ASSN. GROUP ON ECONOMIC POLICY GIVES REPORT

New York, May 18.—Serious economic disadvantages, especially the danger of inflation, are found by the economic policy commission of the American Bankers association in current proposals aimed at making it easier for members of the federal reserve system to borrow from their reserve banks.

These are offered as a remedy, says a report of the commission to be made public tomorrow, to overcome the difficulties under which many banks suffer because great shrinkages have occurred in recent years in credit instruments eligible for rediscounting or borrowing under the present rules.

The commission, taking up specifically the question of admitting instalment finance company paper, municipal issues and railroad bonds to federal reserve credit operations, declares that "such action might tend to make reserve credit less liquid throw its workings out of step with fundamental business changes and also increase the task of preventing the federal reserve system from being employed as a facility to inflation."

"Sound federal debt retirement policies have resulted in contraction in United States government securities of $4,400,000,000 in five years or almost 21 per cent," the report says in discussing the shrinkage in paper now eligible for borrowing or rediscounting.

The report then draws its conclusions:

"It would appear that the banks as a whole have no need for enlarged sources of eligible paper, since they are using so small a proportion of what they have at the federal reserve banks," the report says. "These general figures, however, do not reveal the important fact that these ample supplies are not evenly distributed. The country state banks appear to be especially deficient in eligible paper."

PURE OIL SHOWS $6,539,521 NET IN FISCAL YEAR

BY O. A. MATHER.

Although conditions in the petroleum industry have improved in the last month or two, there is little likelihood of any sharp price advances in either crude oil or refined products. This opinion is expressed by Henry M. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, in his annual report, issued last night.

For its fiscal year ended March 31, 1930, the company showed net earnings of $6,539,521 after all charges, which was equivalent after preferred dividends to $1.51 a share on 3,038,370 common shares of $25 par value. Net income for the preceding fiscal year was $11,224,081, or $3.05 a share. Surplus after dividends last year was $6,712, bringing total surplus to $6,921,092.

"The operating results are not indicative of the progress made by the company," Mr. Dawes says. "In the last three months of the fiscal year most adverse conditions existed in the industry generally. Prices for both finished and crude oils were abnormally low.

Cites Advance in Prices.

"Early in April, however, an advance was made in crude prices, which was followed by increases in the prices of finished products in certain sections. While it seems to be the general opinion that higher prices than those prevailing at present will be justified and maintained, it is not likely that an unduly higher range will be established."

The company's flush production in Oklahoma, Texas and Michigan has been curtailed but its potential production is larger than ever before, as also is the case with undeveloped property. Last year, the company discovered the Van field in Texas, now rated one of the major oil fields, and it controls the entire fields. The company also has developed the new Mount Pleasant field in Michigan, although only a limited drilling program has been carried out.

Foresees Change in Banking.

Expansion of the use of credit for speculation and investment in securities in recent years has changed the complexion of banking, according to a study of the situation made by the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company.

"Loans on securities by commercial banks during the last seven years outran commercial loans more than five to one and outdistanced deposits almost three to one," the bank says. "If this trend continues, it will involve changes in loaning technique, in bank policies and management, perhaps in the very structure of the American banking system.

Twins to Ownership.

"Loans on securities have made a serious business of expanding in the last seven years at the average annual rate of 16½ per cent. No further statistical demonstration should be required as to the process which commercial bankers have been forced to recognize, namely, that business is getting its money more from profits and the sale of securities and less on the old 60 to 90 day basis.

"An upward trend of secured loans will doubtless continue. The American pioneering spirit has turned again, after a trust busting era, to ownership in business."

Extension of Rediscounts Is Discussed

BY SCRUTATOR.

For some years there has been a constant effort to have the federal reserve banks extend the right of rediscount to types of paper which are not now held eligible.

The economic policy commission of the American Bankers' association, in a statement made public today, goes on record as opposing at this time any broadening of the eligibility requirements. It recommends further study before any steps are taken to make installment notes, municipal bonds or railroad bonds acceptable as collateral for loans at the reserve banks.

At present the reserve banks will accept as security from banks desiring loans only government bonds and short term paper growing out of commercial and agricultural production and trade. The commission states that this paper is sound because it is created by responsible bank customers and reinforced by the borrowing bank's indorsement.

Rises and Falls.

Moreover the commission members add that the volume of this paper rises and falls with seasonal changes in business, that it is inherently liquid or self-liquidating, and that the proceeds of sales at each turnover of goods furnish the means to pay off the debt to the reserve system. Thus the expansion and contraction of currency and credit are kept in step with actual business needs.

As for the argument that municipal and railroad bonds should be as good as government obligations for rediscount purposes, the commission replies that even government bonds are an anomaly; that they do not belong and were only admitted as a war finance measure. The implication is that it would be just as well to remove them from the list.

Opinion of Bankers.

On the question of installment paper, the banker's commission believes it has a number of bad features. One is that repayment does not depend on commerce directly, but is influenced by the ability of the purchaser of the goods to hold a job and have the money to pay for them even after they have deteriorated through use.

The commission recognizes that a number of banks, particularly those in smaller cities, are without sufficient eligible paper to give them the full benefits of the reserve system. These, as well as finance companies in the automobile and other fields, have been endeavoring to have the requirements broadened. The cool opinion of the bankers composing the commission is that such broadening would create a vast amount of credit, tending to inflation, and that this credit would not be automatically extinguished after it served the purpose for which it was created.

This disinclination to change, particularly as regards installment financing, may seem a matter of overcaution. It probably is typical of the banker viewpoint. Outsiders sometimes wonder why banks do not take over directly some part of the lucrative demand for consumer credit. The answer is that few bankers see that as a part of banking. They prefer to have paper that is going to make possible a sale rather than to take care of one already made. They have not yet been sold on the idea that credit for consumption is a legitimate need.

U. S. Electric Power Has Assets of $1,221,536,006

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—Total assets of the United States Electric Power corporation on Dec. 31, last, amounted to $1,221,536,006, giving effect to acquisition of more than 70 per cent of the stock in the Standard Power and Light corporation and the reorganization and recapitalization of the latter company and of the Standard Gas and Electric company this year.

In the first report since its formation on Sept. 10, 1929, and considering the transactions consummated on Jan. 7, 1930, with respect to the Standard companies, consolidated gross earnings of $172,762,748 are shown for 1929 by the United States Electric Power subsidiaries. Net earnings, after expenses and taxes, were $78,086,828, and total income $85,743,605.

The balance applicable for interest and dividends of the United States Electric Power corporation was $5,290,558. The consolidated statement gives the operating results of the subsidiary and affiliated companies for the full year 1929, adjusted to give effect to changes in capitalization of Jan. 7, 1930, and the net earnings from other sources of United States Electric Power corporation.

Capitalization of United States Electric Power corporation on April 30 consisted of 177,500 shares of $6 series convertible preferred stock, 2,000,000 shares of class A stock and 6,380,720 shares of common, all of no par value. In addition 10,480,720 shares of common stock are reserved for the exercise of stock purchase warrants at $25 a share on or before Jan. 2, 1940, and 710,000 shares are reserved for conversion of the preferred stock. The corporation has no bonds or debentures, but has outstanding $15,000,000 serial notes maturing in 1931.

Equal 42½ Cents Share.

The consolidated earnings, after allowing for present annual charges for interest on notes and for entire dividends on the preferred stock, were at the rate of about 42½ cents a share on the number of class A and common shares outstanding on Dec. 31, 1929.

Louis H. Seagrave, chairman of the board, describes in his report the acquisition of a 70 per cent interest in the Standard Power and Light company, holding company for the Standard Gas and Electric system, adding that United States Electric Power has other public utility holdings in the United States and foreign countries.

"The directors are giving consideration to plans for the elimination of certain senior securities," Mr. Seagrave says, "which plans, if consummated, will favorably affect earnings on the common stock. Although the corporation was formed but eight months ago, its common stock has wide distribution. On Feb. 25, 1930, when a record was taken for the annual meeting, there were 51,322 registered holders of common stock.

United States Electric Power corporation was organized by United Founders corporation, American Founders corporation, Hydro-Electric Securities corporation, Harris, Forbes & Co., and others. In February the Koppers company of Pittsburgh became one of the large stockholders.

WARNS AGAINST QUESTIONABLE STOCK TIPSTERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—The deflated holdings of inexperienced investors resulting from the stock market crash have revived the hopes of questionable promoters who sense a growing desire on the part of the gullible to recoup their losses by making a lucky strike in a speculative venture, according to James C. Auchincloss, president of the Better Business bureau of New York City and a governor of the New York Stock exchange, in the eighth annual report for the former institution.

"Before the crash in prices last fall," he says in the report, "the public was to a greater extent than ever before attracted to common stocks of the highest grade. They sought to find an Eldorado in blue chip stocks, which tended for a time to divert attention away from promotion of questionable issues.

COMMERCIAL CREDIT DEMANDS DECREASE, RESERVE BOARD SAYS

Washington, D. C., May 18.—(AP)—Demand for credit from commercial sources has decreased in the last two months while demand for credit from securities markets has increased, the federal reserve board said today in its monthly review of business conditions.

"During the last two months increased activity in the securities markets, a large volume of bond issues and—until the middle of April—a rising level of stock prices has been accompanied by an increase of more than $785,000,000 in brokers' loans at New York City," the board said.

"Loans and investments of member banks in leading cities, after reaching a low point at the end of February, increased in March and April by $750,000,000, reflecting growth in their security loans and in their investments while "all other" loans continuously declined."

The board said that indebtedness of member banks at reserve banks decreased by about $135,000,000 due to liquidation made possible by gold imports from the Orient and South America and inflow of currency from circulation.

Compared with a year ago, the board continued, the volume of credit extended by member banks is larger by about $450,000,000, but the volume of rediscounts with federal reserve banks has declined to $200,000,000, reaching the lowest level since 1917.

"The recent increase in member banks' loans," the board said, "has been altogether in the form of loans on securities to brokers and dealers at New York City. Available information for member banks in leading cities indicates other borrowers have been paying off their loans, both secured and unsecured, at a rapid rate since the end of last October and that during this period they have liquidated about $2,000,000,000 of such loans."

STOCK MARKET LULL REFLECTS PAUSE IN TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 18.—Last week may be described as a period of pause and hesitation in all markets. The shrinkage in stock exchange activities almost to the January level was only a symbol of what was happening in other directions.

In none of them has there been indication of cumulative reaction which would presently create awkward financial problems. The picture was merely that of reversion in consumption, production, and distribution to a general level somewhat below the probable normal and much below the highly stimulated pace of 1929. In most respects it conformed entirely to the economic principles taught by all past experience.

Always Surprising.

Reactions of this character always cause surprise because they always, and for the best of reasons, come in immediate sequence to an unprecedentedly active and profitable period in finance and industry.

This is invariably referred to at such times as an uncomprehensible mystery. But it is the nature of such periods to create the idea that nothing in the way of unsound financial practice could stop the forward movement; in the present instance, that the altered policies pursued by industry, combined with the great wealth of the American consuming community and the safeguards provided by the federal reserve, had for the future rendered impossible the former alterations of depression. No doubt,

Personal LOAN & SAVINGS Bank

A State Bank Established 1917 — 3 Million Invested Capital

A million dollar Bank—doing SMALL things BIG

Interpreting the Facts of Finance to the Many

For so many years finance was a mystery to the great majority. It seemed to imply that a man or woman needed a special education to brave its technicalities. Methods of presenting information were miserably inadequate.

So it was that few ventured and the most general type of investment that found public favor amounted merely to a loan on property that could be seen.

As the nation grew and business became bigger, there was need for a new type of investment banker—for banking houses that could finance sound situations and provide the capital for expansion.

Such an investment house, actually a working part of the business being financed, could go to the public and say: "We know this business, its management, its policies, its plans, we have purchased its securities—we recommend them." Investment houses of this type bridged the gap of mystery and doubt. They built up organizations of financial specialists and translated technicalities into simple straightforward facts.

And in so doing they opened the way for the present security market made up of over twenty millions of men and women.

Albert E. Peirce & Co. is such a house. It serves industry and the investor intimately. It translates investment situations to the public, divides the type of security into small units so that all may buy and in so serving has grown rapidly—now serving the nation through offices in eleven major financial centers.

WEEK'S TRADE IN WHOLESALE LINES MIDDLING

Weather Boosts Sales First Two Days.

BY HOWARD CARSWELL.

Wholesale trade in mercantile lines in the Chicago market last week was of middling proportions, according to advices. While business volume was generally reported to have been none too good, yet spokesmen for prominent houses of the wholesale district said that business was as good as had been expected.

Agreeable weather quickened sales early in the week, especially on Monday and Tuesday. In a business so responsive to seasonable weather, the sundry lines of ready to wear and mercantile goods picked up noticeably, both in city sales and country sales. Since retail merchants continue to operate on low inventories, the promise of sunshiny and warm weather caused a noticeable rush to fill up depleted stocks of the seasonable ready made lines.

According to one prominent figure in the Chicago wholesale market, first quarter volume has been off at least 10 per cent from the corresponding period of 1929, both in the wholesale and manufacturing. The 10 per cent, he said, was a conservative estimate. However, it was pointed out, comparison of the first quarter business this year with that of 1928, rather than for 1929, would be more fair, since the first three or four months of 1929 witnessed an abnormally prosperous business in all lines of distribution.

The low prices of commodities generally have likewise affected wholesale prices, cutting into the wholesalers' profits. So far this year the wholesale trade has failed to get its usual margin of profit because of the general depression in wholesale prices.

A slow recovery, accelerating week by week during the summer months and early fall, is expected in the wholesale market. The "back to normalcy," in dollar volume and profits, will be a matter of several months, according to the one spokesman.

American Sugar Refining.

I would like your opinion of the American Sugar Refining company's common stock, with special reference to capital structure and the probability that dividends will be maintained at the present rate. M. M. H.

American Sugar Refining company is the leading factor in the sugar refining industry, its capacity being nearly one-third of the total for the United States. Modern and well equipped refineries are operated in Brooklyn, Philadelphia, South Boston, New Orleans, and Baltimore. The company also holds interest in twelve beet sugar factories. Plantations, which it owns in Cuba, furnish about 13 per cent of the company's raw sugar requirements.

Larger volume turned out by its refineries last year and a small profit realized on the sale of investments enabled the company to report earnings last year slightly above those for 1928. Earnings in the last few years have fluctuated rather widely.

Net income in 1929 was $6,645,804, against $6,568,611 a year before, and were equal, after preferred dividends, to $7.77 per share on 450,000 common shares [par $100]. Earnings in 1928 were $7.60 per share on a like number of common shares.

Current assets were $66,545,819, and current liabilities were $8,636,429 as of Dec. 31, 1929. This left a net working capital of $57,909,090, against $59,769,323 at the end of 1928.

The balance sheet, as of Dec. 31, 1929, showed 450,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred [par $100] and a funded debt of $23,961,000 outstanding in addition to the common stock.

The preferred is fairly high grade. The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

St. Joseph Lead.

I would appreciate very much your opinion of St. Joe Lead, quoted on New York exchange. K. N. R.

St. Joseph Lead company, one of the three largest lead producers, operates mainly in southeastern Missouri. Earnings in past years have varied considerably in sympathy with fluctuations in the price of lead. Dividends have been regularly paid each year for many years. The present rate is $3 regular, plus $1 extra, per year.

Current earnings are reported to be lower than a year ago, due to lower prices for lead. Earnings in 1929 were $3.83 per share, against $2.30 the year before. The stock deserves a fair rating.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Josephine Cushing who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey puts her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and knows she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. She denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Catherine and Miss Cushing call on Mme. Bender's doctor and they ask him to suggest a vacation to Jeanne.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

RESENTMENT.

Had the doctor been successful? A thrill of anticipation shot through her as she told herself she would soon know the result.

On the table in the entrance hall several letters were awaiting her, one bearing an English stamp and writing she recognized as Claire Hardwicke's. Going into the study, she curled herself up in the big chair and was speedily engrossed in her correspondence.

Claire was upbraiding her for her defection. What was all this nonsense about a sense of responsibility towards Mme. Bender? The latter was little more than a stranger, and till recently had got on very well, indeed, without her supervision. Florence would be lovely in May. Jim meant to buy a little sport car and they were going to tour about the adjacent villages, working their way south.

The picture was an alluring one. Catherine put down the closely written pages and gave herself up to dreams of what she was going to miss. Then she realized that she was not quite so regretful as she had expected to be. Was it because Paris held some one whose companionship had grown steadily more agreeable than she cared to admit? She blushed at the thought. Geoffrey Macadam had never given her a single look which she could construe in terms other than those of impersonal friendship. Possibly he was beginning to regard her as a bit of a nuisance, what with her continued worries, real or imagined. He was wonderfully good about it all, but really she was making a great deal of trouble for him. . . .

Padded footsteps, probably those of Eduardo, passed by the door, lingered

"What exactly is it you wish to say, Jeanne? You may as well be frank about it."

a moment, then receded again. She listened mechanically, but thought little of the circumstance till, on issuing from the study, she spied on the table a solitary white envelope, addressed to herself. That was odd—there was no post at this hour, nor had she heard the concierge's customary knock. She wondered still more when she saw in the corner the printed heading of Macadam and Langtree. The round yet crabbed writing was unfamiliar. Glancing quickly at the signature she learned that the communication was from the senior solicitor.

So the old man had lost no time in writing to her! She felt a sudden qualm of misgiving.

In the seclusion of her own room she ran through the contents twice. Tactfully worded, it gave no hint that its author had anything other than her own interests at heart, yet the meaning was plain. When she had finished the second reading she drew a deep breath and sat rigidly regarding the sheet with a smile that was slightly grim.

Here was an unexpected turn of events, not a pleasant one, either. Sensibly, convincingly and in no uncertain terms, Mr. Macadam was urging her to go away. What was this he said about unintentionally promoting discord? The phrase puzzled her. Then all at once she understood! Jeanne had been at him with her own version of things. This letter was composed after his talk with her.

"It really is rather funny! Here am I working hard to oust her, while she is equally determined to oust me. Mr. Macadam is the referee, and at the present stage of the game he's inclined to take her side. Which of us is going to win?"

She picked up the envelope and fingered it curiously. The flap had come open with surprising readiness, and now she noticed that the gum on it was slightly moist. Did that mean it had been secretly opened? If so, that fact would explain why the letter had not been with the others when she came in. Eduardo understood English. No doubt he and Jeanne had been anxious to find out how matters stood. Once more she recalled her telephone conversation of the morning, and her impression that some one was listening. Wheels within wheels . . . what was it all about?

"Yet they can't have any suspicion that I was spying on them last night when Blom was here. Why all this scheming to get rid of me? What have I done to make them afraid?"

For that they were afraid of her she had now little doubt. They must be apprehensive about those missing pictures, dreading lest she bring an accusation against them. She could think of no other reason for their actions.

Pondering this she changed slowly into another frock, still annoyed and a little resentful over the old lawyer's attitude towards her, and was in the act of brushing her hair before the glass when a tap on the door jarred on her reflections. In answer to her "Entrez!" Jeanne came in.

The maid's manner was quietly respectful. She paused a second in the doorway, then crossing, laid a package wrapped in white paper upon the bed.

"The laundress has just brought mademoiselle's linen. Perhaps mademoiselle will glance through the list to see that everything has been returned."

"Thank you, Jeanne."

Putting down the brush, Catherine undid the parcel and ran over the neat pile of clothing inside it—a combination and a crêpe de chine nightgown, both beautifully pleated, a lace bodice, a sheaf of handkerchiefs. As she examined the articles she was uncomfortably aware of the woman's lingering gaze. There was a tentative quality about it as though the owner had something on her mind.

"Do you want anything, Jeanne?"

"Only this, mademoiselle. I trust you were not wounded by what occurred this morning. I am afraid it is the sort of thing one has to be prepared for. Madame is apt to be like that," she added with an air faintly conciliatory.

"You need not bother, Jeanne, I quite understand," replied the girl evenly, masking her surprise.

Still the maid was not satisfied. She hung about, smoothing the creases from the bed cover and folding up the paper in which the laundry had come.

Catherine faced her squarely.

"What exactly is it you wish to say, Jeanne? You may as well be frank about it."

"Well, mademoiselle, I have been thinking it might be safer if you did not attempt to see madame for a little. No doubt madame's dislike of you will pass in time, but while it continues is it best to annoy her?"

She finished with a significant glance which brought the blood into Catherine's cheeks. Still one could not afford to get angry, thinking which, the girl replied with composure, "You may be right. At all events I shall not force myself upon madame."

"Ah, I see that you understand, mademoiselle! Naturally it is painful for me to mention this, but after all it cannot inconvenience you long, since in all probability your stay is nearly at an end. No doubt you will soon be proceeding with your tour?"

So it was this the woman wanted to find out! Not a word of what Girard must surely have said to her half an hour ago, only the scarcely veiled suggestion that the visitor was to take her departure.

Rapidly it dawned on Catherine that here was the turning point. She must decide once and for all whether she was to stick to her guns or leave her cousin to this jealous guardian who brooked no interference with her rule.

Good Morning!

"The Second Floor Mystery" is an adaptation of Earl Derr Biggers' story "The Agony Column," which details exciting events attendant on the discovery by a man of a maid and vice versa while both are breakfasting in a London hotel dining room and reading the "personal" or "agony" column in a London daily.

You are kept fairly well mystified and interested by things that happen, and, as a matter of fact, are in the dark regarding several questions till the director gets ready to tell secrets. But you're not electrically mystified nor interested. The delicious spine-tingle never once visits you and gooseflesh is disappointingly noticeable by its absence. You don't know—and you don't particularly care, somehow. (Till those last reels start unreeling—then you're tired.)

Anyhow that was my reaction.

Acting, sets, scenery and recording are all well enough and you will enjoy seeing Grant Withers and his bride, Loretta Young, together on the screen for the first time since their exciting elopement. (Rumor says they're very happy; live in one of the most charmingly furnished apartments in Hollywood and have received the blessing of Loretta's mamma.)

QUALITY: Most ordinary.
PHOTOGRAPHY: All right.
AUDIENCE APPEAL: For the discriminating audience—none at all.
SOUND: Excellent.
REMARKS: I think the fault here lies in the adaptation of story to screen. Mr. Rohmer is always worth reading.

Cardinal Dedicates New Cicero Church; Other Ceremonies

Cardinal Mundelein yesterday officiated at the special services dedicating the Mary Queen of Heaven Roman Catholic church in Cicero. The dedicatory services were followed by a solemn high mass sung by the Very Rev. Msgr. James J. Horsburgh, assisted by Fathers Tony and Kearns. The sermon was given by the Rev. T. E. O'Shea of Visitation church.

The St. John Presbyterian church, Harrison street and Hoyne avenue, will be delegated by its Italian congregation with a week's celebration to close next Sunday. The Rev. Pasquale de Carlo is pastor. Other Presbyterian churches and prominent Italians are to participate in the services.

Princeton Professor Calls Russian Church a Cause of Revolts

Sovietism and the Russian revolt against religion was described by Dr. Robert R. Wicks of Princeton before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall.

"The soviet leaders," he said, "gained the impression that talk about happiness in Heaven simply was a sop to make people contented with bad conditions of living.

"First of all, there was a revolt from false supernaturalism in religion. In all these centuries, those masses never were really weaned away from paganism. The brilliant ceremonies kept the people in awe, but today the peasants are being told that if they want crops, they should abandon this church magic and learn modern methods of agriculture.

"If they want health, they now are told, they had better consult a physician and mind the laws of sanitation.

"By learning and submitting ourselves to the laws of the physical order, we are submitting ourselves to the way God has arranged His universe to work. And the physical universe will work in no other way.

"It gives one more respect for God to think that he works through this marvelous order of law, instead of by fits and starts of magic which no one could rely upon," Dr. Wicks added.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, May 18.—The conversations in Berlin during the last week between Adolph Zukor, president of the Paramount-Famous Players-Lasky corporation and representatives of the world patent groups controlling sound recording and movie projecting apparatus have developed a situation which presages an early truce between the warring factions. As a result it is predicted that the German market soon will be available for unfettered exploitation of American talking and sound productions. Mr. Zukor said he believed that when the conversations were resumed in Switzerland next month a complete understanding would be reached on interchanging pictures and machines throughout the world in a definite international patent truce. It was learned that an executive representative of the Western Electric company would participate in the meeting in Switzerland.

Chicagoan Gives to Memorial

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

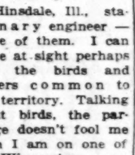
The Question.

Do you know flowers by names and birds by their calls?

The Answers.

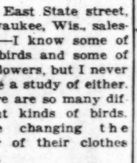
Miss Helen Manville, Great Northern hotel, real estate—I am quite well acquainted both with flowers and birds, because I am a lover of nature and spend much time out of doors. A few years ago I lived in a western suburb, and often took my car for a trip through the country.

John J. Berg, Hinsdale, Ill., stationary engineer—Some of them. I can name at sight perhaps half the birds and flowers common to this territory. Talking about birds, the partridge doesn't fool me when I am on one of my hunting trips in Wisconsin.



Miss Sophie Levin, 1443 South Clifton Park avenue, saleswoman—I know most of the flowers by name. I love flowers. I know little about birds. Birds are evasive; most of them are seasonal, and seem to be afraid of us.

M. O. Keefe, 181 East State street, Milwaukee, Wis., salesman—I know some of the birds and some of the flowers, but I never made a study of either. There are so many different kinds of birds, some changing the color of their clothes at different seasons.



Miss Athalea FitzGerald, 5550 Kenmore avenue, stenographer—I know the names of several flowers. I wouldn't call a rose by some other name. I have so often wished that I knew more flowers by name, both cultivated and wild. I have had little chance to know birds.

World's Fair Days Recalled to Mothers at Luncheon

Styles and customs of thirty-seven years ago were in evidence yesterday at the Auditorium hotel. There the Catholic Daughters of America gave their mothers a luncheon in the manner of the days of the Columbian exposition. The guests danced and sang "After the Ball," "Daisy Belle," and "Two Little Girls in Blue."

Staff Is Getting Camp Set for Tenement Kids

Algonquin Soon to Open for New Season.

After two weeks of hot soap suds, energetic dusting and garden making, Camp Algonquin was almost ready yesterday for the summer's avalanche of boarders. There is still some patching to be done, but Mrs. Astrid Save, camp superintendent, and her faithful women assistants have completed the soap and water ritual.

Cleaning up the green shingled buildings of THE TRIBUNE camp for Chicago's underprivileged will be the sum total of expansion activities this year, Mrs. Save said. There is no money for a new swimming pool, with heated water, an all year dormitory, a linen closet, new mattresses, and a score of smaller comforts for the camp's 1,800 visitors.

But as if to compensate for the lack of other things, nature is doing her best this spring to make the playground more alluring than ever. A late spring will reserve for the first campers in June, full foliage and thickets matted with undergrowth, sheltering small wild animals.

The mothers who will leave for camp with their younger children before the older ones are out of school will find wild flowers and they will go to sleep in early evening listening to the songs of birds. In the open air nursery, perched on the side of the hill that slopes down to the Fox river's edge, babies will grow healthy in early summer's sunshine and quiet. That and more will greet the first 180 when the camp trucks take them to the health haven at the opening of Algonquin's twenty-second season.

And here is just a reminder to the loyal friends and TRIBUNE readers who have contributed in the past, that the Algonquin fund is welcoming gifts again. So checks are welcome, big ones and little ones. They should be addressed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

THE STAGE

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD had a second Chicago première in the comedy called "Mebbe" last night, this time at the Studebaker. The fact that she left the [illegible] only eight days ago makes comment unnecessary. Bryant Washburn and the others who came with Miss Greenwood from California are still active in "Mebbe."

Richard Bennett will begin an engagement [possibly a summer run] at the Harris theater this evening in "Solid South," a comedy which deals with southern ideals in an ironical manner. The author, Lawton Campbell, announces that the character played by Mr. Bennett is patterned after his own grandfather.

"Your Uncle Dudley" announces the final fortnight of its run at the Playhouse. The engagement will end May 31. This comedy will then have a record of seventeen weeks in Chicago [including the few it spent at the Cort], and will rank right up among the long run pieces of the season.

A series of eight lectures upon the drama and methods of stagecraft will be given at the Goodman theater next season for subscribers to the repertory program. These educational sessions will take place on the afternoons of the second Thursdays of each production.

"These talks will be given by executives of the theater and the heads of its technical departments. Thomas Wood Stevens, Whitford Kane, and Hubert Osborne will speak as stage directors; Leonard Barker as stage manager; Leslie Marzolf as scene designer, and Arvid Crandall as expert on lighting. Several of the lectures will be accompanied by demonstrations on the stage.

"The lectures will form a part of an 'extension program' for the subscribers. As an art theater, the Goodman aims not only to produce plays of distinguished merit, but also to create a broader and keener interest in the technical aspects of the drama."

Katharine Cornell will end her New York engagement in "Dishonored Lady" next Saturday night. She will spend the summer in California, will put this play into performance there about Aug. 1, and will tour eastward. This plan should bring her to Chicago in the autumn.

Margaret Anglin and Margaret Wycherly, noted actresses who have been inactive lately, will return to the footlights this summer in a repertory theater experiment to be started at Woodstock, N. Y., by the group called "The Maverick Colony." Miss Anglin will appear in Ibsen's "Lady Inger," and Miss Wycherly in a new play. The Woodstock program also includes "Flora," by Arnold Bennett; "Signora Morli, Ltd.," by Pirandello, and "Key Large," by Katherine Klugston.

This week's program of vaudeville at the Palace theater contains Ilse Marvenga, recently seen here in the revival of "Naughty Marietta," and Cortez and Peggy, who danced in "Nina Rosa." The prize winning play of the little theater tournament at the Goodman, called "The Tenth Man," will be acted by its original cast of Institute Guild players. Nevertheless, a certain Ben Blue, comedian and dancer, is the "headliner."

The Dramatic League of Chicago has added to the list of plays from which its next season's program will be chosen a piece called "Here Comes the Bride," current in London. It has also taken an option on a new comedy (probably unfinished) by St. John G. Ervine, author of "The First Mrs. Fraser."

"The Demi-God," announced as an original three act drama, will be given by the Uptown Players in the Chicago Woman's club theater on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights of this week. The announcement does not name the author. This group of little theater folk were winners of the Drama league contest in 1929.

'Share Hobbies with Your Sons,' Fathers Told

Churches Turn Advice to Older Generation.

Parents were asked yesterday to develop a greater comradeship with their sons by understanding their ambitions and helping them to win opportunities to realize the greatest success. The plea was made during observance of Boys' day in religion, a part of the Chicago Boys' week program. More than 100,000 boys heard themselves praised in Chicago churches as the appeal was made to parents.

The services were conducted especially in behalf of under privileged boys at the suggestion of the committee on religious observance of the Boys' Week federation.

The committee members are the Rev. Daniel F. Cunningham, representing the Roman Catholic church committee; Dean Shailer Matthews, president of the Church Federation, Protestant Churches, and Dr. Felix A. Levy of the Rabbinical association.

"I have been intimately associated with boys for nearly a half century." Coach A. A. Stagg of the University of Chicago said in the Sheridan Road Methodist Episcopal church. "It is my firm belief that boys are finer than ever. They are ambitious, determined to succeed, keen in mind, rugged of body and wholesome of character.

"Times have changed and the heroic quality of pioneering in a new land developed has to be developed in a different way. But it is gratifying to note that the softness and flabbiness which prosperity and ease are so likely to develop haven't made any noticeable inroads on our American youth. The youth of today is not irreligious. It is interested in the fruits of religion, such as fairplay, teamwork, good sportsmanship and a helping hand more than in the differences of doctrine."

In many churches juvenile court statistics were presented as an indication of the "infection centers" of crime among boys. These were furnished by the Rev. J. H. Hagerty. He is representative of the Chicago Church Federation in the juvenile home. Factors stressed as contributing to juvenile delinquency were broken homes, over crowded homes, gangs, cheap movies, vacant buildings, stealing cars and hitch hiking.

The Rev. William E. Hill, who preached in the Harvard Congregational church of Oak Park, said a hobby is one of the best connecting links between father and son.

"Parents must coöperate with the churches, the schools, Boy Scouts and like movements to see that boys get the most out of their leisure time," he said. "No finer companionship can be formed than that between a father and a son having something in common such as sports or intellectual pursuits. Parents should make every effort to understand their sons and aid them to success."

WIDER HATS, PLUMES ADDED TO EDICT ON BANISHING KNEES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—What the dress designers have done to skirts is now well known to an astonished world, but the concealment of knees and ankles has caused no more amazement in Europe than the widening of those chic little felt hats.

Shows in London on the eve of the ultra fashionable Ascot week, which is to England what Longchamps is to France, have produced parades of mannequins wearing hats of great scope, many drooping beyond the shoulders and some outfitted with ostrich feathers such as followed the first part of the century into oblivion with the war.

With the change has come the banishment of felt for women's headwear. Muslins of black and white, trimmed with long ribbons and, actually, rosebuds, make far more demure decoration than the sophisticated little affairs worn only a few weeks ago with the best of taste.

Obviously the style masters, having created a woman of long willowy lines wearing long skirts, have been forced to synchronize the lines of her hats and they have gone so far that bustles might not be out of place so thoroughly have the Victorian models been brought to life. Some of them

Ellen Stuart and G. A. Poole Jr. Are Engaged

BY THALIA

...r. and Mrs. John Stuart of Hubbard Woods announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen, to George A. ...le Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George ... Poole of 221 East Walton place.

...iss Stuart is a graduate of Farmington, and has been a popular and active member among her contemporaries since her debut several years ago. She came out in the same season as Elliot Borden, who is now Mrs. ...ald E. Stevenson, Glee Louise ..., who was married last year to ...ore" Wright, Mary Louise Fen... and Ruth Elting.

Mr. Poole is one of this year's graduates of Yale, and has, if I'm not mistaken, distinguished himself with an enviable scholastic record. The wedding is to take place in the fall, but the definite date has not been announced.

Miss Stuart and her mother are to sail on May 30 for Europe, to be gone until Aug. 1, and will not go to Charlevoix this year, as is their usual custom. Miss Stuart's older sister, the former Joan Stuart, was married last year to Barrett Scudder.

The North Shore Music festival, to open this evening at Patten gymnasium in Evanston, is annually one of the gala social as well as musical events on the north shore. Many of the boxholders are to give dinner parties for their box guests before the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Rew will have with them their daughters, Miss Theodora and Miss Ada Rew, and Dr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Goodspeed. Louis B. Lippenheimer is to give a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. J. G. Becker, and Mrs. I. K. Friedman, afterwards taking them to the festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. McNamara, Mrs. Thomas I. Stacey, Parke E. Simmons and his sister, Mrs. N. S. Given, are others who are to have box parties.

Most of the Chicagoans who have been active in the organization and support of the new Black Horse troop will be present this evening at the Chicago Riding club to see the first full dress drill of that troop.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Needlework and Textile guild is to be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock in gallery 34 of the Art institute.

Mrs. Francis J. Johnson and Mrs. William A. Yager are to be joint hostesses at the weekly luncheon meeting of the opera box committee on Wednesday at the Casino.

The annual choir concert and dance held under the auspices of the Christ Church choir guild is to take place at the Winnetka Woman's club next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The committee in charge of the arrangements includes Mrs. J. Williams Macey, chairman; Mrs. Sherman Aldrich, Mrs. Robert B. Brown, Mrs. Justus Chancellor, Mrs. Raymond Durham, Mrs. Frederick A. De Peyster, Mrs. Oliver S. Hagerman, Mrs. Gilbert Kerbaw, and Mrs. William Jones Smith.

Sub-debs who will serve as assisting hostesses will be Dorothy Gerhard, Betty Gillies, Lenora Tiegens, Lucy Trumbull, Antoinette Brown, Grace Smith, Frances Bell, Anna Horne, Rosemary Ellison, and Mary Alice Cochran.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull are back in town and have opened their place at Libertyville. Mrs. Insull has been in Florida and the east for several months, and Mr. Insull is just returned from a European trip.

Mrs. Peter Dudley, whose long visit in Chicago this winter has been somewhat marred by an enforced rest at Passavant hospital because of an automobile accident, sails this week to spend the summer in France. She plans to return to Chicago in October.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell has returned from a spring trip to Europe and is staying at the Pearson hotel for a while before returning east.

ART SHOW STIRS DESIRE TO TRAVEL TO FAR OFF ROCKIES

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

One of the most beautiful exhibitions just now is that of paintings by Edgar Alwin Payne in the art salon of the Illinois Women's Athletic club. The artist has divided his interest between French fishing boats with variegated sails and scenes high in the mountains where blue lakes lie like gems in the lap of rocky peaks.

There is no cure here for the urge to travel which ordinarily overtakes one's soul in the spring of the year. On the contrary, these paintings are an incitement to wipe the dust of home from one's feet and to be off for the ends of the earth. The grandeur and beauty of the Canadian Rockies, that marvelous country which boasts Lake Louise and a hundred other lakes similar in character, were never more frankly or graciously revealed than they are by Mr. Payne. He paints the rugged brown slopes, ridged, half blanketed with snow.

From the west he transports us quickly to the romantic little harbors of France and Italy. There, in the "Harbor of Chioggia," are sailing vessels, one with sails of cream and another with sails of orange, their hulls dark and banded in olive green, riding at anchor on water that is as colorful as they, with green shadows flitting through its deeper blue. "Off Concarneau" is another glorius painting of blue sky and water with soft white clouds drifting along the horizon and sailing boats like gypsies dotting the foreground.

"Montresor, France," varies the two distinct themes which control the exhibit. It is a very lovely painting of a romantic castle by a slow canal, the water full of shadowy reflections from the trees that bank the building and flank the canal's winding channel. A few delightful little paintings in tempora conclude the exhibit, leaving one with the impression that he has enjoyed one of the most romantic and picturesque and well painted groups of canvases a one man show has yielded in some time.

The exhibition will continue another two weeks.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 18.—[Special.]—Miss Mary Virginia Carey of Chicago and Miss Ruth Gardner of Quincy, Ill., were among the attendants at the wedding yesterday of Miss Eleanor Maria Chamberlain, daughter of Col. Weston Percival Chamberlain and Ensign Earl Kendall Swearingen, U. S. N. The ceremony took place in Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral, Canon Freeland Peter officiating. Miss Phyllis Wigand of New York was the other bridesmaid. The bride's gown was of ivory moire made in the new flaring fashion, with a jacket of silver with long fitted sleeves, and a veil of tulle. The navy colors were carried out in the decorations.

The secretary of commerce and Mrs R. P. Lamont have out invitations for dinner for Monday, May 26.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Wait a While.

"Dear Miss Blake: Would you advise a girl of 16 to go out with a fellow she does not like?. PUZZLED."

You have plenty of time to go out with boys, so I'd advise waiting until you find one who meets with your approval.

How Rehearsal Presents Lively 'Gondoliers'

BY EDWARD MOORE.

What amounted to a first performance of "The Gondoliers," though given before an invited audience, took place at the Civic theater yesterday. Technically a dress rehearsal, it was still well enough in form to give a tolerably accurate idea of what audiences may expect, beginning tonight and through the two or three weeks to come.

It is without doubt one of the gayest of all the Gilbert and Sullivan output. Gilbert never exerted himself more effectively to make clever and biting fun; Sullivan never wrote more entrancing operetta music. When you go you will find something of a climax in the second act, where the company is exhorted to dance the cachuca, fandango, bolero, a flash of color, and tunes for the principals, chorus, and ballet. Whichever dance it turns out to be—Gilbert was a little vague here—you will be wanting to dance, and you will not be able to keep from humming the tune for hours afterward. That is the kind of number it is.

The piece is put on with a good deal of manner. The scenic equipment is the best of the career of the Civic Opera company's operetta career, there is an entirely competent set of principals, and a chorus that sings in a way to enliven the heart and disposes itself in groupings that gladden the eye. It is quite evident that Conductor St. Leger and Stage Director Jones have gone beneath the surface in their preparation for this piece, and they have never worked more effectively.

The list of principals is long and generally good. Among the prominent figures one thinks of Margery Maxwell, a delightful singer and a delight in all other respects, as Casilda; of Barre Hill, another excellent singer and rather unexpectedly romantic as Luiz; of Charles Kullman and Bertram Peacock as the two principal gondoliers, who become joint kings of Barataria, and Hilda Burke and Lorna Doone Jackson, as their wives—Miss Jackson made a star part out of her rôle—of Mark Daniels, as the grand inquisitor, who has an expert knowledge of how to project a comic rôle of this sort. William Scholtz and Constance Eberhart, as the Duke and Duchess of Plaza Toro, were good singers, but not quite overwhelming enough in their grandeur of manner. Miss Burke is to divide her rôle with Lois Johnston during the run of the piece.

Several concerts of varying types were given yesterday. Edward Collins, pianist, was at the Playhouse, an artist whose extremely competent hands and brain are almost without exception the occasion of something interesting to be said through the medium of music. Whether it was Brahms, Chopin, or one of his own compositions, he revealed himself anew as one of the leaders among the Chicago pianists.

Svetozar Banovec, concert and operatic tenor from the Royal Opera of Ljubljana, Jugo-Slavia, gave a recital at Orchestra hall, revealing a lyric voice with a thrilling top to it, and the manner of an accomplished and experienced artist. He was assisted by Jasna Blafka Bjankini, accompanist, and a brilliant solo pianist.

Enrico Clausi, another tenor but belonging to the Italian school, appeared at the Studebaker. A light but suave and effective voice, good knowledge of the English language and of course of Italian, were counted among his assets. His assistant was Giovanna Siragusa, an excellent soprano.

Nell Hunter, mezzo-soprano, gave her recital at Kimball hall under the auspices of Lambda chapter of Delta Sigma Theta. Recently returned from Europe, she showed the effects of good training and the ability to absorb the same. Some Brahms songs were given a first class performance, as were some works of the old English school.

In the evening the Skalski orchestra appeared at the Bismarck hotel, being, as was previously announced, a genuine concerted effort to establish summer symphony activity in Chicago. André Skalski appeared as conductor and piano soloist, Michel Wilkomirski was the violin soloist, and the Stetson Male quartet sang with the orchestra.

BETROTHED

[Mabel Sykes Photo.]

Mrs. Anne Kelsey of the Orrington hotel, Evanston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth, to Dr. L. Willis Strong Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. L. Willis Strong of Wilmette. Miss Kelsey attended Northwestern university and the National College of Education, and is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Dr. Strong was graduated from the Northwestern school of dentistry and is a member of Sigma Chi and Delta Sigma Delta fraternities. The wedding is to take place this summer.

Wife Likes Film Romeos; Hubby Falls for Nearby Peaches

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My wife, God love her, is always chiding me for the natural and healthy interest I show whenever we see a beautiful girl or woman in public. Then, she takes me to see the supremely silly asses of the screen make love. She thinks these foolish looking and worse acting lovers of the films are wonderful. [Incidentally, why do the movie actors act so darn silly in their love making?] The girls act more sensibly.

"But to get back to the original plaint, is that giving a guy a fair break? If she likes to look at movie actors, well, why shouldn't I be let to enjoy the looks of the beautiful women on the streets? J. WHITE."

Well, of course, J. White, a beautiful girl on the street comes closer to being a menace to domestic happiness than a screen idol, don't you think? Maybe now, if you would let a continent lie between you and the objects of your admiration, as your wife does, there wouldn't be any argument. And you'd get an even break.

Beautiful girls in Hollywood are far away and your wife wouldn't be disturbed did you pick them for your ravings. The chances are one hundred to one that you'll never meet them in the flesh. It's the flesh and blood competition that wives fear. That beautiful girl your eyes were chasing yesterday might just turn out to be a next door tenant.

I really would suggest that you adopt a Garbo or a Del Rio or a Nancy Carroll for your out loud ravings. Think what you will about the girls you pass on the street. The others are safer for conversation with your wife.

But how about this prejudice against our Barrymore and Powells and Barthelmess? I suppose you don't even like Rudy Vallee's love croons? How about giving us girls a break, too? Why not let us indulge our passion for dream romance? Why be like all the other boys—resentful of the Valentinos who make love as ladies dream love should be made?

Flower Guild on Job Again Bringing Blooms to Hospitals

Members of the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild, an organization which distributes garden products in hospital wards and social settlements to cheer the sick and disconsolate, will resume its work this morning.

Other booths to be opened during the week are at the Peoples Gas Light and Coke building, Randolph street station of the Illinois Central, La Salle street station, Chicago, Aurora and Elgin terminal, and Union station. Booths will be open daily from 7:30 to 11 a. m.

Chicago Musical College in Annual Contest for Prizes

Artist pupils of several departments of the Chicago Musical college gathered at Orchestra hall on Saturday night in the annual competition for prizes and scholarships. The contest, which ran until nearly midnight, resulted in Alexander Tevsner being awarded first place in the violinists' class, of Ralph Richard being granted a grand piano, and of Wanda Paul in the postgraduate class likewise winning a grand piano.

BOTTLE RAIDS BY DRY AGENTS ARE ORDERED HALTED

Fear Public Finds Them Too Amusing.

Chicago prohibition agents will make no more "bottle and barrel" raids and will confine themselves to actual liquor violations in the future, the word has gone out from the federal building. Reports yesterday were that the dry crew under command of Administrator E. C. Yellowley has been admonished to "seek stills, not glass factories."

"Loop speakeasies are running full blast and about every other soft drink parlor in the metropolitan area is a gin mill, but ever since the United States Supreme court banned home brew utensils dry agents have been dashing about demanding search warrants for every store that has a window display of bottle caps and malt cans. That couldn't go on—it's a joke."

Joe Grein Arrested.

Former City Sealer Joe Grein, rated a "big dealer" in the business of vending malt, hops, bottles and caps, was arrested May 8 and charged before United States Commissioner Walker with illegally selling beer ingredients and bottling supplies. The Grein shop is at 210 West Madison street. With his partner, J. Pahls, and two employés, Harry Gould and Clarence Widener, Grein is at liberty in bonds of $1,000.

It was because of the rumpus kicked up over the Grein case that the order is said to have been sent out. Grein announced last Tuesday that he had retained Attorney Clarence S. Darrow as chief of his defense counsel, and he will be associated with Capt. William F. Waugh, former assistant United States attorney and a lawyer credited with knowing the ins and outs of the Volstead law.

Wants Case to Be Tried.

The same official who commented on the admonishment of the dry agents also had something to say about the Grein case.

"It's plain," he said, "that Joe wants this case of his to carry a lot of 'hoop-la' and much fun to be poked at the prohibition law and those who enforce this 'bottle and keg' ruling. The government here isn't quite ready to start another Scopes trial yet."

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Time for Reflection

Lighter Things of Radio Gain Sunday Vogue

But the Broadcasts by Churches Continue.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Sunday radio programs show a tendency toward entertainment of a lighter nature. Of course there is baseball in the afternoon and church broadcasts morning and evening. Otherwise musical and oral entertainment of a light character is the order.

The Beethoven program, W-G-N, 8:45 to 9:15, was a treat to old fashioned music lovers, and I am sure it was enjoyed by the entire miscellaneous audience. Sections of symphonies and the "Minuet in G" were played by the orchestra and a portion of the "Sonata Pathatique" was played by Herbert Johnson, pianist.

The all-Lehar program from New York, through W-G-N, 8:15 to 8:45, was melodious and satisfying. James Melton, tenor, was the soloist. Mr. Lehar is still writing but somehow the selections from "The Merry Widow" seemed to be the prettiest of all.

The first section of the parade will be composed of civil war veterans, members of the Grand Army of the Republic. Next in line will be the women's auxiliaries of the Grand Army, followed by Spanish war veterans, world war veterans, including members of the American Legion and the Illinois National Guard. Gov. Emmerson will be reviewing officer in chief.

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—New York's pedestrians will be under police control tomorrow. Commissioner Whalen's regulations against jaywalking go into effect at 8 a. m. and twelve policemen will be ready to give summonses to unwary walkers who, from force of habit, disregard the traffic signals.

Pedestrians, under the regulations, may not cross a roadway anywhere except at a crossing or a marked crossway. Where there are no lights and no traffic policeman the pedestrian has the right of way and vehicles must slow down or stop to let him get across, provided he has started before the car gets to the crossing.

Where there are lights or where traffic is controlled by a policeman the pedestrian must wait on the curb until traffic is going his way.

FAKED ROBBERY CASE SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL TODAY

Mrs. Laura B. Price of the Shoreland hotel, who is charged with staging a sham jewelry robbery last October to collect $18,000 insurance, was scheduled to go to trial this morning before Judge Harry B. Miller in Criminal court.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, while saying he had heard rumors that Mrs. Price had made restitution to the insurance company, denied that the state would consent to a dismissal of the case. In the event she has made restitution and the insurance company is agreeable, he would consent to probation for Mrs. Price if she enters a guilty plea, Mr. Mueller said.

Two of her co-conspirators in the plot have been punished. Maurice Barnett, jewelry salesman, who allegedly inspired the scheme, was sentenced to one to five years' imprisonment and fined. Max Krakow, a manufacturing jeweler, who disposed of the "loot," was also sentenced. The cases of Joe Baum and Ben Levine, the bogus bandits, are awaiting disposal before Judge Miller. These two turned state's evidence.

DOMINGO SEIZES AND JAILS POLITICAL CHIEF IN REBEL PLOT

SANTO DOMINGO CITY, Dominican Republic, May 18.—(AP)—Frederico Velasquez, recently candidate for the presidency of the Dominican republic on the Alianza ticket, was arrested at his home tonight by a detachment of 20 soldiers. He was incarcerated in the old fortress.

The soldiers were also looking for Angel Morales, vice presidential candidate of the Alianza and former Dominican minister to Washington.

It was reported tonight the arrests had been ordered by Gen. Rafael Trujillo after letters showing Velasquez and Morales were fomenting a revolution had been intercepted.

Both Velasquez and Morales withdrew from the electoral contest before the balloting began May 16. Gen. Trujillo, commander of the army, and Gen. Rafael Estrella Urena, government party candidates, were subsequently unopposed and were elected president and vice president. Sentries were posted tonight on the streets leading to the American legation. They were apparently under orders to prevent Morales and Martin Mora, another Ahancista leader, from taking refuge in the legation.

Under questioning the young salesmen, Martin and Morrell Kritzberg, 4738 North Lawndale avenue, and Bernard Williger, 1036 North Richmond street, confessed obtaining their stock by robbing the Northwestern Golf club, Niles Center, and the Briargate club at Deerfield.

They involved Jack Shaykin, 334 Montrose avenue, in one robbery. Shaykin, a brother of Leo Shaykin, who deserted his infant son in Lincoln park last week, denied complicity in the face of the discovery of a quantity of golf balls and sports clothes in his room.

SAY TEACHERS LOSE MILLIONS OF J. D.'S GIFTS

New York, May 18.—[Special.]—A charge that the general education board had deprived college teachers of $36,934,000 which should have gone to them as a result of John D. Rockefeller's Christmas gift of $50,000,000 in 1919 was made today by William H. Allen, director of the Institute for Public Service.

Of this $36,934,000, said Mr. Allen, $11,578,200 had been diverted from the Rockefeller gift to general purposes, while the remainder was the sum which normally would have been given by other philanthropists to supplement the Rockefeller funds.

"The officers' report to the general education board in 1928," declared Mr. Allen, "said that the Rockefeller offers had been increased by the friends of 176 institutions until a total addition of $122,499,080 had been made to endowments. The Rockefeller share of that was $38,421,710, not counting interest. If the same proportion had been maintained with the diverted sum, others would have brought the total up to $36,934,000."

Mr. Allen asserted the board had failed to carry out Mr. Rockefeller's announced purpose in making the gift, namely, to bring about the payment of such salaries that able and aspiring young men and women would not be deterred by financial considerations from devoting their lives to teaching.

Child's First Social Steps Are Difficult for Him

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Monday's article was on the general subject of the changes that children go through and the fact that these changes are often so disturbing to parents. Since there was no space yesterday to devote to all the phases in this article, they will taken up this week a day at a time. And nothing so wide as general all around development is to be considered—only the social development of a child.

We will leave the first stage undisturbed—the time before the baby is a year old—and begin with the second. Tradition and observations have set this second stage of a child's social development as covering the period from 1 to 3 years of age.

"Aren't little children imitative?" is a usual remark, and so of course no one will be surprised that the psychologists call this the imitative age in social development as well as in other aspects of growth.

Little children don't adapt themselves readily to others. They're learning to walk and talk and use their five senses and their muscles in general and it's all an absorbing experience. It tends to make them quite individualistic, as any absorbing experience would. So they're apt to enjoy most the people of any age, adults or children, who are kind and interested and don't interfere with their pursuit of knowledge.

If your little girl greets another little girl by pushing her over like a ten pin, it's because she hasn't learned the give and take of social experience. (Also, she may be highly diverted by the ease with which she can get such a spectacular effect!) If the "pushee" is docile, the little pusher may keep it up. If the pushee pushes back, a few hard falls may make the pusher feel the fact that such things don't go. It's hard for little things to learn what "goes" and doesn't "go" when they are in each other's company.

If your little boy howls over the idea of playing with a toy by sharing it with another child—it's not that he's selfish. He's simply at the age where he's not ready for that, and where it would be better for each child to have a duplicate toy, or at least a separate plaything.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One of those stories that deals with a mole settling upon an otherwise pleasing face and ruining the life of a girl was told me t'other day. Sympathy was being invited for the case, but irritation was what it got from this listener, anyway.

Maybe I shouldn't say "a mole settling upon an otherwise pleasing face," for it would have to be a mole as big as an elephant's ear and mounted on the tip of the nose before I would be convinced that it could ruin an honest physiognomy.

But the tale, at least, serves as a peg to introduce the topic of letting a facial defect, a figure, or ankle spoil your good time. If there is a more senseless occupation in these broad visioned days and days of broad acceptance of beauty for what it is than letting the mind dwell on a shortcoming or two, I don't know what it is.

If you can't do anything about what's wrong with you, then the thing to do is to pat the nuisance on the head and tell it to lie quiet. Tell it you don't want to hear another word from it. You can scare the thing, no matter what it is, into oblivion so far as the world is concerned.

There are so few things, nowadays, that "can't have something done about them—thick ankles, bad skin, crooked teeth, red hands, etc.,—that it doesn't sound right to keep on talking about them and doing nothing. Suppose it is something beyond the ken of science or beauty culture. Well, there is always the mind that can do a bit of doctoring. The mental prescription stands for all such cases: "Forget it yourself and the world forgets with you."

I could tell you a true story about a woman who lost a couple of fingers in an accident. First, she looked at that hand and said: "Nobody will love me. It looks so terrible." Then she said: "I don't have to keep the hand on view all the time."

Today you could spend an evening with her and be totally unaware of her loss. AND—which is the moral of this tale—everyone says: "Isn't she a grand person, and SO attractive?"

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Potted annuals set out in the flower garden will help to hide the unsightly withered flowering stalks that remain after the tulips, narcissi and hyacinths have blossomed. In this way the flower garden will remain a bed of blooms while the hardy, spring flowering bulbs keep on growing in order to store up food during June and July for next season's start.

This is one method of gardening suggested by E. C. Volz, professor of horticulture at Iowa State college. He also has another method for use of amateur or even professional gardeners, which he finds is helpful although it is not quite as conducive for good blubs for the next season.

This is to dig up the bulbs carefully and transplant them to another bed where they can be placed much closer. It is important that they be placed in a moist soil so that the growth will continue for several weeks. All flower stalks should be removed down to the first leaf, regardless of whether the bulbs are left in their beds or transplanted. Bulbous stock should be replaced every three or four years, Professor Volz suggests, adding that now is a good time to plan orders to be placed for next fall.

Greek Students to Present Play on Sunday, May 25

Speaking the Byzantine-Greek of the 14th century, 25 students of the Plato Greek school will present a medieval Greek tragedy Sunday, May 25, at the Civic theater under the auspices of the Greek-American community of Chicago and western suburbs. The drama, "Maria Doxapatri," by Bernardakis, a Greek playwright of the last century, is being directed by Theodore Pofantis, director of the Athenian theater of Greece. There will be a program of classical dancing and folk music.

Upon reaching my destination a young man met me, but, alas, as I stepped down from the train in some way the lock of my suitcase burst open and all the contents spilled out upon the platform. Needless to say I wished I were back at home. E. S.

No Cause for Pride.

Our club had given a play and when it was over I said to our most influential member, "You played your part wonderfully. It fits you to perfection." "I'm afraid not. A young and pretty woman is needed for that part," she replied. "But you have proved the contrary," I answered and nearly fainted at the withering look she gave me. E. K.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Family in Need.

"I have four children, a baby girl 7 months old, a boy 3, and two girls, 4 and 5. My husband has been out of work for four months and we are trying to get along on my small salary. If you can get us some clothing it would help so much. I wear size 42 or 44. MRS. S. C."

With a small income this family is having difficulty meeting the expenses for things absolutely necessary and of course there is nothing to spend on clothing. If we could provide this item part of their problem would be solved, I am sure.

Lanvin Cuffs Sports Suit Into Fashion

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Cuffs are an outstanding feature of the new fashions as Madame Lanvin sees them. Often she promotes them from wrist to elbow. She makes collars like cuffs and collars with cuff fastenings. She even applies the cuff motiff to her skirt fronts, splitting them up the front and setting in a trick bias closing which she sometimes buttons with regular cuff links.

Naturally all these wandering cuffs are of white piqué, that being the smartest accessory fabric this summer, and it is apt to appear somewhere on Lanvin's daytime clothes.

She uses Irish green woolen to make the sports costume sketched above. You know the hue of the Emerald isle was Lanvin's feature color this spring, and it took so well that the wearing o' the green is the sign of the smart sports woman on the Riviera, just as it is of the chic evening beauty of the Paris season. Width is lent to the narrow skirt by Lanvin's trick cuff closing which gives an amusing hiked up effect to the silhouette in front.

The sleeveless jacket has a standing band collar that is looped into a cuff effect in back. The pull-over tunic is cut up in the front to show a white piqué vest, which appears above the deep décolletage as a plaited plastron, buttoned with mirror buttons, and finished round the neck with a narrow band of the piqué which ties into a little bow in front. The long sleeves of the tunic sport two pairs of pointed cuffs—one pair on the Irish green like itself and a miniature pair in the white piqué sprouting out of a slit above them. A soft belt of the Irish green wool caught into a mirror buckle marks the natural waist.

Marble Cake.

The following is the sort of experience that rejoices the heart of the cooking editor. The other day I met a young woman on the street, who told me about a wonderful marble cake that she makes, the recipe for which was long since printed in this column. She elaborated on its special points of worth, and apologized a bit that though she was a reader of this column she had obtained the recipe from another reader. I decided to call upon the other reader in order to get her version, knowing beforehand that she was an excellent and consistent maker of cake.

Here is a part of her story: She clipped the recipe from this column seven years ago and had it typed for her file cabinet of recipes, and lately had come to the conclusion that some one should tell me to repeat it, and wondered why I had not done so. I wonder myself, because I never intend to let a fine recipe mold away in my files. She had given this recipe to her nephew's family, and they also thought it wonderful. Here it is:

White part: One-fourth cup butter, one-half cup sugar, one cup flour, one-fourth cup milk, one teaspoon baking powder, whites of two eggs. Flavoring.

Dark part: One-fourth cup butter, one half cup sugar [which may be brown], yolks of two eggs, one-fourth cup milk, three-fourth cup flour, one scant teaspoon baking powder, one ounce of chocolate. If you want spice cake instead of chocolate, use one scant teaspoon ground cinnamon and one-half teaspoon ground cloves. For dark part, melt chocolate in milk, beat egg yolks with one tablespoon of cold water. Have oven 400 degrees, lower at once when cake is in.

In a debutante it's Charm

in a cigarette it's Taste

MANY FINE QUALITIES make up the "charm" that is Miss America's, but her genuine wholesomeness appeals most of all.

IN A CIGARETTE, TOO, the real appeal is wholesomeness of taste.

WITNESS CHESTERFIELD'S popularity, growing every day. No flash in the pan, but enduring popularity, earned by giving smokers a cigarette of better quality, richer aroma and finer fragrance, blended and cross-blended to just one end . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

WHAT'S A TRIP TO EUROPE WHEN YOU'VE GOT A DOG AND A BAT, AND THE FOURTH OF JULY IS COMING, AND YOU KNOW THAT YOU ARE GOING TO GROW UP IN THE GOOD OLD U. S. A.? Johnny Pershing Stanton, who missed a trip to France last week when he loitered about until the Ile de France had sailed with his mother aboard, enjoying his Sunday on the lawn at Mrs. Elizabeth O'Boyle's home at Fox Lake, playing with his pet, Rex, and even finding pleasure in running the lawn mower to pay for his long distance telephone from New York. Johnny explained that it wasn't candy that caused him to miss the boat, but the feeling that there was no country like his own. He was among the first of the real war babies.
